LESSON 1

THE AVESTAN ALPHABET

The Avestan alphabet was invented, probably in ab. 600 CE, as a phonetic alphabet, in which every sound was to be represented by one letter. Two things must be kept in mind:

1. The sounds this alphabet was intended to record were those of the oral recitation as performed at the time of the invention, not the original pronunciation of Old and Young Avestan, and we do not know to what extent the pronunciation had changed in the ritual recitation.

2. The Avestan and (Book) Pahlavi alphabets are known only from the 13th century onward, and we do not know what their exact forms were at the time of the invention of the Avestan alphabet. The Pahlavi script, for instance, may have been more differentiated than it is in the standard form of the manuscripts.

The alphabet was based upon the Pahlavi (Middle Persian) alphabet in use at the time, which was descended from Aramaic. The Avestan script is therefore also read from right to left.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| a | ā | i | ī | u | ū | e | ē | o | ō |
| ə | ə̄ | ą | ą̇ (*ə̨) | ą̊ | å | | | | |
| p | b | β | | f | | | m | m̨ | |
| t | d | δ | δ₂ | θ | ṭ | ṭ₂ | n | ṇ | |
| k | g | ġ | γ | x | | | ŋ | | |
| c | j | | | | | | ń | | |
| y | Y | ii | | x́ | | | ń́ | | |
| v | | uu | | xᵛ | | | ŋᵛ | | |
| r | s | ś | š | ṣ̌ | z | ž | h | | |

ṣ̌

The letter ـسـ is found in one manuscript only.

For ą̇, δ₂, ġ, and ṭ₂ one usually writes ą, δ, g, and ṭ.

In the mss., ـسـ is sometimes dived between lines as ع + ـ.

Most scribes write the b in two parts, first the downstroke ع = n, then the long-stroke. Sometimes, the long-stroke is forgotten, and only the downstroke written, cf. Y.2.3, where J2 first has narəsmanaēca for barəsmanaēca, then barəsmabaēca with an extra long-stroke.

Note that y Y v are only written in initial position, while <ii> and <uu> are used in non-initial position to express Eng. w and y. Before vowels, ii and uu = [ii̯, ii̯] and [u̯, uu̯], e.g.:

yāna- "boon," xšaiiaṭ /xšai̯aṭ/ "he ruled," mašiiō /mašii̯ō/ "(mortal) man" (OInd. martiyo);

vohu "good," yauuaṭ /i̯au̯aṭ/ "as long as" (OInd. yāvat), druuō /druu̯ō/ "sound, healthy" (OInd. dhruvo). Note that ii and uu are also found in inital position, although rarely:

iieiiən, subjunctive of the perfect stem **iiāii- < √i* (= OInd. iyāy-), uua [úu̯a] *< *uβa* "both."

Formerly, ii and uu in all these functions were usually transliterated as y and v, so that no distinction was made between them and initial y/Y and v (e.g., Bartholomae, Air. Wb.). When uu and ii appeared in initial position ᵤ*va*- and ᵧ*y*- were sometimes written (thus Bartholomae, Air. Wb., cols. 147, 399).

Note that Bartholomae used w to transliterate <β>.

ṭ is written for t in final position and before stops (ṭk, ṭb), e.g., āaṭ "then," ṭkaēša- "*guidance," ṭbaēšah- "evil, hostility."

LIGATURES

In many manuscripts, certain letters are frequently combined. Some common combinations, or "ligatures," are the following:

STRESS

We know nothing certain about stress in Avestan. For practical purposes a stress rule like that of Latin or Classical Sanskrit may be used, i.e., 1) stress the second-last syllable (the "penultimate") if it is "heavy," i.e., has a long vowel (or diphthong) or a short vowel followed by two or more consonants, or if the word has only two syllables, e.g., ā̆pō, ápō, mazíštō; 2) stress the third-last syllable (ante-penultimate) if the penultimate is "light," i.e., has a short vowel followed by one consonant only, e.g., vaēnahi, barā̆mahi; 3) stress the fourth-last syllable if the antepenultimate and penultimate are both light, but put a secondary stress on the penultimate, e.g., áhuràhe, yázamàide.

It is also possible that some words still had the accent on the final syllable, as in Old Indic, e.g., ā̆pō but apó.

Note that a final -ə does not count as a syllable (but -ə̄ does). The vowel sequences ai, ei, au, ou count as short vowels (aⁱ, eⁱ, aᵘ, oᵘ). Double ii and uu either count as single consonants i̯ and u̯ or as vowel + consonant ii̯ and uu̯.

PUNCTUATION

In Avestan manuscripts, all words (sometimes parts of words) are separated by a period. Sentences are usually marked by a triangular group of three dots ( ⁝ ) or other decorative marks (-⁞-, ⊚).

PRONUNCIATION

Following are some guidelines to the pronunciation of Avestan.

1. Vowels.

Note that the vowels should be pronounced "cleanly," as in Italian or Spanish, rather than as in English.

| letter | example | approximate pronunciation |
|---|---|---|
| a | apō | Span. *ga*t*o*; Eng. cart or cut; Germ. Katze. |
| ā | āpō | Eng. car or bath (not Amer. Eng.); Germ. Lade. |
| aē | baēuuarə | Span. *bai*le; Eng. bite; Germ. kein. |
| ao | gaoš | Span. *cau*sa; Eng. cow; Germ. Haus. |
| i | pita | Span. *hi*jo; Eng. feet; Germ. bitte. |
| ii | maiia | Span. (not Amer.) *ma*yo, Amer. Span. *po*llo; Eng. layout. |
| ī | vīspe | Eng. feed; Germ. lies. |

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| u | uɣra | Span. gusto; Eng. *f*oo*t*; Germ. Lust. |
| uu | tuua | after consonant Eng. *t*wo *w*ent; after vowel Eng. *p*ower. |
| ū | sura | Eng. *m*oo*ve*; Germ. Busen. |
| e | ziieni | Span. *b*es*o*; Eng. *b*e*d*; Germ. Bett. |
| ē | (only in aē and monosyllables) | Germ. *S*ee. |
| o | vohu | Span. *r*o*jo*; Eng. approximately *so*ur*ce*. |
| ō | apō | Eng. approximately *b*o*res*. |
| ə | kərəta | Eng. *h*ur*t*; Germ. *k*ö*nnt*; French *p*eu*-être*. |
| ə̄ | spə̄ništa | Eng. *h*ear*d*; Germ. *sch*ö*n*; French *é*meu*te* or *p*eur. |
| ą | maṣ̌iiąsca | French *ch*an*ce*. |
| ą̇ | **barəsmą̇* | French un or *l*un*di*. |
| å | må̊ŋhō | Eng. *h*aw*k* or *b*aw*dy*. |

2. Consonants.

p, b, f, m, t, d, n, k, g (ġ), j, y (Y), v, s, z, h are pronounced as in English.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| β | aiβi | Span. *reci*b*ir*. |
| m̨ | am̨āi | preaspirated m (compare Eng. interjection hum). |
| δ, δ₂ | bāδa | Span. *la*d*o*; Eng. *fa*th*er*. |
| θ | paθa | Span. (not Amer.) hacer; Eng. *ba*th. |
| t̰, t̰₂ | mat̰ | approximately Amer. Eng. *bett*er. |
| ṇ | | = n before t, d; = ŋ before k, g; = m before p, b. |
| γ | aγa | Span. *ha*g*a*. |
| x | haxa | Span. (not Amer.) *hi*j*o*; Germ. *Lo*ch. |
| x́ | dax́iiunąm | Germ. *i*ch; Chin. x*i*; Jap. h*i*. |
| xᵛ | xᵛatō | = x + w. |
| ŋ | raŋha | Eng. *si*ng. |
| ń | | in ńh ≈ ŋ + h + y, cf. Eng. *wro*ng h*ue*. |
| ŋᵛ | | in ŋᵛh ≈ ŋ + h + w, cf. Eng. *lo*ng wh*ile*). |
| c | cit̰ | Span. *ch*i*co*; Eng. *ch*i*t*. |
| ń | ańō | Span. *a*ño. |
| r | raiia | Ital. *R*o*ma*. |
| š, ṣ̌ | spiš, aṣ̌a | Eng. *wi*sh, *ca*sh. |
| ś | aśiiō | Eng. -sh y- in *wa*sh y*our face*. |
| ž | tiži | Eng. *lea*sure; French *rou*ge. |

EXERCISES 1

1. Practice pronouncing the following words and sentences and write them in Avestan script:

aməṣ̌å spəṇta "Life-giving Immortals" upa.tacat̰ Arəduuī Sūra Anāhita "Arəduuī Sūra Anāhita came running"

Θraētaonō sūrō yō janat̰ Ažim Dahākəm "Θraētaona, rich in life-giving strength, who killed the Giant Dragon"

Yimō xšaētō huuąθβō yō xšaiiata darəγəm zruuānəm "radiant Yima with good herds, who ruled for a long time"

vispe yazatå̊ŋhō aməṣ̌aca spəṇtaca həṇti "all beings worthy of sacrifice (= deities) are both immortal and life-giving."

2. Transcribe and practice pronouncing the following Avestan words:

(Avestan script, two columns of words)

3. "Guess" how to say: "I carry, I eat, he eats, he requests, we carry, we request."

VOCABULARY 1

The grammatical forms of the words in these reading exercises will be explained in the following lessons. For the sake of future reference, however, all the standard grammatical information is given here. Thus, after each word, the so-called "stem"—followed by a hyphen—is given, which indicates that the word changes according to its grammatical form. No hyphen indicates that the word does not change. The stems and their meanings should be learned by heart. The abbreviations m. = masculine, f. = feminine, n. = neuter refer to the gender of the nouns and should be noted; nom. = nominative, acc. = accusative, voc. = vocative, gen. = genitive, sing. = singular, plur. = plural; the symbol √ refers to the "root" of a verb; " < " means "comes from". A slash " / " is used to indicate different stems. All these terms will be explained later.

The alphabetical order adopted here is as in English, with modified letters following the simple ones (from left to right):

|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| a ā å ą | e ē ə ə̄ | i ī | n ṇ ŋ ń ŋᵛ | s š ś ṣ̌ | x x́ xᵛ |
| b β | f | j | o ō | t θ | y |
| c | g γ | k | p | u ū | z ž |
| d δ | h | m m̨ | r | v | |

aγa, nom. plur. of aγa-: bad, evil airiianąm, gen. plur. f. of airiia-: Aryan, Iranian amauuaṇtəm, acc. sing. m. of amauuaṇt-: forceful, strong aməṣ̌å, nom. plur. of aməṣ̌a-: immortals

Aməṣ̌å Spəṇta: Life-giving Immortals; name of six divine beings that play an important role in Mazdaism (see Lesson 2)

Arəduuī Sura Anāhita, nom. sing. of Arəduuī- Surā- Anāhitā-: Arəduuī Sura Anahita (see Lesson 2)

aṣ̌əm, nom. sing. of aṣ̌a- n.: (cosmic and ritual) Order (see Lesson 2)

aṣ̌i- f.: reward; Aṣ̌i, goddess of the rewards

aṣ̌iiō, nom. sing. of aṣ̌iia-: who is in charge of rewards (and punishments); standing epithet of Sraoša

Ažim Dahākəm, acc. sing. of Aži- Dahāka-: Azhi Dahaka, name of a giant dragon (Pers. Aždahā or Żoḥḥāk) ā: (up) to (+ acc.)

āaṯ: then

āfš, nom. sing. of āp-/apāp-/ap- f.: water

āpō, nom. plur. of āp-/apbaraiti < bara- √bar: he carries darəγəm, acc. sing. m. of darəγa-: long dax́iiunąm, gen. plur. of daṅhu- f.: land druua, nom. plur. of druua-: sound, healthy haṇjamanəm, nom.-acc. sing. of haṇjamana- n.: assembly həṇti < ah- √ah/h: (they) are huuąθβa-: who has good herds; standing epithet of Yima janaṯ < jan(a)- √jan/γn: struck down, smashed, killed jaṇta, nom. sing. of jaṇtar-: striker, smasher

Jāmāspa, voc. sing. of Jāmāspa-: Djamaspa; person figuring in the legends of Zarathustra.

Jāmāspō, nom. sing. of Jāmāspamaniiuš, nom. sing. of maniiu-: spirit, inspiration (see Lesson 2)

maṣ̌iia-: man, mortal man

maṣ̌iiō, nom. sing. of maṣ̌iiamazdaiiasna, nom. plur. m. of mazdaiiasna-: someone who sacrifices to (Ahura) Mazdā; Mazdayasnian, Mazdean mąθrəm, acc. sing. of mąθra-: poetic thought (expressed in words), sacred word

Miθrəm, acc. sing. of Miθra-: solar deity, god of contracts and agreements (see Lesson 2) nauuāzəm, acc. sing. of nauuāza-: ship's captain

Pāurum, acc. sing. of Pāuruua-

Pāuruua-: name of a ship's captain tossed up into the air by Thraetaona (Θraētaona), but saved by Arəduuī Sura Anāhita

Pourušāspa, voc. sing. of Pourušāspa-: name of the father of Zarathustra; lit. having/with grey horses spəṇta, nom. plur., spəṇtəm, acc. sing. of spəṇta-: "life-giving, (re)vitalizing," literally "swollen (with fertility, etc.)." The term is traditionally translated as "beneficial" (also "incremental") or even "holy"; fundamental concept in Mazdaism: the quality of those who, like Ahura Mazdā, keep or reestablish the cosmos in/to its pristine state spēništō, superlative, nom. sing. m. of spəṇta-: most life-giving

Spitama, voc. sing. of Spitāma-: of the Spitāmas, Spitamid; family designation of Zarathustra

Sraoša-: name of a god personifying one's readiness to listen to the gods and the gods' to humans sura- (sūra-): rich in life-giving strength šiiaoθna, nom.-acc. plur. of šiiaoθna- n.: deed, act, action tacaiti < taca- < √tak: flows taṯ, nom.-acc. sing. n. of ta-: that taxma-: firm, enduring, steadfast, brave ṯbaēšah- n.: hostility, evil

ṯkaēša-: *guidance, teaching

Θraētaona-: Thraetaona, name of dragon-slaying hero (Pers. Feridun) upa.tacaṯ < upa-taca- √tak: came running uua, f.n. uiie: both vaṇhu-, vohu-: good; good thing vaṇᵛhi, nom. sing. of vaṇᵛhī- f. of vaṇhu-: good vifra, nom. sing. of vifra-: smart vifrō, nom. sing. of vifra-vifrō.təməm, acc. sing. of vifrō.təma-, superlative of vifra-: smartest vispa-: all vohu, nom.-acc. sing. and plur. n. of vaṇhu-: good xšaētō, nom. sing. of xšaēta-: radiant(?); standing epithet of Yima and Apąm Napāt xšaiiata < xšaiia- √xšā: he ruled xᵛarāmahi < xᵛara- √xᵛar: we eat xᵛarəθa- n.: food

yauuaṯ: as long as yāna- n.: a boon (that is requested)

yāsa- √yā: to request yāsāmi < yāsa-: I request (am requesting)

Yima-: Yima, proper name; first king and builder of a fortress (vara-) to preserve species of the good creation during a devastating winter yō, nom. sing. of ya-: who zaoθrå, acc. pl. of zaoθra/ā-: libation

zruuan-, zruuān-, zrun-: time

LESSON 2

THE PHONOLOGY (SOUND SYSTEM) OF AVESTAN. GENERAL REMARKS.

One of the things that strikes one about Avestan as opposed to Old Indic (Sanskrit) is the seemingly chaotic orthography. The cause of this state was long thought to be that the Avestan text had been corrupted by the manuscript writers, and scholars therefore decided that the text had to be "corrected" and "normalized" in order to recapture the "original" Avestan text. They never proved their point by examining in detail the orthography and the individual characteristics of the manuscripts, however.

The first Western scholar to undertake a complete analysis of the phonology of Avestan was G. Morgenstierne, who in an article written during World War II and published in 1942 showed that the Avestan alphabet reflected an internally consistent phonological (sound) system, in many respects similar to those of living Iranian dialects and languages. Most of the seemingly orthographic aberrations, which at the time were commonly explained as scribal errors, could be explained in terms of the phonological system of the language(s) of the Avesta.

It must be kept in mind, however, that the Avestan texts as we have them do not necessarily in every detail reflect a genuine linguistic system. For centuries they were adjusted by editors (diascevasts) and then by scribes who spoke dialects or languages with phonological systems differing fundamentally from that of the original Avestan language. Thus, on one hand, the Old Avestan texts contain many elements that are clearly borrowed from or influenced by Young Avestan, and, on the other hand, the Young Avestan texts contain both elements that are imitations of Old Avestan ("pseudo-OAv.") and elements belonging to later stages of Iranian that were probably introduced by the scribes.

It is, finally, almost impossible to determine which of the sound changes we observe in our extant manuscripts already belonged to the original language and which ones were introduced at various stages of the 1000-1500 years' oral and written transmission of the texts. One way of determining early changes is to compare the Avestan phonological system with that of Old Indic.

As much of the transmission of the surviving Avesta probably took place in southwestern Iran, phonological changes shared with other East-Iranian languages as opposed to West-Iranian languages may be assumed to belong to the early period. One such typically East-Iranian sound change is the shortening of ī and its disappearance in juua-"alive," which agrees with Sogdian žw-, Khotanese juva-, and Pashto žw-, against OInd. jīva-; and in cuuaṇt- "how great," OInd. kīvant-.

Palatalization and labialization of vowels, however, which is typical of the transmitted Avestan text, are also found in western Iranian languages and do not necessarily belong to the eastern stage of the transmission.

Important:

Some students may find it useful to compare Sanskrit (Old Indic) when learning the Avestan grammar, but both they and the teachers should avoid phonetically "translating" the Avestan into Sanskrit to explain the Avestan forms. Such an approach not only hints at an "inferior" status of Avestan compared to Sanskrit but also—more importantly—may take the focus away from the linguistic structure of Avestan in its own right—its phonetic and grammatical systems and the indigenous semantic developments. In my own experience, students who routinely see the Sanskrit forms in the Avestan ones may experience great difficulties in identifying typically Avestan, especially "contracted," forms.

The students are not expected to master completely the following description of the phonological system of Avestan right away but use it for reference.

PHONEMES

[Much of this can be omitted by beginners, as well as, of course, by students familiar with the concepts.]

We call "phonemes" the smallest units of speech that distinguish meanings. Phonemes are usually determined by exhibiting "minimal pairs," e.g., English bad ~ sad, a pair that establishes /b/ and /s/ as separate phonemes in English.

Phonemes are denoted by writing them between / /. The phoneme is not a "sound" (the sound that somebody produces and which we hear when somebody speaks) but a linguistic entity devised, as it were, to provide the theoretical link between acoustic sound (the "physical" aspect of speech) and meaning (the "psychological" aspect of speech).

When we want to emphasize that we are talking about the actual sound, or the "phonetic realization" of a phoneme, we use square brackets [ ], e.g., [p], [b], [z]. These actual sounds are also called "phones" or "allophones."

Phonemes are described by listing their "distinctive features." These distinctive features are descriptions of how the sound is produced in the mouth and which parts of the mouth are involved in the sound production. Following are some examples:

/b/: stop, labial, voiced ~ /p/: stop, labial, unvoiced, ~ /m/: nasal, labial.
/x/: fricative, velar, unvoiced ~ /γ/: fricative, velar, voiced.
/s/: sibilant, alveo-dental, unvoiced ~ /z/: sibilant alveo-dental, voiced ~ /š/: sibilant, alveo-palatal, unvoiced ~ /ž/: sibilant, alveo-palatal, voiced.

Note that English t is sometimes aspirated [tʰ], sometimes not aspirated [t]. The feature "aspiration" is not, however, distinctive in English or Avestan, so there is no phonemic opposition /t/ ~ /tʰ/, /p/ ~ pʰ/, etc. In such cases we say that [p] and [pʰ] are "allophones" of /p/. Aspiration is a distinctive feature in some languages—Sanskrit, for instance, where we have minimal pairs such as kara [kara] "hand" ~ khara [kʰara] "donkey."

In the case of /n/ we note that "voiced" is not a distinctive feature of nasals in English or Avestan, as no two words can be distinguished by the presence or absence of voicing in a nasal /n/. On the other hand, Avestan has a voiceless or, probably, pre-aspirated [ʰm], which may be a separate phoneme: /m/ ~ /ʰm/, but more probably is simply an allophone of /m/ after h or alternative (short-hand) way of writing hm.

PHONEMIC NEUTRALIZATION

Phonemes may not be distinguished in all positions. Thus, in English we cannot find any minimal pairs distinguished by the phoneme sequences /st/ and /sd/. In such cases we say that the phonemic opposition between /t/ and /d/ has been neutralized after /s/.

VOWEL PHONEMES

Vowel phonemes are defined by features relating to the position of the tongue in the mouth and the shape of the lips. There are three basic parameters:
1. The height of the highest point of the tongue: high - mid - low.
2. The place of the highest point of the tongue: front - central - back.
3. Rounding or non-rounding of the lips.

In Avestan there are the additional features of short - long and of nasalized - oral (= non-nasalized), only some of which have distinctive function.

Diphthongs may be regarded as combinations of phonemes or single, composite, phonemes.

We may tentatively posit the following vowel (simple and diphthongs) phonemes for Young Avestan (spelling in < >):

|      | Front      | Central    | Back, rounded | Nasal           |
|------|------------|------------|---------------|-----------------|
| High | i <i, ī>   |            | u <u, ū>      |                 |
| Mid  | e <e, ē>   | ə, ə̄ <ə, ə̄> | o <o, ō>      | (ə̃̄ <ą̇> ?)      |
| Low  | a       | ā <ā>      | å < å>        | (ą < ã > ?)     |
|      |            |            |               | ą̄ <ą̃>          |

December 15, 2018

Diphthongs:
  Short                                                                      Long ai <ae, aē>                        ~ oi/əi <ōi>              āi <āi> au <ao, aō>            ~ ou <ou>    ~ əu <ə̄u>       āu <āu>

The difference between ō and å must have been between closed and open [o: ~ ɔ:] (approximately as in English home ~ hawk, Germ. rote ~ Rotte).

Cf. the following minimal or almost minimal pairs:

  āpō ~ apō "waters" nom. plur. ~ gen. sing., acc. plur.
  apō ~ apa "water" gen. sing., acc. plur. ~ instr. sing.
  aməm ~ iməm "the strength" ~ "this"
  apa ~ upa "with water" ~ "up to, at"
  aspō ~ aspa ~ aspā "horse" nom. sing. ~ instr. sing. ~ acc. plur.
  surō ~ surå "rich in life-giving strength" masc. nom. sing. ~ fem. nom.-acc. plur.
  aeta/aēta ~ aete/aēte "this" instr. sing. ~ nom. plur.
  āiš ~ aēša "with these" ~ "this (one)"
  gāuš ~ gaoš/gaōš ~ gə̄uš "cow" nom. ~ gen. ~ gen.
  parəna- ~ pərəna- "feather" ~ "full"
  mašiia- ~ aməša- "(mortal) man" ~ "immortal" kaša ~ °kaša "armpit" ~ "-cutters" tē ~ tą "they" and haoma ~ haomą "haoma" plur. nom. ~ acc.

The phonemic status of vowel length in the case of i and ī, u and ū is uncertain. Standard editions and grammars give the impression that the distribution of short and long i and u (in Young Avestan) is conditioned by phonetic context and that they are therefore in complementary distribution. Thus, the distribution by phonetic context may be a mirage of Western editions and not supported by the manuscripts.
  See now in detail de Vaan, 2003.
  Note that in relatively modern Iranian manuscripts long ū is replaced by ī. Investigation of this phenomenon may help establish the correct distribution of u or ū.
  In this manual, long ī and ū are used in final position in monosyllables only (zī, nū) and separated preverbs (nī.°, vī.°), as well as to indicate stem forms (tanū-, etc.), but in all other cases short i and u are used consistently (with some exceptions in the reading exercises), in order to stress the fact that the choice of (Young) Avestan short or long i and u is not conditioned by their origins, such as Proto-Iranian short and long i and u or by their being contraction products (-im, -īm, and -ii̯am all > -im or -īm and -um, -ūm, and -uu̯am all > -um or -ūm). Obviously, long ī and ū could also have been used.
  The same caveat may to some extent apply to short and long e and ē, o and ō. Thus, in our standard editions, ē other than in monosyllabic words (see below), is restricted to the diphthong aē, while ō, other than as word final and composition vowel, is only found before the morpheme border. Pairs such as vohu and dāmōhu do not, therefore necessarily prove a phonemic opposition o ~ ō. The distribution of o ~ ō also varies by manuscripts, and many manuscripts have consistently vōhu instead of vohu, and for the diphthong ao many manuscripts commonly have aō.

[The short å̡ is found in a single manuscript (Pd) for short a before ŋ.]

ą was an allophone of ā before n or m, e.g., nąma or nāma. In the accusative plural it is in complementary distribution with ə̄, which therefore apparently stands for **ə̄* or **ə̄*.

The use of the two letters ﻕ and ﻉ was a matter of scribal preference. In Geldner's edition ﻕ is the "default" letter.

The primary diphthong aē < **ai* is never found in final syllable, open or closed. In final closed syllable, aē is the result of contraction (e.g., -aēm < \-aiiam*).

The diphthong ōi appears to be an allophone of aē used primarily in closed syllables, including final syllables. Thus, in Young Avestan, ōi is preferred before consonant clusters, though not before s or š plus one consonant (Fortson, 1996).

The only apparently minimal pair for aē ~ ōi is aēm "he" ~ ōim "one" (< aēuua-). Instead of ōim we also find the spelling aoim, et al., so ōim may be just a manuscript variant of aoim.

The diphthong ōi occurs occasionally in monosyllables instead of ē, e.g., yōi but tē.

The diphthong ə̄u is used in a small number of words as a variant of ao, probably in imitation of Old Avestan.

The diphthong ou is only found as the result of labialization (see the next lesson), e.g., pouru < **paru*. In the manuscripts it is also written ōu (pōuru).

EXERCISES 2

1. Practice reading and pronouncing the following words and phrases and translate them:

2. Read and try to translate the following sentences:

LESSON 3

PHONOLOGY

Consonants

We may posit the following (original) consonant phonemes for Young Avestan. The principal allophones are in parenthesis.

| | Stops | | Fricatives | Continuant | | Nasals | | Sibilants | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | - voice | + voice | - voice | + voice | - voice | + voice | | | - voice | + voice |
| Bilabials | p | b | | (β) | | u̯ <uu> | m (m, m̨) | | | |
| Labio-dentals | | | f | v (?) | | | | | | |
| Dentals | | | θ | (δ) | | | | | s | z |
| Alveo-dentals | t | d | | | | | n (ṇ) | | | |
| Alveolar | | | | | (hr ?) | r (?) | | | ṣ̌ (?) | |
| Alveo-palatals | č | ǰ | | | | | | | š | ž |
| Palatals | | | | y | | i̯ <ii> | (ń) | | ś | (ž) |
| Velars | k | g | x | (γ) | | | ŋ | | | |
| Palato-velars | | | (x́) | | | | (ń̃) | | | |
| Labio-velars | | | xᵛ | | | | ŋᵛ | | | |
| Pharyngeal | | | | | | h | | | | |

β δ γ: Post-vocalic and, in some instances, post-consonantic /b d g/ were realized as β δ γ (e.g., baγa- "lord, god," duγδa "daughter"), except d often close to r, which was often realized as d (huraoδa- "well-shaped" but vadar- "(striking) weapon").

x́: This letter is rarely used in Young Avestan, which has ń̃h where Old Avestan has x́. It is always followed by ii, e.g., dax́iiunąm "of the lands," nəmax́iiāmahi "we revere."

xᵛ: This letter is used in initial position and corresponds to ŋᵛh between vowels (except when it is from -ku̯-).

r, hr: /r/ had an unvoiced, or "preaspirated," allophone before p and k written hr, apparently limited to syllables which bore the stress. The original **hrt* became š (see next). As the stress shifted, or if the consonant changed, the original r reappears: kəhrpəm ~ hukərəpta-, aša- ~ Astuuaṯ.ərəta-, mahrka- ~ amərəxti-.

m̨: /m/ has a special variant—written m̨—after h, which was perhaps a preaspirated rather than voiceless m (cf. Eng. hum). In the manuscripts we usually find only <m̨> for this sound, sometimes <hm̨>. In many (later) manuscripts the letter <m̨> is not used, however, and hm is simply written <hm>.

ṇ: /n/ was realized as ṇ, a nasal of uncertain nature, before consonants except i̯ and u̯.

ń: Before i̯ and possibly also i, n was palatalized to ń, but the letters ᴧ and ᴦ <ń> are not consistently used in the manuscripts. When followed by ii, some scribes write ńii or nii, others inii, e.g., mańiiuš, maniiuš, or mainiiuš. When followed by i (internally) we find spellings such as ańim, anim, or—commonly—ainim. <ń> is never (?) used alone to express palatal ń when not followed by i or ii. Examples: ańiiō �𐬥𐬫𐬮, aniiō ᐃᐅᐊ, or ainiiō ᐃᐅ "other," mańiiuš ᐅᐊᐅ, maniiuš ᐅᐊ, or mainiiuš ᐅᐊ "spirit"; nitəmō ᐅᐊ or ńitəmō ᐅᐊ "lowest." In this manual the forms aniia-, maniiu-, nitəma-, etc., will be used, but ainim (see Lesson 4). Note that the oldest ms. (K7) has maniiᵊuš.

ŋ: The velar nasal /ŋ/ has two origins:

1. It is for ŋg (nk) in paŋtaŋᵛha- "a fifth" < **paŋgta-*. In some manuscripts it is used instead of ŋg between vowels in words such as aŋušta- = aŋgušta- "finger."

2. In most instances ŋh is the realization of /h/ between vowels, e.g., manaŋhō, gen. sing. of manah-. This change did not usually take place when the h was followed by i or—less regularly—u: e.g., ahi "you are," vohu "good" neut. sing./plur., but vaŋhuš masc. sing.

When followed by r, the standard editions write only ŋ, e.g., aŋra-, hazaŋra- "a thousand," Fraŋrasiian-, name of a villain, caŋraŋhāk- "grazing, following the pastures," etc. In some manuscripts, however, the spellings aŋhra-, hazaŋhra- are also common.

ŋ́ is only used between vowels and is always followed by h (ŋ́h). The actual spelling alternates between ń̑h, iń̑h, and iŋh, e.g., ań̑he, aiń̑he or aiŋhe, or even aŋhe. In this introduction, only the spelling ŋ́h is used.

ŋᵛ is only used between vowels and is always followed by h (ŋᵛh). It corresponds to xᵛ in initial position. Instead of ŋᵛh the scribes frequently wrote ŋuh or just ŋh, e.g., aŋᵛhe, aŋuhe, or aŋhe (thus aŋhe can be for ań̑he or aŋᵛhe!).

š, ś́, ṣ̌: The three sibilants /š/ ‏ـں‎ , /ś́/ ‏ـٮٮ‎ , /ṣ̌/ ‏ـىٮٮ‎ had merged into one sound [š] by the time of our earliest manuscripts, but must originally have been separate phonemes. /š/ must have been the regular alveolar sibilant, e.g. gaoša- ‏ـںـكاـٮہ‎ "ear" (cf. OInd. ghoṣa- "sound") and /ś́/ a palatal(ized) sibilant (< **či̯*, e.g., ś́auua- ‏ـںـرٮـدٮر‎ "to go," cf. OInd. cyava-).

The distinctive features of /ṣ̌/ (< \-rt* with stress on the preceding vowel) are uncertain. In the table above it is suggested that it may have been an alveolar sibilant, but it must have had some additional feature, perhaps rhotacization (a sound found in some modern Iranian dialects), but it may have been a retroflex affricate or lateral and later a retroflex sibilant, e.g., maṣ̌iia- ‏ـںـدٮٮـہكـ‎ "man, mortal" (cf. OInd. martiya-). It may be noted that in the Sasanian (learned) pronunciation there was no distinction between this sound and the sound resulting from Avestan rt and rθ: they were both written hl and presumably pronounced hl, as well, e.g., mahlī, name of the first human, "Adam" < maṣ̌iia- and ahlaw "Orderly" < aṣ̌auua versus pāšom or pahlom "best" < **par(a)θama-* (? cf. OPers. fraθama- = fratama- "foremost")

In the extant manuscripts there is a tendency to write ś́ everywhere before ii, e.g., maś́iia-, and the distribution of š and ṣ̌ varies from scribe to scribe: some commonly use š as the normal (default) spelling, others ṣ̌. When Geldner made his edition of the Avesta, he based himself primarily upon manuscripts where the default spelling was ṣ̌, not š, which means that also in his critical apparatus, when a spelling is quoted from several manuscripts, ṣ̌ means ṣ̌ or š!

ṭ: The letter ṭ probably represented an unreleased (sometimes called "implosive") dental stop and was an allophone of /t/ found in final and pre-consonantal position, examples: janaṭ "he killed," ṭkaēša- "guidance," ṭbaēšah- "harm." Between vowel and consonant, it alternates with δ: aṭka- ~ aδka- "coat."

MORPHOLOGY

General remarks

The following survey of morphological categories is not meant to be mastered completely right away, but be used as reference.

The Avestan systems of declensions and conjugations are still of the Indo-Iranian type, involving a variety of stems, genders, numbers, cases, etc. Because of the limited material, the forms are not as well known as for Vedic, and the student should keep in mind that some declensions and conjugations are known from only a few forms, sometimes only a single form. In unfavorable instances the manuscript tradition may also be so poor that the correct forms cannot be determined.

Morphological (inflectional) categories

Groups of words that take the same kind of forms and endings are grouped into separate "inflectional categories." There are two main subgroups: those words which have forms and endings indicating "time" (past, present, future) and those that do not. "Time-words" are called "verbs."

The verbs are classified according to the way they function in a sentence. "Transitive" verbs are those that can take a direct object (he kills the dragon, I see you, etc.), while "intransitive" verbs are the others. Intransitive verbs include verbs of state (I live), verbs of motion (I walk), mental processes (I think), and others. Intransitive verbs can usually only take "inner" objects (I live a life, I walk a walk, I think a thought). When transitive verbs are used like intransitive ones they are called "passive" (I am killed, he is seen).

The second subgroup is in turn divided into several subgroups. One of these subgroups contains words that distinguish between different "cases," that is, forms indicating the function of the word in the sentence (subject, direct object, indirect object, posessor, and other), and those that do not. Words that distinguish cases are nouns, adjectives, pronouns, and numerals. Nouns can be defined as not being adjectives, pronouns, or numerals.

Adjectives are distinguished from nouns by taking different forms depending on the gender of the noun they qualify.

Pronouns are distinguished by "deixis," that is, references to place or time relative to the position of the speaker (I, you, he/she/it/that; here, there, yonder).

Numerals are a special kind of nouns, adjectives, or adverbs used for counting objects (cardinals); indicating position in a series (ordinals); denoting fractions (one-third), number of occurrences (once, twice); etc.

The last subgroup contain various types of words that do not change forms or take different endings depending on their function in the sentence. This subgroup contains "adverbs," "prepositions" and "postpositions," "conjunctions," and various "particles."

These categories will be described in greater detail later on. Following is a brief survey for reference.

NOUNS

General remarks

Nouns (substantives) can be "proper nouns," e.g., Zaraθuštra-, Vištāspa-, or "common nouns" ("appellatives"), e.g., mašiia- "man, human being," puθra- "son," gairi- "mountain," maniiu- "spirit."

The part of the noun (or adjective) that remains when the ending is removed is referred to as the "stem" and is marked by a hyphen, as in the examples just cited.

Declensions

Nouns and adjectives are classified as consonantic and vocalic stems, which constitute the vocalic and consonant "declensions," or groups of nouns and adjectives characterized by the same or similar endings.

Consonant-declension nouns have a consonant before the ending, most commonly n, r, h, but also p, t, ṇt, d, etc.

Vowel-declension nouns have a vowel before the ending: a, ā, i, ī, u, ū. Depending on the vowel before the ending these nouns are classified as a-stems, ā-stems, i-stems, etc. This vowel is also referred to as the "stem vowel."

Some stems behave partly as vowel-stems, partly as consonant-stems, e.g., the "diphthong" stems in aē-, ao- and the $u^2$-stems.

The stem vowel a of the a-declension is often referred to as the "thematic vowel" and the a-declension as the "thematic declension," as opposed to "athematic" declensions.

The same terminology is used for verbs.

Gender

Nouns, adjectives, and pronouns can be of three genders: masculine (masc., m.), feminine (fem., f.), or neuter (neut., n.).

The a-declension contains masculine and neuter nouns and adjectives.

The ā-declensions contains mostly feminine nouns and the feminine forms of a-declension adjectives.

There are a few masculine ā-stems, among them the very common noun mazdā-. Others are raθaēštā- "charioteer" and paṇtā- "road, way."

The i-declension contains masculine, feminine, and neuter nouns and adjectives. Nouns in ti- are usually feminine.

The aē-declension contains only masculine nouns, notably kauuaē- "kauui" and haxaē- "companion."

The u- (and uu-)declension contains masculine and neuter nouns and adjectives.

The ao-declension contains a few masculine nouns (bāzao- "arm") and adjectives (e.g., uγra.bāzao- "having a strong arm") and a few feminine nouns, notably the common daŋhao- "land" and nasao- "carrion, the demoness of carrion."

The ī-declension has only feminine nouns and adjectives in Young Avestan and the ū-declension only feminine nouns. Exceptions are a few adjectival compounds with so-called root nouns as second member.

Number and case

There are three numbers: singular, dual, plural, and eight cases: nominative, vocative, accusative, genitive, dative, ablative, instrumental, locative.

The vocative is different from the nominative only in the singular and only in some declensions.

Feminine and neuter nouns have the same form for the nominative and accusative plural.

Neuter nouns always have the same form for the nominative, vocative, and accusative in the singular, dual, and plural.

In the plural, dative = ablative; in the dual, dative = ablative = instrumental.

Articles

There is no definite or indefinite article.

Nominative and vocative

We start by giving some nominative and vocative forms of nouns and adjectives. Endings:

|  | a-decl. | | ā-decl. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
|  | m. | n. | m. | f. |
| Sing. | | | | |
| nom. | -ō, -as° | -əm | -å, -ås° | -a |
| voc. | -a | | -a | -e |
| Plur. | | | | |
| nom.-voc. | -a | -a | -å, -ås° | -å, -ås° |

Notes:

The vocative singular of a-stems is the bare stem form.

The expression Aməṣ̌a- Spəṇta- "Life-giving Immortal" often has the nom.-voc. plur. Aməṣ̌å Spəṇta in the manuscripts.

Paradigms of haoma- m. "haoma," haṇjamana- n. "assembly," mazdā- m. (in Ahura- Mazdā-, which has no plural forms), paṇtā- m. "road," and daēnā- f. Neuter nouns and inanimate nouns in general do not have vocative forms.

| | a-decl. | | ā-decl. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | m. | n. | m. | f. |
| Sing. | | | | |
| nom. | haomō, haomas° | haŋjamanəm | mazdå, mazdås°; paṇtå | daēna |
| voc. | haoma | | mazda | daēne |
| Plur. | | | | |
| nom.-voc. | haoma | haŋjamana | paṇtå | daēnå, daēnås° |

The forms marked with a final ° are found before -ca "and" and -ciṯ, a generalizing particle "even, -so-ever," haomasca "and the haoma," daēnåsciṯ "even the *daēnā*s."

Nominative plurals in -ånhō

Sometimes masc. a-stems take the ending -åŋhō (-åŋhas°) in the nom. plural. This ending corresponds to OPers. -āha and OInd. -āsaḥ. There is no difference in meaning from the regular form. The form vaṇtåŋhō "beloved ones" (Yt.17.10) may be an example of a feminine noun with this ending.

VERBS

General remarks

The Young Avestan verb, is—like other old Indo-European verbal systems—a multidimensional system containing the categories "tense," "mood," and "voice," in addition to "number," "person," and "gender."

The part of the verb that remains when the personal endings are removed, is referred to as the "stem" and is marked by a hyphen, e.g., śauua- "go," hišta- "stand," baṇdaiia- "bind." The part of the stem that remains when the prefixes and suffixes that form the stem are removed, is called the "root," e.g., √śau-, √stā-, √band- (see Lesson 11).

Conjugations

Like nouns, verb stems are classified as vocalic or consonantic, also referred to as "thematic" and "athematic" conjugations. Thematic verbs are verbs with stems ending in -a, while athematic verbs have stems ending in (original) consonants or semi-vowels (i̯, u̯). In practice, stems in long ā and diphthongs are athematic. Thematic verbs can also be described as "regular" or "weak," while athematic ones are "irregular" or "strong."

The endings are basically the same in the two classes, but in the athematic conjugation frequent changes take place as a result of the various historical developments of the consonant groups resulting from the combinations of final consonant of the stem plus the initial consonant of the ending.

Some forms of the verb function as adjectives ("participles") or nouns ("infinitives").

Tenses

The tenses are present: "he does, he is doing"—imperfect: "he did, he was doing"—aorist: "he did, he has done"—perfect: "he has (always) seen."

In Young Avestan the imperfect tense is mostly expressed by the inherited present injunctive forms, more seldom the imperfect forms (= injunctive + augment). In this manual this form will be called the "imperfect-injunctive."

The use of the aorist indicative (see below) is limited in Young Avestan, but modal forms are relatively common.

The perfect is used in old Young Avestan in its old functions. Its modal forms also have important uses.

A "periphrastic" perfect formed by the perfect participle in -ta plus the verb "to be" (similar to German Ich bin gewesen and French je suis allé) is seen occasionally.

Moods

There are five moods: indicative: "he does, he is doing"—subjunctive: "(that) he (should) do"—imperative: "do!"—optative: "may he do, he should do, (I wish) he would do"—and (present, aorist) injunctive: "(do not) do!"

Voice, passive

There are two "voices" (diatheses): active and middle: act. "he does (for others)"—mid. "he does for himself."

The passive ("it is done, he is killed") can be expressed by middle forms or by a special present stem in -iia-.

On terminology

Students without a background in Latin, Greek, or Sanskrit are likely to be confused by the many meanings of terms such as "injunctive," "active," and "middle." It should be carefully observed that these terms sometimes refer to forms, sometimes to functions or meanings. Thus verbs with "middle" endings can have "active," "passive," or "middle" meaning. The normal function of the "injunctive" of the present stem is "imperfect," while "imperfect" (augmented) forms are very rare in Avestan.

The imperative

As with the nouns, we shall start with the simplest forms of the verbs: those of the 2nd person singular and plural imperative active.

The following table shows the endings of the thematic verbs with the imperative active forms of jasa- "to come," baṇdaiia- "to bind," and dāiia- "to give, grant."

|  | Endings | Examples: |  |  |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. 2nd pers. | -a | jasa "come!" | baṇdaiia "bind!" | dāiia "give, grant!" |
| Plur. 2nd pers. | -ata | jasata | baṇdaiiata | dāiiata |

Note that the imperative sing. of thematic stems ends in -a, which is, like the voc. sing. of a-stem nouns, the bare stem.

"To be"

The common verb "to be" has the following forms in the present indicative:

|  | Present indicative |  |
|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  | Examples: |
| 1 | ahmi | azəm ahmi "I am" |
| 2 | ahi | tum ahi "you are" |
| 3 | asti | asti "(he/she/it is what) is; exists" |
| Plur. |  |  |
| 1 | mahi | vaēm mahi "we are" |
| 2 | stā | yužəm stā "you (all) are" |
| 3 | həṇti | həṇti "(they) are" |

Notes:

asti is not uncommonly used with a predicate noun or adjective in metrical texts, but its basic function is to denote existence.

The 2 plur. stā is not found in Young Avestan, only Old Avestan.

The verb "be" is used with the dative to express possession: nōiṯ mē asti "I have no ..."

SYNTAX

Uses of the nominative

The main functions of the nominative are the following:

1. Subject

It is the case of the subject of a verb: intransitive (e.g., "I am, she goes"), transitive (e.g., "the men kill enemies"), or passive (e.g., "the women are abducted").

azəm mazdaiiasnō ahmi "I am a Mazdayasnian"
Miθrō θrąfəδō asti paiti.zaṇtō "(where) Miθra is satisfied (and) recognized (where there is a Miθra/contract ...)"
Arəduuī Sura Anāhita srira "Arduuī Sura Anāhita (is) beautiful"

2. Predicate noun or adjective

It is the case of the predicate noun or adjective of the verb "to be" and some other verbs (e.g., "to seem"):

Examples with "to be":

azəm mazdaiiasnō ahmi "I am a Mazdayasnian."
azəm ahmi Zaraθuštrō tum Jāmāspō ahi "I am Zarathustra, you are Djamaspa."
vaēm mazdaiiasna mahi "we are Mazdayasnians."
*yužəm daēuua stā dušxšaθra "you are demons, with bad command" *ime həṇti paoiriiō.dāta paoiriiō.fraθβaršta "these are those first brought forth, first fashioned forth."
*yōi həṇti haoma sura spəṇta "(those) which are the life-giving haomas, rich in life-giving strength."

The verb "to be" is sometimes omitted. Clauses with a subject and predicate noun or adjective but without a verb are called "nominal clauses" or "noun clauses." In Avestan, relative clauses that characterize nouns are frequently noun clauses:

azəm yō Ahurō Mazdå tum yō Zaraθuštrō "I who (am) Ahura Mazda, you who (are) Zarathustra."

Note also the following construction, which is quite common in Avestan (see Lesson 11):

yå āpō baēšaziiå "the healing waters" (lit. which (are) the healing waters)

3. Appositions to a noun in the nominative

Appositions to a noun in the nominative are themselves in the nominative:

*azəm ahmi Ahurō Mazdå maniiuš spə̄ništō "I am Ahura Mazda, the most Life-giving Spirit."

Use of the vocative

The vocative is used only when addressing someone and is often used together with an imperative:

azəm ahmi Zaraθuštra Haomō duraošō "I am, O Zarathustra, Haoma the death-averter." (Y.9.2) tum ahi Ahura Mazda yazatō mazištō "You are, O Ahura Mazdā, the greatest god."
*vasō.xšaθrō ahi Haoma "you are in command at will, O Haoma." (Y.9.25)

Use of the imperative

The imperative is used to express a command or an exhortation, as in English, "come!," "stop!." The person the command or exhortation is addressed to is frequently in the vocative:

*srire Anāhite mošu jasa "O beautiful Anāhitā, come quickly!"

taṭ nō dāiiata yazata yaēca maziŝta vahiŝtaca "Give (grant) that to us, O gods, (those of you) who (are) both greatest and best!"

    Note: taṭ here is acc. as direct object = nom.

Number

    When a subject consists of several nouns (not a person) the verb usually agrees with the nearest noun, e.g.:

aētaṭ asti yasnasca vahmasca "this is the sacrifice and hymn."

Repetition of verbs

    Instead of repeating a verb in the sentence, like in English, Avestan prefers repeating nouns, pronouns, and preverbs, e.g.:

imaṭ baγa dāiiata imaṭ vispe yazata*
"Give this, O gods, (give) this, O all beings worthy of sacrifice!"

    Note: imaṭ is acc. direct object = nom.

EXERCISES 3

1. Write in Avestan script the nom. and voc. sing. (only "living" things) and plur. forms (not proper names!) of the following nouns and adjectives:

baγa- maziŝta-, yazata- vahiŝta-, maŝiia- acišta-, daēnā- spəṇtā-, xšaθra- vərəθrająstəma-, aka- yāna-; Pāuruua- nauuāza vifrō.təma-, Anāhitā- vahmiiā-.

2. Write in Avestan script the sing. and plur. imperative forms of the following verbs:

xᵛara-, yāsa-, taca-, hišta-, baṇdaiia-, xᵛafsa-.

3. Practice reading the Avestan and translate into English:

ime həṇti vispe yazatåŋhō maniiauuaca gaēθiiaca yōi həṇti yesniiaca vahmiiaca.

kaṭ vō asti ahura mazda yasnasca vahmasca?

4. Transcribe and translate into English:

5. Translate into Avestan:

1. Rise, O man! Rise, O men!
2. Sleep long, O man! Sleep long, O men!
3. Illnesses, run away!
4. Demons, get lost!
5. Destructions, run away!
6. Foes, run away!
7. Come to our help, O Miθra!
8. I am a Mazdayasnian.
9. Sraoša is a well-shaped deity.
10. Aši is the greatest and the best.
11. The daēuuas are the worst.
12. They have bad power.
13. The gods have good power.
14. We are men.

VOCABULARY 3

Note: nouns ending in -a- are masculine unless marked n. (neuter), and nouns ending in -ā- are feminine, with the few known exceptions.

acišta-, superlative of aka-: most evil

   Zarathustra

LESSON 4

PHONOLOGY

Modifications of consonants and vowels

To students of other ancient languages, such as Latin, Greek, or Sanskrit, the most disturbing feature of Avestan is the seeming—and sometimes actual—irregularity of the shape of the language. Thus, knowing how to produce the grammatical form of one word does not guarantee the ability to produce the same grammatical form of another word, even if the two words belong to the same grammatical category.

For instance, the accusative and genitive singular forms of haoma- are haomǝm and haomahe, but of maṣiia- the same forms are maṣim and maṣiiehe. Similarly, the 3rd sing. present indicative of bara- "to carry" is baraiti "he carries," but of yuiδiia- "to fight" it is yuiδiieiti. Compare the OInd. forms:

| Avestan | Old Indic | Avestan | Old Indic |
|---------|-----------|---------|-----------|
| haomō | somo | maṣiiō | martiyo |
| haomǝm | somam | maṣim | martiyam |
| haomahe | somasya | maṣiiehe | martiyasya |
| baraiti | bharati | yuiδiieiti | yudhyati |

Not only endings vary in shape, even the stem of the word sometimes changes, thus "I am" is ahmi, but "he is" is asti, and "they are" is hǝṇti, and "bad" is aka-, while "worst" is acišta-.

Not all of these changes can be predicted from within Avestan. Some require knowledge of the history of the language to understand. It cannot be recommended strongly enough that the students learn whatever rules there are and note in what kind of words and stems they occur. "Guessing" forms in Avestan is not a good idea.

1. Palatalization of a (i-umlaut)

This section describes the palatalization of a when not followed by a nasal (see Lessons 5, 7):

a > e (1) when preceded by y or ii and followed by i or e or (2) when in final position after h, r, or s. This rule affects numerous nominal and verbal forms.

In the table below palatalization is indicated by a raised -ⁱ-. Frequently the original -iia has been reintroduced.

Summary of changes (C = consonant):

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| **yaCi* | > | yeCⁱi | | **yadi* | > | yeiδi |
| | | | | **yazi* | > | yezi |
| **yaCe* | > | yeCⁱe | | **āi̯ase* | > | āiiese |
| | | | | **frā-i̯aze* | > | frāiieze |
| | | | | | | |
| -Ci̯a | > | -Cⁱe | | **ari̯a* | > | aire |
| | | | | \-ahi̯a* | > | -ahe |
| | | | | **nasi̯a* | > | nase |

Notes:

On the "intrusive" i in yeiδi and aire, see below.

yaz- has yaze, not **yeze*

2. Labialization of a (u-umlaut)

A short a followed by r or h is labialized—or "rounded"—into o before an u (not uu) in the following syllable, e.g., pouru- < **paru*, vohu- < **vahu*, e.g., pouru.sarǝδa- "of many species," vohu.friiāna- "Vohu.friiāna" (a kind of fire), vohuuǝrǝz- "who performs good (acts)" (< vohu + vǝrǝz-).

This change also takes place when the u is not an original u, e.g., pourum < **pa*ᵘ*ruuam* "prior, former."
In -aŋhu- the a is never labialized.

> Note: On the "intrusive" u in *pou*ru, see below.

3. Palatalization and labialization of consonants: i- and u-epenthesis

The most common sound alternations in Avestan are those referred to as palatalization or i-epenthesis and labialization or u-epenthesis.

"Palatalization" here means lifting the flat tongue toward the palate and touching it while pronouncing the consonant (as in Russian). ("Palatalized" is different from "palatal," which refers to the palate as point of articulation, with the tip of the tongue or flat tongue.)

"Labialization" means rounding the lips while pronouncing the consonant.

It cannot now be determined when exactly these sounds arose in Avestan. It can have been in the proto-Avestan, the Avestan, or even in the post-Avestan period—at some stage of the later oral transmission of the text.

4. Palatalization of consonants

Palatalization of consonants occurred when i or i̯ palatalized preceding consonants or consonant groups. In the Avestan orthography the palatalization is explicitly noted in two ways:
  1. by special consonant signs: ń, ŋ́, x́ (on which see Lesson 3);
  2. by writing an i before the palatalized consonant.

It cannot now be ascertained whether consonants other than ń, ŋ́, x́ were actually palatalized (as in Russian) or—if they were— for how long they remained so during the transmission of the texts. It is reasonable to assume that at some stage of the transmission the originally palatalized consonants lost their palatalization, leaving behind only the epenthetic i (which then virtually formed a diphthong with the preceding vowel).

Not all consonants show palatalization by epenthesis. Thus, the palatal consonants c and j and the sibilants (s, z, š, ž), as well as m and h, never do. Other consonants, however, regularly do, e.g., aipi (< **api*), aiβi (< **abi*), aēiti (< **aēti*), aēibiš (< **aēbiš*), āhuiri (< **āhuri*).

Occasional exceptions may be attributed to late scribal practice, e.g., sūre, not sūire.

Note also that according to the standard editions we have, for instance, aēibiiō but ābiiō (not āibiiō) and -aiti but -atica, -rəiti but -rətica, etc. See also de Vaan, 2003.

Consonant groups are rarely palatalized, the only important exception being ņt, e.g., astuuaiņti "in (the world) with bones." The word māzdaiiasni- sometimes shows palatalization: māzdaiiesniš, māzdaiiesnim, beside māzdaiiasniš, māzdaiiasnim.

Palatalization is also seen in the group r + consonant: airime "in peace" (< **arm*ⁱ*e* < **armai*).

When the vowel preceding the epenthetic i and u is ā (āi and āu) it cannot be determined from the orthography alone whether we have an original long diphthong = āi, OInd. ai, or ā + i.

5. Labialization of consonants

Labialization of consonants occurred when a u̯ labialized a preceding h or u̯ or u labialized a preceding r.

A labialized h became xᵛ initially, but ŋᵛh between vowels. For both these sounds special consonant signs were invented.

We see that xᵛ and ŋᵛh are in complementary distribution: xᵛ is used initially, ŋᵛh between vowels. Only by analogy or influence from Old Avestan is xᵛ found between vowels.

Labialized r is expressed by writing a u before the r: ur, e.g., uruuan- "soul" < **ru̯an-*.

When the vowel preceding the epenthetic u is ā (āur) it cannot be determined from the orthography alone whether we have an original long diphthong = āu, OInd., or ā + u.

6. Combined palatalization and labialization

Palatalization and labialization can be combined, as in *paruuiia- > paoiriia- "first" and *paruuī > paoirī- (fem. of pouru- "much").

The velar nasals

The palatalized and labialized velar nasals ń́ and ŋᵛ appear only before h.

For ń́h < hi̯, cf. vańhō "better" < vah-i̯ah-, and dańhu- "land" < dah-i̯u- (see also below).

The group ń́h seems to be the rule when followed by final -e (< *-ai) in the genitive singular of a-stems, the dative singular of h-stems (manańhe), and the 2nd singular middle (pərəsåńhe). Of these only the dative form is regularly spelled with ń́ (or ŋ) in the manuscripts. In the genitive singular and 2nd singular middle the endings are usually -ahe. In the 2nd singular middle -ń́he seems to be limited to the position after long ā (å), there being only one example of an ending -ańhe with short a. In the genitive singular, -ańhe is common in the pronoun ańhe "his, its" beside ahe. Note also vahehī- < vah-i̯ah-ī-, feminine of vańhah-.

Similarly ŋᵛh is from hu̯*, cf. aŋᵛhe < ahu̯-e, dative sing. of ahu-/aŋhu- "(state of) existence," and the 2nd middle imperative ending -ŋᵛha- < -hu̯a, which has the allomorph -suua after dental (dasuua "take!" < dad-su̯a). In word formation ŋᵛh alternates with xᵛ: xᵛara- "to eat" ~ fraŋᵛhara- "to eat, consume."

The velar fricatives

In Young Avestan x́ appears only before ii in forms of dańhu- (dax́iiuma-, dax́iium, dax́iiunąm, dual dax́iiu ~ dańhu) and in the ethnic x́iiaona- "Chionite"(?). It cannot be an allophone of x, as it does not appear in paradigms and word formation for xi̯, and its paradigmatic relationship to ń́h strongly suggests it should be analyzed as an irregular realization of hi̯: dax́iiŭ- may have been influenced by Old Avestan, and x́iiaona- may be the local pronunciation of the ethnic.

The case of xᵛ is similar. It is in complementary distribution with ŋᵛh: initial ~ intervocalic, but the initial xᵛ has regularly been restored after "privative" a (xᵛarəta- "eaten" ~ axᵛaraṇt- "not eateing"). There are otherwise only two examples of intervocalic xᵛ in Young Avestan: kaxᵛarəδa- "sorcerer" (cf. OInd. kākhorda), and the country name Haraxᵛaitī-, which may preserve the local pronunciation.

Old ku̯* also became xᵛ, as in the act. perf. part. vaoxᵛah- "having (ever) spoken."

Consonant changes. Sandhi

The phenomenon of sandhi refers to the modification of consonants or vowels caused by preceding or following sounds. There are two kinds of sandhi: internal and external.

Internal sandhi refers to the changes that occur in the final consonant of the stem of a word before an ending or in the initial consonant of the ending, e.g., drug + š > druxš "the Lie," bad + ta > basta "bound," dad-te > daz-de "is made, given," as well as in the initial consonants of the second members of compounds, e.g., raθaēštā- "charioteer" < raθaē + stā-.

External (or final) sandhi means that the final consonant of a word is modified because of the initial of the following word.

External sandhi is a fundamental feature of Old Indic but occurs only sporadically in Avestan and almost exclusively in connection with the enclitic particles -ca "and" and -cit̰, occasionally before enclitic pronouns—rarely nouns—beginning with t-, e.g., haomō + -ca > haomasca "and Haoma," kō + -cit̰ > kascit̰ "whoever, every," kasə θβąm "who (pressed) you (O Haoma)," xᵛax́iiå tanuuō > xᵛax́iiåsə tanuuō "of (his) own body/self," anākåsə tāiiuš "(if) not in full view, (he is) a thief" (Herb.6)

In the paradigms sandhi forms are marked with a raised circle (°), e.g., kas° or kasə° for kō.

NOUNS

Masc. iia- and fem. iiā-stems

When the ending -iia is preceded by consonant, symbolically "Ciia#," the group -iia ought to become -e according to the rule just given, at least when the consonant allows palatalization. Most often, however, the normal a- and ā-stem forms have been reintroduced. The masc. iia-stems and fem. iiā-stems have the following modified forms (paradigms: airiia- "Aryan," mairiia- "villain," kaniiā- "young woman," mairiiā- "roguish woman").

Examples:

|  | iia-decl. |  | iiā-decl. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  |  |  |
| nom. | maṣ̌iiō | airiiō, airiias° | kaine, maire |
| voc. | maṣ̌iia | **aire, maire* | **maire* |
| Plur. |  |  |  |
| nom.-voc. | maṣ̌iia, maṣ̌iiåŋhō | aire | kaniiå, kaniiås° |

Notes:

The vocative of nouns such as mairiia- should be **maire*, with -iia > -e, but no examples are found in the texts (although some are used here in the exercises).

The sandhi form of the plur. nom. masc. is—both in iia-stems and other a-stems—sometimes -ā°, e.g., maṣ̌iiāca "and men" (cf. maṣ̌iiāka- "people," staorāca "and big animals").

There are no examples of neut. iia-stems, so we do not know whether they had nom. plur. forms in -e < \-iia*, such as **haiθe* "true" < **haiθiia*.

Forms with consonant groups before final -iia-, such as maṣ̌iia- < **martiia*-, aṣ̌iia- < \(a)rtiia*-, epithet of Sraoša, tąθriia- "of darkness," and vāstriia "pastures," may not have undergone palatalization.

Masc. uua-stems

The final ending -uua of various origins occasionally becomes -uuō. There seems to be one example of this change in a masc. uua-stem: Huuōuuō "the Huuōuuas."

i- and ī-stems

The endings of the nom. and voc. sing. and plur. forms of the i- and ī-declensions are:

|  | i-decl. |  | ī-decl |
|---|---|---|---|
|  | m. f. | n. | f. |
| Sing. |  |  |  |
| nom. | -iš | -i | -i, -iš |
| voc. | -e |  | -i |
| Plur. |  |  |  |
| nom.-voc. | -aiiō, -aiias° | -i | -iš |

Notes:

Aṣ̌i- has the irregular voc. Aṣ̌i (e.g., Aṣ̌i srire "O beautiful Aṣ̌i!"; perhaps in analogy with Arəduuī Sūre). In Arəduuī the ending is usually long in the manuscripts.

Paradigms (gairi- m., frauuaṣ̌i- f., āhuiri- n. "belonging to Ahura Mazda, Ahurian," vaŋᵛhī- f. "good," baβrī- "(female) beaver" (note how the palatalization and labialization rules work!):

|  | i-decl. |  |  | ī-decl. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
|  | m. | f. | n. | f. |
| Sing. |  |  |  |  |
| nom. | gairiš | frauuašiš | āhuiri | vaŋᵛhi, baβriš |
| voc. | **gaire* | **frauuaše* |  | vaŋᵛhi |
| Plur. |  |  |  |  |
| nom.-voc. | garaiiō, garaiias° | frauuašaiiō, frauuašaiias° | āhuiri | vaŋᵛhiš |

Note the irregular voc. zāire from zairi- "tawny," common epithet of the haoma-.
Also note gairi- = OInd. girí- < **gr̥Hi-*.
On the laryngeal fem. ī-stems, see Lesson 12.

r-stems. ātar- "fire" and agent nouns

The extremely common word for "fire" is ātar-, a masc. (irregular) r-stem.

Masc. nouns in -tar- denoting people who do something, occasionally or professionally, e.g., pātar- "protector," dātar- "maker, creator," are called agent nouns.

The neuter noun vadar- "striking weapon" has only the nom.-acc. sing.

These words are declined as follows:

| Sing. |  |  |  |  |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | dāta | pāta | ātarš | vadarə |
| voc. | dātarə | - | ātarə |  |
| Plur. |  |  |  |  |
| nom.-voc. | dātārō | pātārō | ātarō |  |

Note: the plur. of raθaēštā- is usually raθaēštārō after the tar-declension.

VERBS

Athematic verbs

Athematic verbs do not have an -a- before the ending, as in jas-a-ta. Instead the endings are added directly to the final consonant or vowel of the stem.

Examples of imperative active forms of athematic verbs (daδā-/daδ- "to give, place," naēd-/nid- "to blame, scorn" stao-/stu- "to praise"):

| Sing. | 2 | -δi, -di | stuiδi "praise!" | dazdi "give!" |  |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Plur. | 2 | -ta | staota | dasta | nista "blame!" |

Notes:

The athematic ending of the 2 singular is -di after consonant, but -δi after vowel (causing i-epenthesis), cf. also jaiδi "strike, smash!" < jan-/ja-.

The forms dazdi, dasta, and nista are from **dad-di*, **dad-ta*, and **nid-ta* and provide examples of internal sandhi.

Some verbs show ablaut (see Lesson 10) in the imperative, e.g., stuiδi, plur. staota from stao-/stu- "to praise," probably also mrao-/mru- "to say." Note that these verbs have a "short" form before -δi and a "long" form before -ta. Few forms are attested.

The imperative of iia-stems

The 2nd sing. imperative of iia-stems ought to be affected by the palatalization rules described above: -iia > -e. The only example appears to be °nase < nasiia- in apa.nase, vī.nase "get lost!" (V.8.21, Sb.3).

The aiia- and āiia-stems end in -aiia and -āiia.

The imperative active 3rd person

Unlike English, but like Latin, Greek, and Sanskrit, Avestan also has 3rd pers. imperatives.

The 3rd pers. imperative sing. and plur. should be translated into English as "let him/them do!" (not "may he do!" which corresponds to the optative).

Paradigms (athem.: aē-/i- "go," daδā-/daδ- "to give, place," mrao- "say"; thematic: bauua- "become," jasa- "come, go," nasiia- "perish"):

|  | Athematic |  | Thematic |  |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | -tu | mraotu, "let him say!" | -atu | jasatu "let him come!" |
|  |  | daδātu "let him give!" | -aiiatu | mitaiiatu "let her dwell!" |
| Plur. | -əṇtu | daδəṇtu "let them give!" | -əṇtu | jasəṇtu "let them come!" |
|  | -iiaṇtu | yaṇtu "let them go!" | -iiaṇtu | nasiiaṇtu "let them perish!" |
|  |  |  | -aiiaṇtu | vīuuāδaiiaṇtu "let them lead away!" |
|  | -uuaṇtu | **mruuaṇtu* "let them say!" | -uuaṇtu | bauuaṇtu "let them be(come)!" |

Note: In the 3rd sing. of athematic verbs the "long" form of the stem is used. – Vowels are lost before -əṇtu.

The imperative of "to be"

The imperative forms of "to be" are as follows:

Sing.
2      **zdī* "be!"
3      astu "let him be!"
Plur.
3      **həṇtu* "let them be" (Y.60.11; Skjærvø, 2005)

Note: zdī is attested only in Old Avestan.

SYNTAX

Further examples of the uses of the nominative, vocative, and imperative:

daēuuō apa.nasiiatu "Let the daēuua perish!"
daēuua apa.nase "Perish, O daēuua!"
mošu mē auuaŋhe jasatu "Let him/her come quickly to my help!"
Sraošō iδa astu "Let Sraoša be here (present)!"
raθaēštārō jasəṇtu iδa niš.hiδəṇtu "Let the charioteers come! Let them sit down here!"
frauuaṣaiiō xšnutå iδa aiiaṇtu xšnutå iδa vī.carəṇtu "Let the fravashis (if) satisfied come here, may they (if) satisfied go about here!" (after Yt.13.156) azəm yō Ahurō Mazdå dāta ahmi "I who (am) Ahura Mazda am the creator."
azəm bā tē ahmi yā hauua daēna "well, I am the daēnā which (is) your own (= your own daēnā)."
tum ahi Ahurō Mazdå maniiuš spəništō "You are Ahura Mazda, the most life-giving spirit."

EXERCISES 4

1. Write in Avestan script the sing. and plur. nom. and voc. forms of the following nouns and adjectives:

mairiia- acišta-, aka- daēuua-, ātar- vohu.friiāna-, paṇtā- darəγa-, nmāna- āhuiri-, gairi- spaēta-, kaniiā- huraoδā-; (sing.) Aṣi- vaŋᵛhī-, Sraoša- Aṣiia-, Aži- Dahāka-.

2. Write in Avestan script the sing. and plur. imperative forms of the following verbs:

 aē-/i-, mrao-/mru-, kərənao-/kərənu-, bara-, nasiia-, rāmaiia-.

3. Practice reading the Avestan, analyze and translate into English:

aēm asti srīrō gairiš spitama zaraθuštra hukairiiō yō vispō.vahmō zaranaēnō.

4. Transcribe and translate into English:

5. Translate into Avestan:

   1. O good fravashis, dwell here!
   2. Rise, O people, and praise Order!
   3. We, O Mazdayasnians, are Aryans.
   4. Let the Huuōuuas, the brave charioteers, go about here!
   5. O Miθra, come down hither to us for help!
   6. This young woman is both beautiful and well-shaped.
   7. Let this strong fravashi dwell here!
   8. Let this daēuua perish!
   9. O villain, run away!
   10. Let Ahura Mazdā and the fire appear to us!

zāire, voc. sing. of zairi-: golden, tawny; standing epithet of Haoma

LESSON 5

THE SCRIPT AND THE TEXT

Punctuation

In the manuscripts every word is separated by a point (period). The point is also regularly used to separate members of compounds (see Lesson 6), as well as to mark off preverbs and prefixes (not consistently), enclitic pronouns, sometimes even endings. The enclitic particles -ca and -cit̰, however, are not separated from the words they are attached to.

It has become tradition to transcribe this point by a period whenever it does not simply mark the end of a word. It is also sometimes used with enclitic pronouns (yā.mē, etc.). This is wrong, however, as the long ē of the enclitic pronouns shows they were considered by the scribes as separate words. If they were genuinely enclitic, they would—by the rules (see below)—have final -e, not -ē, etc.

PHONOLOGY

Sound system. The ə "Shwa."

The phonemic status of Avestan ə is problematic. It is found mainly in the following phonetic contexts:

1. as the regular allophone of a before nasals and before uu followed by i or ī. Examples: həṇti "they are" (but zauuaiṇti "they curse"); maniiəuuī-, feminine of maniiauua- "belonging to the world of the maniius," səuuišta- "most rich in life-giving strength" (< sauu-), rəuuī- f. "fast," see below;

2. as the common anaptyctic vowel, see below.

Final syllables

Not all vowels, diphthongs, or consonants are found in final position.

Final vowels in monosyllables are always written long (except short -e in some late manuscripts), no matter their origins, e.g., mē "(to, for) me," zī "for, namely," nō "(to, for) us."

The only diphthong found in final position is ōi, and even this is rare, e.g., yōi "who (plur.)."

In polysyllabic words, ā, ī, ū, ē and diphthongs are not used at the end of words in genuine Young Avestan, only in imitation of Old Avestan.

Conspectus:

| Finals | Monosyllables | Polysyllables: |
|---|---|---|
| Short | | a, i, u, e, ə |
| Long | ā, ī, ū, ō, å, ą, ē, ōi, āi, āu | å, ō, ą, ə̄ |

Among the exceptions are: Arəduuī Sura (possibly influenced by Pahl. Ardwīsūr).

The diphthongs aē (ae) and ao (aō) (< **ai* and **au*) become -(ii)e and -uuō in final position. They reappear before -ca "and" and -cit̰ "even": -aēca and -aoca, e.g., tē "they," taēcit̰ "even they," yaēcit̰ "also (those) who."

Note that vocative forms never take the enclitics -ca and -cit̰, and so the original diphthongs do not (usually) reappear in vocative forms (on gao- see Lesson 8).

Few consonants are found as finals: the two nasals m and n, the dental t̰ and the sibilants s (rare) and š (common), e.g., barəm "I carried," barən "they carried," barat̰ "he carried," hauruuatās (< °tāt-s) "wholeness," maniiuš "spirit(s)," gairiš "mountain(s)."

The consonant r always takes ə as supporting vowel when final, e.g., dātarə "O creator!," ātarə "O fire!."

The consonant s takes ə as supporting vowel when final in sandhi (see Lesson 4), e.g., kasə tē "who for you?."

Vowels in monosyllables ending in consonants basically follow the same rules (or lack of rules) as vowels in other final syllables. In this introduction, short i will be used in words such as im "this (f.)" (not īm), dim, diš.

Modifications of vowels: a + nasal

Among all the vowels, the vowel a is the most prone to change. Its main variants are ə before uui/uuī and nasals (n and m) and e when palatalized.

The variant ə is in turn very sensitive to its surroundings and regularly becomes i when preceded by palatal consonants (ii, c, and j) and u when preceded by uu.

The combinations -(i)iim, -(u)uum and -(i)iin, -(u)uun are then finally simplified to -im, -um and -in, -un. These finals in turn combine with a preceding -a- to form diphthongs: -aēm, -aom, etc.

Note: Sometimes the intermediate stage persists beside the final one, e.g., -aiiən ~ -aēn.

The sound changes listed in the table below can all be derived from these rules.
Mastery of these rules and sound changes is crucial to the students' ability to analyze Avestan, as they pervade the entire language.

Following are some common examples of sound changes needed to understand the paradigms in this lesson. The student should learn them by heart. A complete table is given in lesson 7.

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| \-am* | > | -əm | | | \-an* | > | -ən | | |
| \-iiam* | > | -iiəm | > | -im | \-iian* | > | -iiən | > | -in |
| \-aiiam* | > | \-aiiəm* | > | -aēm | \-aiian* | > | -aiiən | > | -aēn |
| \-auuam* | > | \-auuəm* | > | -aom | \-auuan* | > | -auuən | > | -aon |

The voiced fricatives: β, δ, γ

The voiced fricatives are all subject to contextual, possibly also dialectal, changes and variations.

Intervocalic δ alternates with θ in forms of vaēδ- "to know" and the present stem daδā- of the verb dā- "to give, place, create," e.g., viθuš "knowing," daθaṯ "gave."

Intervocalic β further tends to become uu, which in turn is subject to change, cf. aiβi "to" > auui > aoi, viiāuuaitī- "shining far and wide" < **vi-ā-bā-* < √bā "to shine." The combination **bi̯* became βi̯, written βii, which further became u̯i̯, which combined with preceding a > aoii, cf. **aδaβiia-* "undeceivable": nom. aδaoiiō, but acc. aδauuim; daiβī- f. "deception, deceptive" > **daiuuī-* (written daēuuī-, daēiuuī-).

The velar fricative γ is lost in some positions: druuaṇt-, cf. OAv. drəguuaṇt-; fem. rəuuī- "fast" < raγu- (cf. OInd. laghvī-); Mourum < **Marγum* (Skjærvø, "Avestica II," 1997).

NOUNS

u- and ū-stems

The endings of the nom. and voc. sing. and plur. forms of the u- and ū-declensions and the irregular noun pasu- "small cattle (sheep and goats)" are:

| | u-decl. | | pasu- | ū-decl. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | m. | n. | m. | f. |
| Sing. | | | | |
| nom. | -uš | -u | -uš | -uš |
| voc. | -uuō | | - | - |
| Plur. | | | | |
| nom.-voc. | -auuō, -auuas° | -u | -uuō, -uuas° | -uuō, -uuas° |

Paradigms (ratu- m. "(divine) model," pouru- "much, many" (note how the labialization rules work!), pasu- m. "sheep," tanū- f. "body":

|  | u-decl. m. | | n. | pasu- m. | ū-declension f. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  |  |  |  |  |
| nom. | ratuš | pouruš | pouru | pasuš | tanuš |
| voc. | ratuuō | - |  | - | - |
| Plur. |  |  |  |  |  |
| nom.-voc. | ratauuō, | parauuō, | pouru | pasuuō | tanuuō |
|  | ratauuas° | parauuas° |  | pasuuas° | tanuuas° |

Notes:

In the manuscripts we often find pasuuō "normalized" to pasauuō.

ratu- is properly a $u^2$-stem (see Lesson 11).

For the feminine u-stems, see ao-stems in Lesson 8.

The vocative endings of the i-stems (and aē-stems): -e (< -ⁱe), and u-stems: -uuō, are for *-aē and *-ao in final position.

After ii, the vocative ending is only -ō: maniiō < maniiu- "spirit," Vaiiō < Vaiiu-.

Adjectival compounds in -ī and -ū

There are a few adjectival compounds ending in root nouns in -ī and -ū, e.g., yauuaējī- "living forever" and yauuaēsū- "vitalized/vitalizing forever" (see Lesson 12: laryngeal stems). Few forms are actually attested:

| Sing. |  |  |
|---|---|---|
| nom. | **yauuaējiš* | **yauuaēsuš* |
| Plur. |  |  |
| nom.-acc. | yauuaējiiō | yauuaēsuuō |

About the endings

The a-, i-, and u-declensions originally (= in Indo-European) had the same ending in the nominative singular, namely -s, as in Greek θεός theós "god," πίστις pístis "faith" and ἰχθύς ikhthús "fish," Latin dominus, civis, sinus, but in the Indo-Iranian mother language s became h after a and ā but š after i or u according to the "ruki" rule, which states that s became š after r, u, k [Iran. x], i). The Indo-Iranian forms were therefore \-ah*, \-iš*, \-uš*.

In addition, in Avestan, final \-h* was lost, causing rounding of the preceding vowels: \-ah > -ō* (cf. OInd. -o), \-āh > -å*.

ADJECTIVES

Feminine and neuter forms

Feminine forms of adjectives of the a-declension are usually declined according to the ā-declension, occasionally according to the ī-declension, e.g., sura- "rich in life-giving strength," f. surā-; spəṇta- "life-giving," f. spəṇtā-. Note the fem. nom. sing. naire < **nairiia* of nairiiā- "manly, heroic."

Feminine forms of other adjectives are declined according to the ī-declension, e.g.: vaŋhu- "good," vaŋᵛhī- f.; pouru- "plentiful, many," paoirī- f.; driɣu- "poor," driuuī- f. (note the phonetic changes), maniiauua-, f. maniiəuuī- (beside maniiauuā-).

A few feminine adjectives belong to the laryngeal ī-declension (see Lesson 12), among them zaranaēnī- "golden" and daiβī-/daiuuī- "deceptive." These have nom.-acc. plur in -iiō, e.g., daiuuiiō.

December 15, 2018

Neuter adjectives are declined like neuter nouns, e.g., nom.-acc. sing. surəm, āhuiri "belonging to/related to Ahura (Mazdā)," vohu.

PRONOUNS

Personal pronouns in the nominative

The personal pronouns have the following forms in the nominative.

|  | 1st | 2nd | 3rd | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | | | | | |
| nom. | azəm "I" | tum "you, thou" | hō, has°; huuō "he" | hā "she" | taṯ "it" |
| Plur. | | | | | |
| nom. | vaēm "we" | yužəm "you, ye" | tē "they" | tå "they" | tā "they" |

Notes: tum is from **tu'am. – hasciṯ*, but hō + ca > hōca in hōca iδa astu "and he (Sraoša) shall be here" (Y.27.6, Vr.12.1).

VERBS

Imperfect-injunctive active 1

Depending on their shape, the Avestan verbs are divided into groups of verbs with similar characteristics. There are two main groups: "thematic" verbs, in which the stem ends in a, and "athematic" verbs, in which the stem does not end in a. These two groups are further divided into subgroups called "present classes." We have already seen examples of imperative forms of athematic verbs ending in consonants or vowels and thematic verbs with stems ending in -a-, -iia-, and -aiia-. These will be discussed in greater detail later.

To express past tense (past action, state, etc.), Young Avestan employs a form of the verb which here will be referred to as the "imperfect-injunctive."

The endings of the imperfect-injunctive are called "secondary" (i.e., as opposed to the "primary" endings of the present indicative, see Lesson 8). As the secondary endings are less exposed to phonetic changes than the primary ones—although there are several—we shall discuss them first.

Note: Because many forms are not (well) attested in the Avesta, it is impossible to give complete paradigms. To make it easier on the students I have as far as possible used the same verb throughout the paradigms, although these particular forms may not be attested, and I have sometimes included forms that are strictly speaking only attested in Old Avestan.

In the athematic verbs, the endings vary according to the final of the stem.

Paradigm (athem.: mrao-/mru- "to say," stao-/stu- "to praise," daδā-/daδ- (daθ-) "to give, place"; them.: vaēna- "to see," tauruuaiia- "to overcome"):

|  | Athematic | | | Thematic | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | | | | | | |
| 1 | -m, -əm | daδąm | mraom | -əm | vaēnəm | |
| 2 | \-h, -š* | daδå | mraoš | -ō | vaēnō | |
| 3 | -ṯ | daδāṯ | mraoṯ | -aṯ | vaēnaṯ | |
| Plur. | | | | | | |
| 1 | -ma | | | \-āma, -ama* | **vaēnāma* | tauruuaiiama |
| 2 | -ta | dasta | staota | -ata | **vaēnata* | tauruuaiiata |
| 3 | -ən | daδən | | -ən | vaēnən | |

Notes:

ah- "to be" has 3rd sing. as or ās "(he/she/it) was" and, apparently, 3rd plur. aŋhən (Vr.11.13, Yt.5.7 [dual], V.2.39); ās is sometimes used as 3rd plur. (Yt.14.46).

mraom "I said" is from **mrauuəm*.

tauruuaiiama "we overcame" has no contraction as it is from **tauruuaiiāma*.

In dasta "you gave", -dt- has become -st-.

Other examples of verbs with "contracted" forms (bauua- "become," jaiδiia- "implore," srāuuaiia- "recite"):

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. 1 | *baom < *bauuəm* | **jaiδim < *jaiδiiəm* | *srāuuaēm < *srāuuaiiəm* |
| Plur. 3 | *baon < *bauuən* | *jaiδin < *jaiδiiən* | srāuuaēn or srāuuaiiən |

SYNTAX

Use of the imperfect-injunctive

āaṭ jasaṭ Zaraθuštrō "Then came Zarathustra."

srirō mē Yimō saδaiiaṭ "Yima seemed beautiful to me."

āaṭ mraoṭ Ahurō Mazdå maniiuš spəništō "Then spoke Ahura Mazdā, the most Life-giving spirit."

āaṭ him jaiδiiaṭ bərəzaiδiš Vištāspō āaṭ him raθaēštārō jaiδin "Then Vištāspa, who saw in high places, implored her; then the charioteers implored her."

āfš paoiri fra.tacaṭ "Much water flowed forth."

uruuarå uxšin zairi.gaonå baon paoirišca "The plants grew; they became green and many."

yō as vərəθrająstəmō "(Zarathustra), who was the most obstruction-smashing." (Y.9.15)

mošu taṭ ās nōiṭ darəγəm (yaṭ) "It was soon, not long (= it was not long) (before)." (Yt.5.65)

yaθa kaθaca tē ās zaošō "However was your pleasure." (Yt.19.82)

āaṭ frašūsaṭ zaraθuštra arəduuī sūra anāhita ... srīra vā aŋhən bāzauua "then, O Zarathustra, ASA went forth, and beautiful were (her) arms (dual)" (Yt.5.7)

Verbs with preverbs

Verbs such as paiti.mrao- "to answer" and paiti.auua.jasa- " to come down hither to" consist of a main verb and "preverbs," that is words which are sometimes used alone, e.g., as a preposition or an adverb, but often only exist together with a verb. There are similar words used with nouns, in which case they are called prefixes.

The scribes sometimes did and sometimes did not separate the preverb from the verb by a period. In this introduction the period is commonly used, except where sandhi changes have taken place (e.g., āi- < ā-ai-, āuuara- < ā-bara-).

Sometimes the preverb is separated from the verb and placed (usually) at the beginning of the sentence. Compare and contrast the following examples:

paiti.mraoṭ yō Zaraθuštrō "He, Zarathustra, spoke back (answered)."

paiti šē mraoṭ Ahurō Mazdå "Ahura Mazdā said back to him."

ā.jasaṭ Vərəθraγnō ahuraδātō "Vərəθraγna, established by Ahura Mazdā, came (flying)."

ā nō jasa auuaŋ́hē "Come to our assistance!"

paiti dim pərəsaṭ Zaraθuštrō "Zarathustra asked him in turn."

A verb can have several preverbs:

āiδi paiti.auua.jasa Arəduuī Sure Anāhite "Come! Come down back to (us), O Arəduuī Sura Anāhita!"

When a verb with a preverb is repeated in a sentence, instead of repeating the whole verb, the preverb may be repeated without the verb (cf. Lesson 3), e.g.:

pairi tē Haoma daδąm pairi vō āpō pairi tē ātarə "I presented to you, O Haoma, (I presented) to you, O waters, (I presented) to you, O fire ..."

EXERCISES 5

1. Write in Avestan script the nom. sing. and plur. (where appropriate) forms of the following nouns and adjectives:

   aṣa- vahišta-, aṣi- vaŋᵛhī-, baγa- mazišta-, baγā- paoirī-, driγu- maṣiia-, frasparəγa- srira-, kaniiā-hudaēnā-, vohu- vastra-, buiri- xᵛarəθa-, aka- yātu-, vaŋhu- gairi-; Vaiiu- uparō.kairiia-.

2. Write in Avestan script the imperfect-injunctive forms of the following verbs:

   āi- < ā-i-), ā.kasa-, isa-, kərənao-, gəuruuaiia-, θβərəsa-, bərəjaiia-, zauua-, zbaiia-.

3. Analyze and translate into English:

After Y.10.1
viš apąm iδa patəṇtu vī daēuuåŋhō vī daiuuiiō vaŋhuš sraošō mitaiiatu aṣiš vaŋᵛhi miθnatu aṣiš vaŋᵛhi iδa rāmaiiatu hā nō astu

4. Transcribe and translate into English:

(Avestan script, 13 lines)

5. Find Y.1.20 at the ADA. Find Y_IrP (= Iranian Yasna with Pahlavi translation) in the list to the left of the ms. Click on the + sign. Choose the ms. Pt4.

   Transcribe all the Avestan of Y.1.20. Note that the Avestan and Pahlavi texts alternate, but are separated by rosettas. Here, the form aṣāum is voc. sing. of aṣauuan-, and aṣahe "of Order" is gen. sing. of aṣa-. The other words are all in the voc. The voc. of ratu "ritual model" should be ratuuō, but is spelled ratauuō (as if plur. nom.) in all available mss. (Geldner lists ratuuō in H1, J7, Mf1).

6. Translate into Avestan:

  1. We are not Turanian enemies. We are Aryan charioteers, having good horses and good chariots.
  2. The young woman is poor. There is no guardian for her, no protector.
  3. Yima walked forth. He said thus:
  4. Go forth, and go wide and far, O men; go wide and far, O animals, both great and small!
  5. Then both the men and the animals, large and small, went forth and wide and far and became many.
  6. Then my daēna came. (She) seemed to me both beautiful and Life-giving.
  7. She said to me: I am (she) who (is your) own daēnā. Come to me, O Orderly Mazdayasnian.
  8. Then we went forth, both I and (my) daēnā.

zaoša-: pleasure

zauua- < √zu: to curse

zbaiia- < √zbā: to invoke zī: for, because

LESSON 6

PHONOLOGY

Form of the text.

The extant text of the Avesta is an "edited" text. On one or several occasions during the oral transmission of the text editors worked to standardize it. The extant text does therefore not reflect a genuine oral tradition.

One feature of the edited text is the replacement of the ending -a with the ending -ō in the first members of compounds and fricatives with stops in initial position in the second member, cf., e.g., beside the expected form ahuraδāta-, the much more common type daēuuō.dāta-, baγō.baxta, etc. Another is the restoration of word-final form for the expected sandhi form, e.g., in xšuuaš.gāiia- "six steps" instead of **xšuuažgāiia-*, cf. dužgaṇti- "evil smell."

Not all non-standard or "incorrect" forms are from the editors, however; many more are probably due to the reciters (transmitters) of the text and the scribes who wrote the manuscripts.

Anaptyxis

The Avestan ə is in most positions an allophone of /a/ (see Lesson 5). In addition, it is frequently used as an anaptyctic vowel.

"Anaptyctic" vowels are unetymological vowels inserted between consonants to "ease" the pronunciation. By far the most common anaptyctic vowel in Young Avestan is ə; occasionally a is used.

Anaptyxis (also called svarabhakti, a Sanskrit word meaning "sound-splitting") is especially common, if not obligatory, after r in final position and before other consonants, as well as in the group nr. The exception is the group rš, although this, too, is often written raš in the manuscripts.

Examples: arəδa- "side" (cf. OInd. ardha-); arəθa- "matter" (cf. OInd. artha-); kərəpəmca "and the form"; kərəta- "done" (cf. OInd. kṛta-); varəsa- "hair," parəna- "feather" (cf. OInd. parṇa-); vadarə "weapon for striking" (cf. OInd. vadhaḥ); aipiduuąnara- (presumably for °duṇra-) "*clouded" (cf. dunman- "cloud")

Note also that the sequence ərə is (1) frequently reduced to rə after t: **ātərəm > ātrəm* (ātarəm), sometimes also after g; (2) replaced by ar (arə) before š: bərəzō but barš, *ātrəm < ātərəm, but ātarš.

In the mss. there is much vacillation between ərə and arə.

Vowel changes. Dissimilation of iị̯ > əi > ai/aē.

In the following cases the vowel preceding an epenthetic i was another i, and the original i was dissimilated to form the diphthong ai (ii > iị̯ > əị̯ > aị̯): *bərəzaiδiš < *bərəzi^iδīš < bṛzi-dīš [cf. OAv. hušəiti- < huši^iti-].

A similar development is probably the origin of the apparent anaptyxis in the group ụị̯ (see above) > ụiị̯ > ụəị̯ > ụaị̯ or ụoị̯ (uuōii), and in the prefix baē° instead of bi° in baē.ərəzu- "two fingers wide" < **baị̯-ṛzu- < bịị̯-ṛzu- (Skjærvø, 1997b).

Consonant changes. Assimilation

When two different consonants come into contact, they may become "similar" to one another or completely identical. This phenomenon is referred to as (partial and complete) assimilation. Some common instances of assimilation in (proto-)Avestan are:

1. Unvoiced + voiced > voiced + voiced, e.g.,
   s + d > zd: **mas-dā- > mazdā-*;
   š + d > žd: duš-dā- > duždā-;
   š + b > žb: niš-bərəta- > nižbərəta-;
   š + z > žz: duš-zaotar- > dužzaotar-.

2. Labial stop + labial stop > single labial stop:
   p + b > **b* > β: **ap-biiah* > aiβiiō.

3. Dental stop + s > single s:
   t + s > s: fšuiiant-s > fšuiiąs.

Consonant changes. Spirantization of stops

When p, t, and k come before a suffix or an ending beginning with ii, uu, r, n, or m they change to f, θ, x, e.g.: astuuaiti "bony," but gen. astuuaiθiiå, haṯ "being," but haiθiia- "real," āp- "water," but **āfuuaṇt-* (> āfəṇt-) "full of water," xšapa "night," but gen. xšafnō, vaokuš-, weak perfect stem of √vak, but strong stem vaoxᵛah-, aog- "to say," but past part. aoxta-.

This change did not take place before ii or uu when the p or t was preceded by an original long vowel, diphthong, or another consonant (not counting ərə), e.g., dāitiia- "lawful," mašiia- "mortal man" < **martiia-*, but mərəθiiu- "death" ("Siever's Law").

When p, k, and g come before an ending beginning with original **s* they change to f and x, and the **s* becomes š, e.g., **āp-s* > āfš "water" and **vāk-s* > vāxš "word, voice," **drug-s* > druxš "deception," **nap(t)-su* (stem napāt-) > nafšu "among the grandchildren."

Original velars are palatalized before e and i (i̭): aka- "evil," superl. acišta-, vāk- "voice," acc. sing. vācim, nom. plur. vācō (cf. Lat. vōcem, vōces), ugra- "strong," superl. aojišta- (see Lesson 11).

A final s or z is lost before the ending **-s*, which becomes -š: **spas-s* > spaš "spy," **br̥z-s* > barš "high."

NOUNS

Consonant declensions: stems

Stems ending in consonants take more "regular" endings than stems ending in vowels, but their declension is complicated by "ablaut." Case forms that have the full or lengthened grade are commonly referred to as "strong" cases, while case forms that have the zero grade are referred to as "weak" cases.

The strong cases are the sing. nom., voc., acc., and loc.; the dual nom.-acc.; and the plur. nom. The other cases are the weak cases.

In addition to the changes in vowel length, the final consonant of the stem also frequently changes. Pay particular attention to such changes in the paradigms below.

Consonant declensions: endings

Consonant stems can end in almost any consonant. In Indo-Iranian (and Indo-European) masc. and fem. consonant stems formed their nom. sing. (1) by lengthening the last vowel of the stem and dropping the final consonant, (2) by adding the ending -s (-š after f and x), or (3) by both lengthening the vowel and by adding the ending -s (-š).

As long final vowels were shortened in Young Avestan, type (1) forms its nominative by simply dropping the final consonant of the stem.

In types (2) and (3) the ending **-s*/**-š* combined with the final consonant of the stem to produce various "irregular" form.

The nom.-voc. plural ending is -ō (-as°) for both masc. and fem. nouns. Not infrequently, however, the thematic ending -a is found in the manuscripts. This is not necessarily a genuine linguistic feature of a late stage of Avestan; it can simply be errors on the part of the reciters or the scribes.

The nom.-voc. plural, like the nom. and acc. sing., typically requires the strong stem.

Neuter consonant stems take no endings in the nom.-acc. singular. The nom.-acc. plural is formed variously in the various declensions.

The nominative singular

The nom. sing. ending -š is found with masc. and fem. nouns and adjectives with stems ending in labials (p), velars (k, g), or sibilants (s, z < tś, dź).

Consonant stems ending in velar stops (k and g), labial stops (p), and sibilants (s, z)

These stems take the nom. sing. ending -š.

The vocative = the nominative.

Paradigms (văk-/văc- m. "word, speech," drug-/druj- f. "deception, the Lie," ăp- f. "water," spas- m. "spy," bərəz- "high"):

Sing.

| Nom.-voc. | vāxš | druxš | āfš | spaš | barš |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|

Plur.

| Nom.-voc. | vācō | drujō | āpō, apasca | spasō | bərəzō |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|

Notes:

Thematic forms such as nom. plur. vāca are also found.

Note the shortening of the long ā in āpō ~ apasca "and the waters."

r-stems. Relationship terms

Most words denoting family members are r-stems. Their declension differs slightly from that of the agent nouns (see Lesson 4) in -tar-.

The word nar- "man" is declined like the family terms. Examples (nar- "man," pitar- "father," mātar- "mother," duɣðar- "daughter," xᵛaŋhar- "sister," brātar- "brother"):

Sing.

| nom. | nā | pita | brāta | māta | duɣða | xᵛaŋha |

WORD FORMATION

Compounds. 1

Compounds as well as their individual elements can be all kinds of words (nouns, adjectives, adverbs, and other compounds). Some common types of Avestan adjectival compounds are the following:

noun + noun: barəsmō.zasta- "with barsom in the hand" < barəsman- + zasta-; adjective + noun: tiži.dāra- "with a sharp blade" < tiži° + dārā-;

noun + verbal noun or adjective: vərəθrajan- "obstruction-smashing" < vərəθra- "obstruction" + jan- "to smash," mazdaiiasna- "Mazdā-sacrificer, Mazdayasnian" < Mazdā- "Ahura Mazdā" + yasna- "sacrifice," paoiriiō.fradāta- "first brought forth," ahuraδāta- and mazdaδāta- "established (created) by Ahura Mazdā"; adverb or prefix + noun/adjective: huraoδa- "beautiful" < hu- + raoδa- "growth, stature"; huuaršta- "well done" < hu- + varšta-; aiβi.gāma- "year" < aiβi- prefix + gāman- "step, going," θri.zafan- "with three mouths" < θri- + zafar/n- "mouth," θri.kamarəδa- < θri- + kamarəδa- "head"; verb + noun: frādaṭ.gaēθa- "who furthers the world of living beings" < frāda- "to further" + gaēθā- "world of living beings."

Note that adjectival compounds whose second member is an ā-stem, themselves become regular a/ā-stem adjectives, e.g., m. frādaṭ.gaēθa-, f. frādaṭ.gaēθā- (< gaēθā- f.).

The final vowel of the first member usually becomes ō, whether it as an a-, ā-, or an-stem (see the examples above).

Some adjectives have special form ("Caland forms") when used as the first member of a compound, e.g., tiži° < tiɣra- "sharp."

Note that āp- takes the form afš- in compounds, which becomes aβž- before voiced consonant: afš.tacin- "with running water," aβəždāna- "containing water" (Y.42.2).

Similarly, bāzuš.aojah- "whose strenth is in the arms."

When a word with initial h- is used as second member of a compound, a prosthetic a is prefixed and h > ŋh: aṣ̌ō.aŋhan- "winning aša" < **aṣa-(ŋ)han-*; airime.aŋhad- (= armaēšad-) "sitting in peace."

PRONOUNS

Demonstrative, relative, and interrogative pronouns in the nominative

The pronouns and "pronominal" adjectives have several forms that differ from those of the nouns. In the nominative, note the neut. sing. in -t̰ (cf. Eng. that) and the masc. plur. in -e (cf. Eng. they).

|  | The demonstrative pronoun ima- "this" | | | The demonstrative pronoun auua- "that": | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
|  | masc. | fem. | neut. | masc. | fem. | neut. |
| Sing. | | | | | | |
| nom. | aēm | im | imat̰ | hāu | hāu | auuat̰ |
| Plur. | | | | | | |
| nom. | ime | imå, imås° | ima | auue | auuå | auua |

Note:

aēm < **aiam*, im (īm) < **iiam* (cf. OInd. ayam, iyam).

The pronoun huuō "he (you) there" (nom. sing. masc.) is only found in quotations from Old Avestan.

|  | The relative pronoun ya- "who, which" | | | The interrogative pronoun ka-/ci- "who, what?": | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
|  | masc. | fem. | neut. | masc. | fem. | neut. |
| Sing. | | | | | | |
| nom. | yō, yas° | yā | yat̰ | kō, kas°, ciš | kā | kat̰, cit̰ |
| Plur. | | | | | | |
| nom. | yōi, yaē° | yå | yā | kaiia, caiiō | - | (kā?) |

Notes:

The mss. frequently have (wrongly) yō for yōi.

The form kaiia "which?" is thematic (Y.19.18, etc., N.16, etc., FO.3c [Kling.119-112]).

The form caiiō is also used as neut. plur. (V.2.39, 8.12).

With negation the interrogative pronouns (especially those in c-) become indefinite pronouns: nōit̰ ciš "no one," mā ciš "(let) no one."

The forms kat̰, cit̰ correspond historically to Latin quod, quid.

Pronominal adjectives

Pronominal adjectives include vispa- "all" aniia- "other," nom. plur. masc. vispe and aniie. Note that vispa- has neut. vispəm, while aniia- has neut. aniiat̰.

The fem. plur. vīspaē° in vīspaēca paṇca gāθå (Y.71.6) is likely to be an error in this text, which contains several ungrammatical forms.

Pronominal adverbs

Note the following 'correlative' pronominal adverbs (cf. Lesson 17). Note also that, although the forms are symmetric, not all the meanings are:

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| iθa "in this way" | aθa "thus" | auuaθa "in that way" | yaθa "as, like" | kaθa "how?" |
| iθra "here" | aθra "here, there" | auuaθra "there" | yaθra "where" | kuθra "where?" |
| iδa "here" | aδa "then" | auuaδa "there" | | kaδa "when?" |
| | aṯ, āaṯ "then" | | yaṯ "when" | |
| | | | | kuua "where?" |

Notes:

The forms in a- are the "unmarked" ("neutral") ones, while those from i- and auua- point clearly to "here" and "there."

There is no YAv. **yaδa*, but Old Avestan has yadā "when?"

VERBS

The middle

Avestan verbs can be "active," that is, take the active endings we have already seen, or "middle," that is, take the "middle" endings.

Verbs can have active and/or middle forms. Some verbs have only active forms, some only middle forms, and some both active and middle forms. Only in the third group can the middle forms have a special function, different from that of the active forms.

Intransitive verbs usually have only active or only middle forms, while transitive verbs can take both active and middle forms. If they do, then most often the distinction between the two forms is "active ~ passive"; more rarely the middle denotes that the action is being performed in the interest of the subject. Occasionally the middle forms of a verb have the same meaning as the active ones, especially in the case of verbs of motion. Examples:

1. Middle verbs without active counterpart: maniia- "to think," yaza- "to sacrifice," etc.
2. Passive: aza- act. "leads, takes (away)" ~ mid. "is led, taken away," vaēna- act. "sees" ~ mid. "is seen," bara- act. "carries" ~ mid. "rides" (lit. is carried), etc.
3. Action performed in the interest of the subject: paca- act. "he cooks" ~ mid. "he cooks for himself," varǝδaiia- act. "increases (something else), enlarges" ~ mid. "increases (by oneself), becomes larger," etc.
4. Same meaning as active: fracara- act., mid. "go forth."
5. Differentation of meaning: hišta- act. "to stand = take up a position," mid. "to stand = to be standing"; daδā-/daδ- act. "to establish, give," mid. "to take (on), receive."

The imperfect-injunctive middle

Yimō hē vīsata pātaca θrātaca "Yima was ready to be guardian and protector for him."
Kərəsāniš yō raosta yō dauuata "Kərəsāniš who wept and chattered" (Y.9.24)

2. Middle with passive function

kasciṱ iδa nōiṱ vaēnata "Nobody was seen here."
yaθa Miθrō hubərətō barata "When Miθra was well treated." (after Yt.10.112)
vərəziiatąmca iδa vohu vāstriia* "And let good pastures be produced here!" (Vr.15.1 < Y.29.1)
   Note: Neuter plural subjects may take a singular verb.

3. Reflexive, etc., middle

mazdaiiasna barəsmō.zasta hištəṇta "The Mazdayasnians stood with barsom in the hands." (Yt.5.98)
āpō hištəṇta fraδātå afraoxšaiieiṇtiš "The waters stood brought forth (created) without swelling forth."
   (after Yt.13.55)
θrisatō.zəma haṇjasəṇta "300 winters came together (passed)." (V.2.8)

āaṱ yaṱ tum Zaraθuštra varəsåsca hąm.rāzaiiaŋha varəsåsca pairi.brinaŋha sruuaēca upa.θβərəsaŋha
   "Then when you, O Zarathustra, combed your hair, trimmed your hair, and cut your nails..." (V.17.4) Note: varəså is the acc. plur. f. of varəsa- n. "hair" and sruuaē° the nom.-acc. plur. of srū- "nail"; in these nouns the acc. plur. is the same form as the nom.

EXERCISE 6

1a. Write in Avestan script the nom. sing. and plur. (where appropriate) forms of the following nouns and adjectives:

  kərəp- srirā-, mašiia- ašaŋhāk-, ərəzu- zaotar-, spas- pauru-; Haraitī- bərəz-.

1b. Translate into Avestan and write in transcription and Avestan script the nom. sing. and plur. forms of the following nouns, adjectives, and pronouns:

  this/that brave son, this/that well-shaped daughter, this/that Ahurian house.

2. Write in Avestan script the imperfect-injunctive middle and imperative middle forms of bara- "to carry," upa.θβərəsa- "to cut."

3. Analyze and translate into English:

  V.19.45
  aduuarənta adāuṇta daēuua druuaṇtō duždåŋhō uruθənta adāuṇta daēuua druuaṇtō duždåŋhō aγąm daoθrīm dāuṇta daēuua druuaṇtō duždåŋhō

4. Transcribe and translate into English:

5. Transcribe Yt.1.13 from mss. F1 and E1 (pdf.), containing Ahura Mazdā's names.

6. Translate into Avestan:

  1.  Let the priest say forth the Yaθā ahū vairiiō to us.
  2.  O tawny haoma, be my protector!

3. Thus said Ahura Mazdā: Let this earth increase! Let these plants grow!
4. Then that earth increased; it went apart. All went forth, both men and animals, large and small.
5. Then a son was born to him, splendid Yima with good herds. Then a girl was born to him, good, pretty, (and) beautiful.
6. A voice was heard, saying: That is my dear daēnā, the Mazdayasnian, Zarathustrian (one).
7. That Lie was lost. Those demons howled. Those villains ran away.
8. Who is this young woman who came running?
9. Who is that villain who ran away?
10. Which are those acts which are badly done?

LESSON 7

PHONOLOGY

Modifications of vowels: a + final nasal

Complete table of sound changes involving a plus final nasal. Note that the second column below corresponds—in the main—to the Old Avestan stage (forms attested in OAv. have no *):

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| *-am | > | -əm | | | |
| *-an | > | -ən | | | |

With preceding ii:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| *-iiam | > | -iiəm | > | *-iim | > | -im |
| *-aiiam | > | -aiiəm | > | *-aiim | > | -aēm |
| *-āiiam | > | *-āiiəm | > | *-āiim | > | -āim |
| *-iian | > | -iiən | > | *-iin | > | -in |
| *-aiian | > | -aiiən | > | *-aiin | > | -aēn |
| *-āiian | > | -āiiən | > | *-āiin | > | -āin |

With preceding c, j:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| *-cam | > | *-cəm | | > | -cim |
| *-jam | > | *-jəm | | > | -jim |
| *-can | > | -cən | | > | -cin |
| *-jan | > | -jən | | > | -jin |

With preceding uu:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| *-uuam | > | *-uuəm | > | *-uum | > | -um |
| *-auuam | > | -auuəm | > | *-auum | > | -aom (-āum) |
| *-āuuam | > | *-āuuəm | > | *-āuum | > | -āum |
| *-uuan | > | *-uuən | > | *-uun | > | -un, -um |
| *-auuan | > | *-auuən | > | *-auun | > | -aon, -aom (-āun, -āum) |
| *-āuuan | > | *-āuuən | > | *-āuun | > | -āun, -āum |

Notes:
   OAv. usually has -iiə̄m, etc.
   In -uuan, in a few words, the -n is assimilated to the preceding -uu- and becomes -m.
   The alternate forms of -aom and -aon with long -ā- (-āun, -āum) are frequently found in the manuscripts. (see de Vaan).
   Note the following irregular acc. forms: Vaēm < Vaiium, raēm < raēuuam "*brilliant," ōiium, ōim, aoim < aēuuam "one."

Final original *-*ŋ*h* (< *-ns) affects a preceding -a- somewhat differently from final -m or -n.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| *-aŋh | > | *-əŋh | > | *-ə̄ | > | -ə̄, -ə̄s°, -ą, -ąs° |
| *-iiaŋh | > | *-iiəŋh | > | *-iiə̄ | > | -iią |
| *-aiiaŋh | > | *-aiiəŋh | > | *-aiiə̄ | > | -aiią |
| *-uuaŋh | > | *-uuəŋh | > | *-uuə̄ | > | -ū |
| *-auuaŋh | > | *-auuəŋh | > | *-auuə̄ | > | -auuū, -aū |

Notes:
   OAv. usually has -ə̄ṇg from -əŋh.
   These endings are found in the plur. acc. of masc. a-stems and in the sing. gen. of some neut. n-stems.

The final form -ə̄ is found after most consonants, e.g., yazatə̄. The final form -ą is regularly found after -ii, -m-, -β-, and occasionally elsewhere, e.g., mašiią, aēsmą "pieces of fire wood," garəβą "wombs."

The long final -ə̄ and -ū in such words appear to be the only regular exceptions to the rule that final vowels are short in polysyllables.

Students should make a special effort to learn, remember, and identify these forms! Most importantly, they should be trained to recognize the ambiguity of the endings -im and -um and not jump to the conclusion that they are from i- and *u-*stems.

NOUNS

The accusative

The accusative is not distinguished from the nominative in neuter nouns, adjectives, and pronouns and in the plural of feminine ā- and *ī-*stems.

Consonant stems with ablaut take the long grade in the sing. but the full or zero grade in the plur.

The endings of the accusative are:

|  | a-decl. |  |  | i-decl. |  | ā-decl. | ī-decl. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
|  | m. |  | n. | m. f. | n. | m., f. | f. |
| Sing. |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| acc. | -əm |  | -əm | -im | -i | -ąm | -im |
| Plur. |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| acc. | -ə̄, -ə̄s°, -ą, -ąs° |  | -a | -iš | -i | -å, -ås° | -iš |

|  | u-decl. |  | ū-decl. | cons.-decl. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
|  | m. f. | n. | f. | m., f. |
| Sing. |  |  |  |  |
| acc. | -um | -u | -um | -əm |
| Plur. |  |  |  |  |
| acc. | -uš | -u | -uuō | -ō, -as° |

Note again that the manuscripts are not consistent in writing short or long -im/-um or -īm/-ūm. In the grammatical sections of this manual, these endings will always be normalized with short vowels.

The acc. plur. ending is from \-aŋh* (< Indo-Iran. \-ans*, cf. OInd. -āṁ), which developed differently in different contexts to produce the variants listed above.

Vowel stems

Paradigms of a-stems (masc.: yazata- "divine being, god," mašiia-, gaiia- "life," daēuua-, grauua- "(chariot) handle," juua- "alive"; neut.: xšaθra- "(royal) command," vāstriia- "pasture, grass," θrišuua- "a third"):

Consonant stems

Paradigms of stems in velar an labial stops and sibilants (vǎk-/vǎc- masc. "voice," drug-/druj- fem. "the Lie," āp-/ap- fem. "water," spas- "spy," bərəz- "high"):

Sing.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | vāxš | druxš | āfš | spaš | barš |
| acc. | vācim | drujim | āpəm, apəmca | spasəm | bərəzəm |

Plur.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | vācō | drujō, drujas° | āpō, apas° | spasō | bərəzō |
| acc. | vacō, vacas° | drujō, drujas° | apō, apas°, (āpō) | spasō | bərəzō |

Notes:

The long ā in āpəm is shortened in apəmca as in the nom. plur. apasca. The nom. plur. āpō is sometimes found in the manuscripts instead of the acc. apō. — kərəp- f. "body" has the acc. sing. kəhrpəm.

Paradigms of r-stems (masc.: ātar- "fire," star- "star," nar- "man," pitar- "father"; fem. mātar- "mother"):

r-stems

masc., fem.

| | ātar- | dātar- | star- | nar- | pitar- | mātar- |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | | | | | | |
| nom. | ātarš | dāta | - | nā | pita | māta |
| acc. | ātrəm (ātarəm) | dātārəm | stārəm | narəm | pitarəm | mātarəm |
| Plur. | | | | | | |
| nom. | ātarō | dātārō | stārō | narō | pitarō | mātarō |
| acc. | - | | strə̄š | nərą̄š, nərə̄š | fəδrō | mātərą̄š |

Notes:

In the acc. plur. the original ending -rnš must first have become *-ərə̃̄š (with a nasalized vocalic r̥̄ [cf. OInd. nr̥̄́m̐]), which was then realized either as -ərą̄š or -ərə̄š, with the usual substitution of ą or ə̄ for ə̃/ə̃̄. The ending -ərə̄š in time came to be felt as incorrect and the common diphthong ə̄u was introduced to produce the form -ərə̄uš (strə̄uš, nərə̄uš) frequently found in the manuscripts (Hoffmann, 1989, p. 73 n. 126).

ātar- was probably originally a neuter r-stem, with nom.-acc. sing. **ātr̥*. When it became a masc. noun, the endings were added onto this form: **ātr̥-š*, **ātr-am*, which produced the nom. ātarš and acc. ātrəm.

m-stems

The m-stems zam- f. "earth" and ziiam- m. "winter" are irregular:

Sing.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| nom. | zå | ziiå |
| acc. | ząm | ziiąm |

Plur.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| nom.-acc. | zəmō | zimō |

Notes: zəmō and zimō are often confused in the manuscripts.

From now on regular sandhi forms will not always be included in the paradigms.

Neuter nouns

The most common neuter consonant stems are the an-, ar-, and ah-stems, which form the nom.-acc. sing. in -a, -arə, and -ō (-as°), respectively, and the plur. by lengthening the final syllable of the stem: -ąn, -ārə, -å (-ås°). Neuter in-stems have nom.-acc. sing. in -i. See Lesson 8.

Other neuter consonant stems appear to take the ending -i, e.g., ast- "bone," nom.-acc. plur. asti.

h-stems. 1

The h-stems includes a relatively large number of common neuter nouns, but few masculine nouns and adjectives. Most of the masculine forms are in compounds with neuter h-stems. In addition, comparatives in -iiah- and active perfect participles in -uuah belong to the h-stems (see later). Note hudāh- = huda'ah- "giving good gifts." The endings of these h-stems are:

|  | m. | n. |
|---|---|---|
| Sing. | | |
| nom. | -å | -ō |
| voc. | -ō | |
| acc. | -aŋhəm | |
| Plur. | | |
| nom.-acc. | -aŋhō | -å |

Notes:

The vocative cannot receive enclitic -ca, so there are no sandhi forms of the vocative.

Remember that regular sandhi forms are no longer usually included.

Paradigms (naire.manah- "valorous," hudāh-/huδāh- [< hu-da'ah-] "giving good gifts," manah- neut. "mind"):

|  | masc. | | neut. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | | | |
| nom. | naire.manå | hudå/huδå | manō |
| voc. | naire.manō | | |
| acc. | naire.manaŋhəm | hudåŋəm/huδåŋhəm | manō |
| Plur. | | | |
| nom.-acc. | naire.manaŋhō | hudåŋhō/huδåŋhō | manå |

Notes:

The proto-Iranian endings were -āh > -å (-ās°), -ah > -ō (-as°), and -aham > -aŋhəm.

Irregular forms include nom. Haosrauua from Haosrauuah-, name of a legendary hero.

Remember that neuter nouns have no vocative.

PRONOUNS

The accusative

The personal pronouns have some "alternative" forms called "enclitic." These forms cannot stand first in a sentence, but usually follow the first word of the sentence, e.g., āaṯ mē mraoṯ "then he said to me."

Personal pronouns, 1st and 2nd persons:

| Sing. | | | Plur. | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | azəm | tum | vaēm | yužəm |
| acc. | mąm | θβąm | - | - |
| encl. | mā | θβā | nō | vō |

December 15, 2018

Personal pronouns 3rd person:

|  | masc. | fem. | neut. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  |  |  |
| nom. | hō | hā | taṯ |
| acc. | təm | tąm | = |
| encl. | dim | him |  |
| Plur. |  |  |  |
| nom. | tē | tå | tā |
| acc. | tą, tąs° | tå, tås° | = |
| encl. | diš | hiš | ī |

Note:

The form dim is used as fem. in Yt.5.90, but this is probably an example of the generalization of dim, which eventually seems to be no more than a particle in late texts.

There are other examples of confusion of masc. and fem. in strongly formulaic sections of the *yašt*s to female deities, as well, such as təm for tąm.

The "proximal" demonstrative pronoun ima- "this"        The "distal" demonstrative pronoun auua- "that":

|  | masc. | fem. | neut. |  | masc. | fem. | neut. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| nom. | aēm | im | imaṯ |  | hāu | hāu | auuaṯ |
| acc. | iməm | imąm | = |  | aom | auuąm | = |
| Plur. |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| nom. | ime | imå | ima |  | auue | auuå | auua |
| acc. | imą | = | = |  | auuū, aū | = | = |

The relative pronoun ya- "who, which"        The interr. pronoun ka-/ci- "who, what?":

|  | masc. | fem. | neut. |  | masc. | fem. | neut. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| nom. | yō | yā | yaṯ, hiiaṯ |  | kō, ciš | kā | kaṯ, ciṯ |
| acc. | yim | yąm | = |  | kəm, cim | kąm | = |
| Plur. |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| nom. | yōi | yå | yā |  | kaiia, caiiō | - | - |
| acc. | yą, yąs° | = | = |  | - | - | - |

There is another demonstrative pronoun meaning "this," namely aēta-, which is declined as the other two, except in the nominative:

|  | masc. | fem. | neut. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  |  |  |
| nom. | aēšō | aēša | aētaṯ |
| acc. | aētəm | aētąm | = |
| Plur. |  |  |  |
| nom. | aēte, aētaē° | aētå | aēta |
| acc. | aētə̄ | = | = |

Notes:

The adverb aētaδa "here" is made from this stem.

A masc. sing. aēša appears to occur in V.5.26 aēša yō ratuš "this, the model" and aēša yō apərənāiiukō "this, the child" in V.15.16, 18. We must note, however, that the expression aēša druxš "this Lie" is common in V.5, aēša kaine "this girl" is common in V.15, and aēša druxš and aēša nasuš "this corpse demon" throughout the Videvdad, and that the regular aēšō is frequently used in the Videvdad. All this suggests that the use of aēša for aēšō may be a mistake caused by faulty recitation.

In V.15.4, we have nom. plur. neut. aēte with asti and x^varəθa, which is probably also due to faulty recitation.

ADVERBS

The nom.-acc. neuter sing. of an adjective can be used as an adverb, examples: paoirim "first(ly)," darəγəm "long, for a long time," haiθim "truly," pourum "in front," pouru "plentifully."

Note also pronominal forms: yaṱ, hiiaṱ "that, when," kaṱ "when?" The form cim "why?" is originally a masc. acc. sing.

VERBS

Imperfect-injunctive active. 2

Among the the various present classes, verbs of the form CVCa- (consonant + vowel [mostly a] + consonant + thematic vowel a) are very common, e.g., bara- "to carry," bauua- "become," and saoca- "to burn (by oneself)."

Another group contains verbs ending in -iia-, which are in turn divided into classes of verbs of the form CVCiia- and CVCaiia-. These may be referred to as iia-stems and aiia-stems. Both the iia-stems and aiia-stems are in turn divided into three groups, iia-stems into "passive," "denominative," and "other" verbs, and aiia-stems into "causative," "denominative," and "other" verbs.

Passive and causative verbs can be paired with other verbs, from which they appear to be derived and denominative verbs with nouns or adjectives from which they appear to be derived, while "other" iia-stems and aiia-stems do not usually have such pair mates and can be called "underived."

Note: It is wrong to call all iia-stems "passive" or all aiia-stems "causative."

Examples:

<table>
<tr><td></td><td></td><td>"Underived":</td></tr>
<tr><td></td><td></td><td>jaiδiia- "to implore"</td></tr>
<tr><td></td><td></td><td>baṇdaiia- "to bind"</td></tr>
<tr><td></td><td></td><td>Passive:</td></tr>
<tr><td>jan- "to smash, kill"</td><td>~</td><td>janiia- "to be killed"</td></tr>
<tr><td>bara- "to carry"</td><td>~</td><td>bairiia- "to be carried"</td></tr>
<tr><td></td><td></td><td>Causative:</td></tr>
<tr><td>srao-/sru- "to hear"</td><td>~</td><td>srāuuaiia- "to recite, sing"</td></tr>
<tr><td>taca- "to run, flow"</td><td>~</td><td>tācaiia- "to make run, flow"</td></tr>
<tr><td></td><td></td><td>Denominative:</td></tr>
<tr><td>aēnah- "sin, transgression"</td><td>~</td><td>aēnaṅha- "to sin, transgress (against)"</td></tr>
<tr><td>nəmah- "reverence"</td><td>~</td><td>nəmaẋiia- "to bow to, do reverence to"</td></tr>
<tr><td>arəza- "a battle"</td><td>~</td><td>arəzaiia- "to battle"</td></tr>
</table>

The iia-stems and aiia-stems, as well as stems in -ca-, are subjected to all the kinds of phonetic modification discussed above, e.g. (jaiδiia- "implore (for)," uxšiia- "grow" (intrans.); pazdaiia- "*pursue," srāuuaiia- "recite"; fraorəca- "*catch up with"):

|        | Active              |                         | Middle             |                  |
|--------|---------------------|-------------------------|--------------------|------------------|
| Sing.  |                     |                         |                    |                  |
| 1      | -iiam > -im       | **jaiðim*              |                    |                  |
|        | -aiiam > -aēm     | srāuuaēm              |                    |                  |
| Plur   |                     |                         |                    |                  |
| 3      | -iian > -iiən > -in | jaiðiiən, uxšin     | -iiaṇta          | jaiðiiaṇta     |
|        | -aiian > -aiiən, -aēn | srāuuaiiən, srāuuaēn | -aiiaṇta      | pazdaiiaṇta    |
|        | -can > -cin       | tacin                 | -caṇta > -ciṇta  | fraorəciṇta    |

In the 3 plur. of (a)iia-stems, the -a- was usually reintroduced, e.g., jaiðiiaṇta "they requested," instead of **jaiðiṇta*; fraorəciṇta (Yt.17.19) seems to be the only attested "regular" form.

The uua-stems undergo similar modifications (bauua-, dauua- "chatter," stao- "praise"):

|        | Active              |                  | Middle              |            |
|--------|---------------------|------------------|---------------------|------------|
| Sing. 1 | -auuam > -aom    | baom, staom    |                     |            |
| Plur. 3 | -auuan > -aon    | baon           | -auuaṇta > -āuṇta | adāuṇta  |

The form adāuṇta seems to be the only example of the 3 plur. mid. of uua-stems.

SYNTAX

Uses of the accusative

  1. The main use of the accusative is to indicate the direct object and the predicate of the direct object.
  2. Two accusatives are found with verbs of asking (sb. for sth.) and taking (sth.) away (from sb.).
  3. The accusative is used to express measure, answering the questions "for how long, how far?"
  4. The accusative is used with several prepositions: aṇtarə "between," auui (aoi) "to, upon," ā "to," paiti in(to), on(to), upon*." upa* "in, at," upairi "on, on top of."
  5. Appositions to and comparisons with nouns in the accusative are themselves in the accusative.

Examples:

1a. Direct object

  Yimō haoməm xᵛaraṯ "Yima ate (drank) the haoma"
  Arəduuīm Surąm Anāhitąm upa.zbaiiaṯ Pāuruuō yō vifrō nauuāzō* "Pāuruua, the wise ship's captain called upon Arəduuī Sura Anāhita."
  *Θraētaonō ažim dahākəm janaṯ θri.zafanəm θri.kamarəðəm "Θraētaona slew the giant dragon, the one with three mouths, three heads."
  āaṯ Yimō imąm ząm vī.š̌āuuaiiaṯ "Then Yima made this earth spread out." (V.2.11)
  āaṯ mā nōiṯ mašiiāka yazəṇta "Then people did not sacrifice to me." (after Yt.10.54)
  ā dim pərəsaṯ Zaraθuštrō kō narə ahi "Then Zarathustra asked him (Haoma): Who, O man, are you?" (Y.9.1)
  *hō aēnaŋhəiti nō manō hō aēnaŋhəiti nō kəhrpəm (Y.9.29) "He makes our mind sinful; he makes our body sinful."
  vaēm drujəm niš.nāšāma vaēm hīm janāma "We destroyed the Lie (and sent her back) down; we smashed her." (after Y.61.5)
  yaθa hiš fra.daθaṯ Mazdå "As Mazdā brought them forth (created them)." (Y.55.30)

December 15, 2018

Note the final position of the enclitic pronoun in:

    *mā ciš pauruuō būiδiiaēta nō "May no one notice [optative] us first." (Y.9.21)

1b. Direct object + predicate of the direct object auruuaṇtəm θβā dāmiδātəm baγō tašaṯ "The god fashioned you (as) the fleet one, established by the dāmi" (after Y.10.10)

    āaṯ dim daδąm auuåṇtəm ... yaθa mąmciṯ yim Ahurəm Mazdąm "Then I made him just as great as myself, Ahura Mazdā." (Yt.10.1)

2. Double accusative

    hō mąm yānəm yāsaṯ azəm təm ištim jaiδim "He asked me for a boon, I asked him for a wish (= to grant my wish)."

    yō mąm taṯ draonō apa.yāsaṯca trəfiiaṯca "Who asked away from me and stole (from me) that darun." (after Y.11.5)

3. Accusative of measure

    *yaṯ upaŋhacaṯ Yiməm xšaētəm huuąθβəm darəγəmciṯ aipi zruuānəm "... which followed splendid Yima with good herds for a long time after, indeed." (after Yt.19.31)

4. Accusative with prepositions and postpositions

    ā taṯ haŋjamanəm paiti.jasaṯ yō Yimō xšaētō huuąθβō "To that gathering came he, splendid Yima with good herds." (V.2.21)

    *taṯ vispəm nəmax́iiāma auui imąm tanum "We humbly asked for all that (to come) upon this body." (cf. V.20.5) *fraoraṯ fraxšni auui manō "with foreknowing thought turned toward (the reward?)."

    **ōimciṯ *auui vācim gāθanąm asrutəm* "with even a single word of the Gāθās not yet heard." (N.85)

        Note: gāθanąm is gen. plur. of gāθā-.

    *Ašiš vaŋᵛhi rāmaiiaṯ iδa upa imaṯ nmānəm yaṯ āhuiri "Good Aši dwelt here in this house which belongs to Ahura (Mazdā)." (Y.10.1)

    upa rapiθβąm "at noon"

    təm aoi ṯbaēšå paitiiaṇtu yō ī daδat* "Let the hostilities return upon him who made them." (after Y.65.8)

    *ahunəmca vairīm fraēšiiāmahī aṇtarəca ząm aṇtarəca asmanəm "And we send forth the Ahuna Vairiia between both heaven and earth." (Y.61.1)

5. Appositions and comparisons
  There are several examples of appositions above. Comparison:

    āaṯ dim daδąm auuåṇtəm ... yaθa mąmciṯ yim Ahurəm Mazdąm "Then I made him just as great as myself, Ahura Mazdā." (Yt.10.1)

Feminine plural of neuter a-stems

In Young Avestan neuter a-stems frequently have fem. forms in the plural, e.g., sing. nmānəm, plur. nmānå. Adjectives agree with the fem. plur. form, e.g.:

aētå xᵛarəθå xᵛaratu aētå vastrå vaŋhatu "he shall eat these foods, he shall put on these clothes!" (V.3.19)

Note also lexical doublets such as zaoθra- n. and zaoθrā- "libation."

The present injunctive

There are some uses of the injunctive other than as past tense. The principal one is as negated imperative after mā "do not." There are only a couple of YAv. examples:

mā dim pərəsō yim pərəsahi "Do not keep asking him whom you ask!" (H.2.17)
mā ciš baraṯ aēuuō yaṯ iristəm "Let no one carry alone what (is) dead (matter)!" (V.3.14)

There also appear to be a few examples of the original "timeless" meaning of the injunctive:

yaiti catica spitama zaraθuštra dahmō ašauua hauruuū ratuš daθaṯ "However many times, O Spitama Zarathustra, the Orderly qualified (priest) establishes all the models ..." (P.31)

EXERCISES 7

1. Write in Avestan script the acc. sing. and plur. (where appropriate) forms of the following nouns and adjectives:

mazišta- yazata-, vaŋhu- pasu-, vaŋᵛhī- upastā-, ya- hauua- zaṇtu-, vohu- zairi.gaona- vāstriia-, yā- hauuā- daēnā-, ima- xᵛarəθa-, juua- mašiia-, kaniiā- huraoδā-, gauua- pərəna-, aka- daēuua-, haiθiia-vak-, haoma- zairi-, vohu- manah-; naire.manah- Kərəsāspa-.

2. Write in Avestan script the imperfect-injunctive forms of the following verbs:

Active: frapaiia-, zauua-, juua-; middle: yaza-, us.zaiia-, dauua-; act./mid. bara-.

3. Identify the forms below (gender, stem, meaning) and write the corresponding nom. sing. or 3 pers. sing. forms of the nouns-adjectives and verbs, respectively:

haoməm zairim, xšaθrəm vairim, maiδim jaiδim, ašim vaŋᵛhim, pasum jum, sraošəm ašim, ainim mašim, zarənaēnəm, zarənaēinim, drum, akəm mairim, haom gaom, baom, gaom zaom, tanum druuąm, aspəm drum.

4. Analyze and translate into English.

7. Translate into Avestan and write in Avestan script:

   1. The charioteers asked Miθra with wide grazing grounds for fleetness for their horses.
   2. Miθra granted (gave) that.
   3. Then they battled for three days and three nights.
   4. Then a long time after they overcame the enemies, then they conquered the enemies.
   5. Pāuruua the smart ship's captain sacrificed to Arəduuī Sura Anāhita when the brave Θraētaona tossed him into the air.
   6. He flew for three days and three nights.
   7. He did not turn down toward the earth created by Ahura Mazdā and his own house.
   8. Let no one ask Arəduuī Sura Anāhita for a boon!
   9. Let not illness come to that meeting, nor destruction!
   10. Let that Xwarnah follow splendid Yima with good herds for all time after!

LESSON 8

PHONOLOGY

Modifications of vowels: palatalization of *a

The rules given in the preceding lessons describe how a is affected when between preceding ii, c, and j and following consonant (other than nasals) plus the vowels i and e. These rules most importantly affect the 2nd and 3rd sing. primary verbal endings—both active and middle—and the thematic masc. sing. gen. ending, as we shall see in the next lessons.

When the a was also followed by a nasal, the rules given in Lesson 4 vie with those given in Lesson 5, and we get alternate forms, following one or the other set of rules. This situation obtains in the 3rd plur. endings. The original forms were probably those following the Lesson 5 rules (-iiən, -iiəm > -in, -im, etc.), which were replaced by Lesson 4 rules (**yazi* > yezi, etc.), which apply to the 3rd sing. Briefly, we may say that the 3rd plur. forms were frequently changed in analogy with the 3rd sing. forms:

| -caṇti | > | **-cəṇti* | | | > | -ciṇti | | |
| -iiaṇti | > | **-iiəṇti* | > | **-iiṇti* | > | -iṇti | ⇒ | -iieiṇti (cf. -iieiti) |
| -iiaṇte | > | **-iiəṇte* | > | **-iiṇte* | > | -iṇte | ⇒ | -iieṇte (cf. -iiete) |

In practice, the endings -iṇti and -iṇte are found after the palatal consonants c and **j* (which became ž before i) and after sibilants: s, z, as well as θ (taciṇti "they flow," mərəncinṭi "they destroy," haciṇte "they follow," snaēžiṇti "they snow," družiṇti "they deceive," uruuisiṇti "they turn," fraoirisiṇte "they turn forward," yaziṇte "they are sacrificed to," vərəziṇti "they produce," para.iriθiṇti "they pass on").

All other verbs have the endings -iieiṇti, -iieṇte.

Note that the replacement of the uncontracted endings in the iia-stems restored the typical stem formative -ii-

In aiia-stems contracted forms are not used in the 3rd plural, presumably to avoid diphthongs followed by two consonants (**-aēṇti*, **-aēṇte*).

Consonant changes: alternation *ŋhu ~ ŋᵛh

The group ŋᵛh can not be followed by the vowels ə and u. Since ŋᵛh is from huu, whenever the group is followed by -ən or -əm, the standard rules operate, and -huuəm and -huuən become -hum and -hun and further -ŋhum and -ŋhun [for aṇt > əṇt, see Lesson 5]. These rules create paradigmatic alternations such as paṇtaŋᵛhō ~ paṇtaŋhum "a fifth," xᵛarənaŋhuṇtəm ~ gen. xᵛarənaŋᵛhatō "fortunate, munificent."

For xᵛarənaŋhuṇtəm (and similar forms), the manuscripts often offer the "regular" form xᵛarənaŋᵛhaṇtəm (xᵛarənaŋuhaṇtəm, xᵛarənaŋhuuaṇtəm, xᵛarənaŋhaṇtəm, xᵛarənaŋhəṇtəm).

Summary:

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| -ahu̯at- | > | -aŋhu̯at- | | | > | -aŋᵛhat- |
| -ahu̯aN- | > | -aŋhu̯əN- | > | -aŋhuN- | ⇒ | -aŋᵛhaN- |

A similar alternation occurs when ŋh is followed by u̯i/u̯i̯, when we have ŋᵛhi alternating with ŋhuii (see Lesson 11, genitive of ī-stems).

NOUNS

Vocalic declensions: diphthong-stems

There are a few i- and u-stems that have forms with full or long grade of the suffixes: -i-/-aē-/-āi-, and -u-/-ao-/-āuu-. Here these will be called diphthong-stems or aē- and ao-stems (in grammars, usually called i- and u-stems).

The aē-stems include the polysyllabic haxaē- "companion, friend," kauuaē- "kauui" (mythical poet-priests, some of them the competitors of Zarathustra), xštauuaē-, a legendary people, Sāuuaŋhaē-, a calendrical ratu, and the geographical name Raɣaē-. The personal name Urupaē- probably belonged to this type, but is attested only twice: nom. Taxmō Urupa (Urupe) (Yt.15.11 [and AZ. 2]), acc. Taxməm Urupi/a/e (Yt.19.28).

The ao-stems include the monosyllabic stem gao- m., f. "cow, bull," and the polysyllabic masc. noun bāzao- "arm"; the masc. adjectives in °bāzao- and frādaṯ.fšao- "furthering cattle"; and the feminine nouns daŋhao- "land," nasao- "carcass, the corpse demon(ess)," and pərəsao- "rib." The monosyllabic gao- and the adjectives in °bāzao- have long grade in the nom. sing. They all have long or full grade in the nom.-acc. plur.:

Notes:

The long ā has been shortened in Sauuaŋ́he, as in Spitama < Spitāma-.
The nom. plur. kāuuaiias° is Old Avestan.
Note the lengthening of the vowel of the stem in some of the forms.

| acc. | gå     | bāzuš  |               | daŋ́huš   | -          | -  |

Notes:

The voc. sing. of gao- is found in gaohudå "O cow giving good gifts" and gaospəṇta "O life-giving cow" (P.33).

The sing. acc. daŋ́haom is the "normal" form (only in Yt.10). The form daẋiium is Old Avestan, but is also found in the YAv. formula nmānəmca visəmca zaṇtumca daẋiiumca "the home, the house, the tribe, and the land."

The forms nasāum and pərəsāum occur only in the Videvdad. There seems to be no system in the distribution of the forms nasāum and nasum.

The form frazdānaom, name of a river (Yt.5.108, FO.4g), can be from frazdānu- or frazdānauua-.

Consonant declensions: t-stems

The nominative singular of t-stems is the only morphological category that ends in -s, before which the t is lost (assimilated). The stem napāt- has the nom. from an h-stem napah-. No nom., acc. plur. forms are attested.

Paradigms (ābərət-, the priest who brings the water during the sacrifice, ašauua.xšnut- "who pleases the Orderly (ones) ," napāt- "grandson, offspring, scion"):

tāt-stems

The Avestan tāt-stems (cf. Latin veritas, acc. veritātem, etc.) are all feminine. The nom. sing. ends in -s. These stems are productive in Avestan and can be made from any adjective or participle.

Paradigms (hauruuatāt- "Wholeness," amərətatāt- "Undyingness," uparatāt- "superiority," uštatāt- "state of having one's wishes fulfilled," nərəfsąstāt- "waning," uxšiiąstāt- "waxing"):

ṇt-stems

Of stems ending in dental stops the nt-stems are the most important. They comprise adjectives in -aṇt, -uuaṇt-, -maṇt-, and the rare -iiaṇt-, as well as the active present participles in -aṇt-.

The suffixes -uuaṇt- and -maṇt- are in complementary distribution: -maṇt- is used after stems in u or ao and -uuaṇt- elsewhere.

The adjectives have strong stem -uuaṇt-/-maṇt-, weak stem -uuat-/-mat-. Participles of athematic verbs in the same way have strong stem -aṇt-, weak stem -at-, but those of thematic verbs have only one stem, in -aṇt-. See Lesson 16 for the declension of active present participles.

Not many voc. forms are attested.

| acc. | druuatō | | | | | |

Notes:

As in verbal forms (cf. bauuaiṇti), the a is preserved in the strong forms of uuant-stems.

The stem mazāṇt- is probably from **maza'aṇt-*.

The form auuåṇtəm seems to have been influenced by mazåṇtəm.

The only iiaṇt-stem is xᵛairiiaṇt- "tasty," which apparently has nom.-acc. sing. xᵛairiiąn (see Lesson 17).

huuaṇt-stems

Adjectives in -uuaṇt- made from h-stems combine -(ŋ)h + uua- > ŋᵛh. In the strong forms, -ŋᵛhaṇt- regularly became -ŋhuṇt-. The scribes frequently replaced this form with the more "regular" form -ŋᵛhaṇt-.

Not all forms are attested. Paradigms (xᵛarənaŋᵛhaṇt- "endowed with xᵛarənah," raocaŋᵛhaṇt- "full of light"):

n-stems

Stems ending in n mostly have an a before the n, so we can also call them an-stems. There are a few ān-stems and in-stems (but no "un-stems"). Two subgroups of an-stems are the uuan- and man-stems.

There is one iian-stem: the proper name Fraŋrasiian-.

The endings are as follows.

|---|---|---|---|---|
|  | m. | m. | n. | m. |

Notes:

The voc. sing. ending -um of uuan-stems shows final -n assimilated to the preceding labial uu.

The strong stem āθrauuan- may be < **aθaru̯an*-, hence the weak stem aθaurun- would be regular from a diachronic (historical) perspective; aθaurunąs° is a thematic form [cf. ārmaiti- vs. OInd. aramati-.].

Other thematic forms include ašauuana for ašauuanō, etc.

Paradigms of masc. and neut. man-stems (masc.: Airiiaman-, name of a god; asman- "sky, heaven; stone"; rasman- "battle line"; neut.: nāman- "name," barəsman- "barsom"):

h-stems. 2

The h-stems include some root nouns, active perfect participles in -uuah- (cf. Lesson 20), comparatives in -iiah- (see Lesson 14), and the feminine ušā-/ušah- "dawn."

The declension of the root nouns and the uuah-stems is as follows (māh- "moon, month," daδuuah- "the one who has put all in place, 'creator'"):

December 15, 2018

| acc. | = | **daδušō, *daθušō* [= gen. sing.] |

Note:

ušåŋhəm in upa ušåŋhəm "at/toward dawn."

The uuah-stems have zero grade in the acc. plur., with the alternation ŋh ~ š due to ruki (Lesson 5).

ADJECTIVES

The feminine of consonant-stems

The feminine of ņt-stem adjectives is formed by adding -ī- to the weak stem, e.g., bərəzaitī- "high, lofty," amauuaitī- "forceful," gaomaitī- "full of milk."

The feminine of n-stem adjectives is formed by adding -ī- to (usually) the weak stem, e.g., ašaonī- (ašāunī-); ašauuan- also has an irregular fem. form: ašāuuairī- (Y.58.4; OInd. r̥t́ávarī-).

The feminine of uuah-stems is in -ušī-.

VERBS

Present indicative active

The endings of the present indicative are called "primary." The primary endings of the singular and the 3rd plural differ from the secondary endings by an added -i. In the 3rd plural, the final -t, which was lost in the secondary ending (*-ən < *-əņt*) reappears.

Athematic verbs show alternation between strong and weak stems.

For iia- and aiia-stems, see Lesson 9.

Note:

Beside staomi, we find secondary stāumi in some manuscripts (de Vaan 2004).

The 1st plur. dadəmahi is an archaizing form for the regular daņmahi (cf. OAv. dəmāna- = YAv. nmāna- "house").

The 2nd plur. form dasta could in principle be "you give" < **dad-θa*, but it is probably imperative in all its occurrences.

The 2nd sing. kərənuši (Y.10.13) appears to be for **kərənaoši*, possibly influenced by the imperative kərənuiδi. There are also similar 3rd sing. forms, e.g., vərənuiti "covers (the female)" (V.18.35; perhaps to be read vərənuite, but cf. vərənuiδi Y.9.28). The form kərənuuaiņti is thematic.

Note:

   Note the forms taciṇti "they flow" and družiṇti "they deceive, lie" from taca- and druža- (< drujiia-).
   uua-stems have 3rd plur. -uuaiṇti (bauuaiṇti "they become," juuaiṇti "they live," zauuaiṇti "they curse").

The present indicative middle

   The principal difference between the endings of the present indicative middle and those of the active is the substitution of the final vowel -e for -i in the 2nd and 3rd sing. and 3rd plur. The 1st sing. has just the ending -e, an ending which is occasionally found in the 3rd sing. as well.
   For iia- and aiia-stems, see Lesson 9.

   On dazde < dad-dhai, see lesson 12.
   The form daδəmaide is strictly archaizing, but has YAv. δ instead of OAv. d (cf. dadəmahi, above).
   The only 2nd plur. form is fra.caraθβe (Yt.13.34) with -aθβe for the expected -aδβe.
   Note the forms haciṇte "they follow" and yaziṇte "they are sacrificed to" from haca- and yaziia-.

SYNTAX

Uses of the accusative

6. Inner objects

   Two accusatives are sometimes found, of which one is the direct object and the other an "inner" object implicit in the verb, which reamins when the verb is passive:

   yō Aēšməm vixrumaṇtəm xᵛarəm jaiṇti "(Sraoša), who deals Wrath a bleeding wound." (Y.57.10)

   hō mąm auuaθa vərəną nijaiṇti "He (Sraoša) deals me such blows (like ...)" (V.18.38)

7. Accusative of place

xrumim gāuš yā caŋraŋhāxš varaiθim paṇtąm azaite "The grazing cow is driven along the bloody road of captivity." (Yt.10.38)

8. Accusative with nouns and adjectives

Nouns and adjectives expressing actions frequently take accusative objects, rather than the objective genitive:

āaṱ ažim aiβi.vaniiå bauuaṱ "Then he conquered the dragon."

taxməm staotārəm vazəṇti āsu.aspəm dərəzi.raθəm vitārəm paskāṱ hamərəθəm jaṇtārəm parō dušmaniium
   "They convey the firm (steady) praiser with fast horses, on a solid chariot, the one who pursues the opponent from behind, the one who strikes the enemy from in front."
   (Yt.17.12)

Sraošō ašiiō driɣum θrātō.təmō hō vərəθraja drujim jaɣništō "Sraoša with the rewards, the greatest protector (of) the poor, he is the victorious, greatest smasher (of) the Lie." (Yt.11.3)
frauuašaiiō yå dāθriš āiiaptəm "The fravashis, givers (of) reward." (Yt.13.24)

9. Accusative for vocative

Note that when in English one might add a vocative to a 2nd-person personal pronoun, Avestan uses an apposition:

ā θβā ātrəm gāraiiemi "I sing you, the fire (O fire), a song of praise." (ĀtNy.2)

Uses of the present indicative

1. Ongoing actions and events, performative function

The present indicative is principally the tense used to describe current facts. It is also the "performative" tense when used in the 1st person (sing. and plur.), especially in ritual or prayer contexts, to describe the actions in the process of being performed by the speaker. On the whole it is used as in English.

āpō yānəm vō yāsāmi "O waters, I ask you for a boon."
ašaiia daδāmi imąm zaoθrąm "I place this libation in Orderly fashion." (Y.66.1) vasō.xšaθrō ahi Haoma ... ərəžuxδəm pərəsahi vācim "You are in command at will, O Haoma, ... you ask a word correctly spoken." (Y.9.25)
Apąm Napåsə tå āpō Spitama Zaraθuštra šōiθrō.baxtå vī.baxšaiti "Apąm Napāt distributes those waters, O Zarathustra Spitamid, distributed by settlements." (Yt.8.34)
vaēm mahi yōi saošiiaṇtō dax̑iiunąm "We are the Revitalizers of the lands."
      dax̑iiunąm is gen. plur. of daṅhao-.
āaṱ iδa dim mazištəm dadəmahi ahumca ratumca yim Ahurəm Mazdąm
   "Here then we establish him as the greatest Life and Model, namely Ahura Mazdā." (Vr.11.21)
ime həṇti ašahe ratauuō "These are the Models of Order."

2. Generic future actions and events aiiaoždiia pascaēta bauuaiṇti "After that they become ritually impure." (V.3.14)
aɣå iθiiejå vōiɣnå yeiṇti "Bad, dangers (and) scourges will come." (Y.57.14)
      See also on the subjunctive in Lesson 15.

3. Past function

The adjective pauruua- "former, earlier" sometimes transfers the action of the present ind. into the past:

*yōi pauruua Miθrəm družiṇti "Who betrayed Miθra before." (Yt.10.45)

On asti used as past tense, see Lesson 12 (Yt.19.10).

Uses of the present middle

See Lesson 6 on the three functions of the middle.

1. Only middle

*Aməṣ̌ā Spəṇtā frāiieze "I sacrifice (to) the Life-giving Immortals."
yō yazaite huuarə yaṯ aməṣ̌əm raēm auruuaṯ.aspəm yazaite Ahurəm Mazdąm yazaite Aməṣ̌ā Spəṇtā yazaite haom uruuānəm*
  "He who sacrifices to the sun, immortal, brilliant, with fleet horses, he sacrifices to Ahura Mazdā, he sacrifices to the Life-giving Immortals, he sacrifices (to) his own soul." (Yt.6.4)

aṣ̌əm vahištəm ātrəmca Ahurahe Mazdå puθrəm y. (= yazamaide)
  "We sacrifice to Best Order and the Fire, the son of Ahura Mazdā."
*pairika yā dužiiāiriia yąm maṣ̌iiāka auui dužuuacaŋhō huiiāiriiąm nąma aojaite
  "The sorceress 'of bad seasons,' whom men of bad speech call by name 'of good seasons'." (after Yt.8.51)

2. Middle = passive

... imąm tanum yā mē vaēnaite huraoδa "... this body, which is seen (= seems) to me beautiful."
  (Y.11.10)

3. Active and middle have different meanings

pasum hē paciṇti airiiå daṅhāuuō "The Aryan lands cook a sheep for him." (after Yt.8.58, et al.)
*təm upairi Kərəsāspō pitum pacata "Kərəsāspa cooked (his own) meal on it (the dragon)." (after Y.9.11)
vātō tąm arštim baraiti yąm aṅhaiti auui.miθriš "The wind carries away the spear that the one opposed to Miθra throws." (Yt.10.21)
yaṯ Taxmō Urupa barata Aŋrəm Maniium "... that Taxma Urupi rode the Evil Spirit." (Yt.19.29)
*humaiia aēta dāmąn daδəmaide *yā daθaṯ Ahurō Mazdå aṣ̌auua* "We determine as having good creative magic these creations which Orderly Ahura Mazdā established." (after Vr.12.4) hā yā dapta apa.nasiieiti yā nōiṯ āθrauuō.puθrim naēδa daste hupuθrim "She who deceived (by the forces of darkness) goes to perdition, who makes her own (= obtains) neither sons who become high priests, nor (any) good sons." (after Y.10.15)

EXERCISES 8

LESSON 9

PHONOLOGY

Palatalization of a: synoptic table

Table of the palatalization rules for the 2nd and 3rd singular primary verbal endings—both active and middle:

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| -iiati | > | -iieiti | **jaiδiiati* | > | jaiδiieiti | "he implores" |
| -aiiati | > | -aiieiti | **srāuuaiiati* | > | srāuuaiieiti | "he recites" |
| | | | | | | |
| -iiate | > | -iiete (-iieite) | **maniiate* | > | maniiete (maniieite) | "he thinks" |
| -aiiate | > | -aiiete (-aiieite) | **xšaiiate* | > | xšaiiete (xšaiieite) | "he rules" |
| | | | | | | |
| -iiahi | > | -iiehi | **jaiδiiahi* | > | jaiδiiehi | "you implore" |
| -aiiahi | > | -aiiehi | **srāuuaiiahi* | > | srāuuaiiehi | "you recite" |
| | | | | | | |
| -iiahe | > | -iiehe | **maniiahe* | > | maniiehe | "you think" |
| -aiiahe | > | -aiiehe | **xšaiiahe* | > | xšaiiehe | "you rule" |

Notes:

On the gen. sing. of nouns, see Lesson 11; on the feminine of adjectives in the comparative, see Lesson 14.

The development of -aiium and -aoiiəm

The sequence -aiium, whether original or secondary < \-aiiuuəm*, has the developments -aēum, -ōiium, or -aēm, e.g., ōiium < aēuua-, vī.dōiium < vī.daēuua-, but Vaēm < **Vaiium* and raēm < **raēum* < raēuua-. The form ōiium is Iranian versus Indic ōim, aōim, etc.

The sequence -aoiiəm shows the same developments: haoiia- "left": acc. masc. haoiium, hōiium, hōim; **aoiia-* (or **aiia-*?) "egg": acc. aēm; Kąsaoiia-, name of a sea: acc. Kąsaēm (Yt.19.66).

Palatalization of ā

Long ā becomes e when preceded by i̯ and followed by a nasal and i, ī, or e. This change takes place in several 1st singular verbal forms, e.g., present indicative -iiāmi > -iiemi, examples:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| **naiiāmi* | > | naiiemi "I lead" | **srāuuaiiāmi* | > | srāuuaiiemi "I recite" |
| **zbaiiāmi* | > | zbaiiemi "I invoke" | **ā-vaēδaiiāmi* | > | ā.vaēδaiiemi "I make known to" |
| **jaiδiiāmi* | > | jaiδiiemi "I implore" | **haṇkāraiiāmi* | > | haṇkāraiiemi "I gather" |

The original forms, e.g., -iiāmi, are sometimes retained/restored by analogy, especially in the vicinity of forms with regular -āmi, not preceded by ii, e.g., yāsāmi ... jaiδiiāmi "I request ... I implore" (Y.65.11), vanāmi ... vərəziiāmi "I overcome ... I produce" (Yt.15.44).

A few nominal forms satisfy the conditions, as well: ziiāni- m. "harm" > nom. ziieniš, acc. ziienim, but gen. ziiānōiš (see Lesson 11).

NOUNS

Consonant declensions: irregular n-stems

In many n-stems, consonant changes occur in the weak forms, when the n of the suffix comes in contact with the final consonant of the root.

Examples (asan-/ašn- "stone, heaven," xšapan-/xšafn- "night," karapan-/karafn-, priestly title, "*mumbler" [Jamison, BAI 23], marətān-/marəθn- "mortal"):

Sing.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | *asa | xšapa | *karapa (OAv.) | marəta |
| acc. | asānəm | xšapanəm | *karapanəm | *marətānəm |

Plur.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | asānō | xšapanō | karapanō | *marətānō (OAv.) |
| acc. | *ašnō | xšafnas° | *karafnō | *marəθnō |

Consonant declensions: irregular uuan-stems

Following are some original uuan-stems in which various phonetic changes have produced some irregular-looking forms:

Sing.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | spā | *aδβa | θrizafå |
| voc. | - | | θrizafəm |
| acc. | spānəm | aδβanəm | θrizafanəm |

Plur.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | spānō | - | - |
| acc. | *sunō | - | - |

The stem span-/sun- is an original uuan-stem, but with *$\hat{k}$- > ću̯- > su̯ > sp. The acc. plur. form sunō is frequently used as nom. plur. in the Videvdad, especially in the formula sunō vā kərəfš.xᵛarō vaiiō vā kərəfš.xᵛarō "either flesh-eating dogs or flesh-eating birds."

The stem aδβan- "road" is an original uuan-stem (Av. aduuan-), with δu̯ > δβ.

The masc. adj. θri.zafan- has nom. sing. θri.zafå, and short a in the acc. like vərəθrajå, but the word is probably uuar/n-stem θri.zafu̯ar/n- (see Lesson 16), hence it has voc. sing. θri.zafəm, like ašāum.

The Dual

Few forms of the dual are found, but they suffice to show that this category was basically of the old Indo-Iranian type. In Old Avestan, four cases are distinguished, as the gen. and loc. have not merged (as in OIndic). In Young Avestan, however, no locative dual forms appear to be attested.

The endings of the nom.-voc.-acc. are -a in masc. a-stems, diphthong stems, and masc. and fem. consonant stems; -e in fem. ā-stems (pron. -ōi) and neut. a-stems (only pron.); and -i in neut. consonant stems. The i-, ī-, and u-stems have no endings (gaoša- "ear," uruuarā- "plant," Saŋhauuācī-, name of Yima's sister, baoiδi- "incense"):

Vowel stems

| | a-stems | | ā-stems | ī-stems | i-stems | pasu- |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | m. | n. | | | | |
| Dual | | | | | | |
| nom.-acc. | gaoša | - | uruuaire | Saŋhauuāci | baoiδi | pasu |

Notes:

uua > uuō in gauuō < gauua- "hand": apąš gauuō darəzaiieiti "he ties (their) two hands in the back" (Yt.10.48), but hąm gauua nidarəzaiiaδβəm "you tie (their) two hands together" (Yt.1.27).

The nom.-acc. dual of nouns such as mairiia- should be maire, with -iia > -e (see Lesson 4), but no examples are found.

srū- "nails"

It is unclear whether the forms of srū- "nails" are neut. plur. or dual (the nails on the fingers/toes on both hands/feet). It is spelled sruuī and sruiiē, sruuaē°.

Diphthong stems

| Dual | | gao- | bāzao- "arm" |
|---|---|---|---|
| nom.-acc. | | gāuua | bāzauua |

Consonant stems in stops

| Dual | ap- | pad- | ābərət- | hauruuatāt-, aмərətatāt- |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom.-acc. | āpa | pāδa | ābərəta | hauruuatāta, hauruuata; |
| | | | | amərətatāta, amərətāta |

Note: hauruuatāt- and amərətatāt- have some contracted forms in the dual.

Consonant stems: n-stems

| Dual | | rasman- | span- "dog" | ašauuan- |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom.-acc. | | rasmana | spāna | ašauuana |

Consonant stems: r- and h-stems

| Dual | | nar- | nāh- "nose" |
|---|---|---|---|
| nom.-acc. | | nara | nåŋha |

Consonant stems: ṇt-stems

| Dual | | m. | n. |
|---|---|---|---|
| nom.-acc. | | bərəzaṇta | xᵛairiiaṇti "tasty" |

PRONOUNS

VERBS

The dual

For now note the following 3rd pers. dual forms (āi- < ā + i- "come," °zaiia- "be born," tauruuaiia- "overcome"):

| | Athematic | | Thematic: | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Present indicative | | | | |

Present indicative. Palatalized forms

The (a)iia-stems undergo modifications of the thematic vowel as described above.

Note also that the long -ā- of the 1st plur. -āmahi—which tends to be shortened in a-stems—is preserved in the iia-stems fraēšiiāmahi "we send," nəmax̌iiāmahi "we pay homage," but shortened in the aiia-stem zbaiiamahi.

Paradigm of (a)iia-stems (fraēšiia- "to send," jaiδiia- "to implore," maniia- "think," srāuuaiia- "to make heard, recite," vərəziia- "to produce," xšaiia- "to command, rule," zbaiia- "to invoke"):

SYNTAX

Uses of the dual

The dual is used to indicate two items joined in a special ralationship. It is used with the numeral duua- "two," and the pronoun uua- "both."

Occasionally a word has only dual forms, e.g., uš- n. "hearing, consciousness."

Of special importance are the so-called open dvandvas. These denote a pair consisting of two different objects, which may be singular, e.g., "firewood and incense," "Frašaoštra and Jāmāspa," or plural, e.g., "cattle and men." In these expressions both nouns are in the dual, so that the expression looks like "2 firewoods, 2 incenses," "2 Frašaoštras, 2 Jāmāspas," "2 cattle, 2 men."

1. Two items

duua auruuaṇta yāsāmi bipaitištānəmca caθβarə.paitištānəmca "I ask for two coursers, one that has two legs and one that has four." (after Yt.5.131)

paṇca.dasa fracarōiθe pita puθrasca katarasciṱ "Fifteen (years of age) the father and the son went forth, each (of them)." (after Y.9.5)

*Vərəθraɣnəm ahuraδātəm yazamaide yō vī.rāzaiti *aṇtarə rāšta rasmana "We sacrifice to Vərəθraɣna, created by Ahura Mazdā, who arranges (things) between the two straight battle lines." (Yt.14.47)

yaṯ bā paiti Spitama Zaraθuštra nāirikaca apərənāiiukasca varaiθim paṇtąm *azōiθe [ms. azōiṯ] pąsnuuåŋhəm hikuuåŋhəm jarəzim baraiti vācim

   "Where, O Zarathustra Spitamid, a wife and child are driven along the road of captivity, *they lift up (their) plaintive voice from a mouth full of dust, from a dry mouth." (after V.3.11) > baraiti 3rd sing. may have been introduced here from a different context (cf. Yt.10.38, Lesson 8), the 3rd dual > should have been baratō; alternatively, it is for **baraiṇti*, pres. part. dual neut.

auuaṯ Vaiiuš bā nąma ahmi yaṯ uua dąma **viiemi* yasca daθaṯ Spəṇtō Maniiuš yasca daθaṯ Aŋrō Maniiuš

   "Therefore I am called Vaiiu, because I pursue both creations [thematic masc.], both the one that the Life-giving Spirit made and the one that the Evil Spirit made." (Yt.15.43)

pairi šē uši vərənuiδi skəṇdəm šē manō kərənuiδi

   "Cover up his senses, *debilitate his mind!" (Y.9.28)

2. Elliptical dual

   hāuuanaiiåsca ašaiia* frašutaiiå "of the mortar (and pestle) moved forth in Orderly fashion" (Y.27.7)

3. Dual (open) dvandvas

   In these expressions two different items which form a unit are both in the dual. If one of the items consists of two words, one of them is dropped.

   Miθra Ahura bərəzaṇta "The two high ones, Miθra and Ahura (Mazdā)." (Yt.10.145)
   Yimō kərənaoṯ amaršaṇta pasu vira aŋhaošəmne āpa uruuaire "Yima made cattle and men indestructible, waters and plants indesiccable." (after Y.9.4)
   Saŋhauuāci Arənauuāci "(The two sisters) Saŋhauuācī and Arənauuācī." (Yt.5.34)
   ašaiia daδąmi aēsma baoiδi "I place in Orderly fashion the firewood and the incense." (Y.7.2)
   aṇtarə ahuna *airiiamana "between the Ahuna Vairiia and the Ā Airiiama išiiō (prayers)." (N.85)

      What is "between" these two is the entire Old Avesta.

   To express "both X and Y" Avestan uses the construction "both: (namely) X and Y," where X and Y are in the singular or plural. Here uua refers to a sequence of masc. nouns and uiie to sequences of nouns not exclusively masc.:

   uiie ištišca saokāca uiie fšaonišca vąθβāca uiie θrąfsca frasastišca
   "Both wish and *desire, both *sheep herds and (cattle?) herds, both satisfaction and fame." (Yt.5.26, Yima)
   uua šuδəmca taršnəmca uua zauruuąmca mərəθiiumca uua garəməmca aotəmca
      "... both hunger and thirst, both old age and death, both heat and cold." (Yt.9.10, Yima)

Uses of the accusative

9. Accusative of respect (with respect to, as far as ... is concerned)

   yā asti auuauuaiti masō yaθa vispå imå āpō "(She) who is as much in size as all these waters (together)."
      (after Yt.5.3)
   yaṯ as ašəm ašauuastəməm xšaθrəm huxšaθrō.təməm "As he was in Order the most Orderly, in command the one having the best command." (Yt.19.79)
   mošu pascaēta Huuōuuō ištim baon səuuišta mošu pascaēta Naotaire "Soon thereafter the Huuōuuas became the ones most rich in life-giving strength with respect to (their) wish, soon thereafter (also) the Naotairiias." (Yt.5.98)

10. Use of the nominative for the accusative

   A typical feature of the Young Avestan late oral transmission, is that whole phrases in the nominative, especially plural, e.g., noun + adjective, occupy a position in the sentence which would require them to be in the accusative.

   azəm ahmi aiβi.vaniiå vispe daēuua maṣ̌iiāca vispe yātauuō pairikåsca "I overcome all demons and men, all sorcerers and witches." (after Yt.15.12) cf.
   azəm ahmi aiβi.vaniiå ažim dahākəm "I overcome the giant dragon." (after Yt.5.34)

   *aṣ̌āunąm vaŋᵛhiš surå spəṇtå frauuaṣ̌aiiō staomi zbaiiemi ufiiemi yazamaide nmāniiå visiiå zaṇtumå dax̌iiumå zaraθuštrō.təmå
      "I praise, I invoke, I weave (into my hymn)—we sacrifice to the good, life-giving fravashis of the sustainers of Order, rich in life-giving strength, those of the home, of the house, of the tribe, of the land, those most like that of Zarathustra." (Y.17.18)

   In a few instances the endings are even more confused, thus, in a couple of cases we find nom.-acc. fem. endings with nom. plur. masc. i-stems used as direct object:

   vispå garaiiō aṣ̌a.xᵛāθrå pouru.xᵛāθrå yazamaide
      "We sacrifice to all the mountains, whose bliss is in/through Order, with much bliss." (Y.6.13)
   uγrəm kauuaēm xᵛarənō mazdaδātəm yazamaide *yaṯ upaŋhacaṯ Saošiiaṇtəm vərəθrājanəm uta aniiåsciṯ haxaiiō
      "We sacrifice to the strong kauuian Xwarnah established by Ahura Mazdā, which accompanied the victorious Revitalizer as well as (his) other companions." (Yt.19.88-89)

EXERCISES 9

1. Write in Avestan script the nom. and acc. sing. and plur. (where appropriate) forms of the following nouns and adjectives:

   darəγa- zruuan-, yuuan- srira-, hauua- uruuan-, hāu asan- bərəzaṇt-, xšapan- tąθriiā-, kauuaē-ca karapan-ca druuaṇt-; Gaiia- Marətān-.

2. Write in Avestan script the dual forms of the following nouns and adjectives:

   aŋgušta-, xšaθra-, aši-, vaŋhu-/vohu- (m., f., n.), spāδa-, haēnā-.

3. Write in Avestan script the present indicative middle forms of the following verbs:

   kiriia-, tauruuaiia-.

4. Analyze and translate into English:

5. Transcribe and translate into English:

(Ny.1.11 = Yt.6.1)

(after Yt.13.30)

(V.4.45)

(Y.19.7)

(after Yt.5.3)

(after Yt.5.109)

6. Read the following from the manuscripts:

Y.55.1 (J2, K5, Pt4)

7. Translate into Avestan and write in Avestan script:

1. For how long a time was the existence of living beings established?

2. Thus they said, Tąθriiauuaṇt the villain and Pəšana possessed by the Lie:
3. O Arəjat̰.aspa, you who (are) the mightiest Turanian, you the greatest, the most victorious,
4. you overcome all enemy armies, you overpower all the Aryan enemies.
5. Strike down the fortunate Kauui Vištāspa, then (you) rule!

6. Two dogs are driven along the road of captivity. They lament, each saying thus:

December 15, 2018

7. O Creator, Who fashioned me? Why did he make me?
8. Wrath pursues me, death frightens me.
9. Why does the one possessed by the Lie harm us and deal us bloody blows?
10. There is no protector for us. The sustainers of Order do not protect us.

How would you (male and female) render the following "modern" statement into Avestan?
   "I believe in Ahura Mazdā, am a follower of Zarathustra, reject the wrong gods, and follow the guidance of Ahura Mazdā."

LESSON 10

TEST IN IDENTIFYING ACCUSATIVE FORMS

Analyze all the nom. and acc. forms of the "models of Order" (aṣ̌ahe ratu-) in the following yazamaide (y°) litany (Y.6), giving stem forms, explaining how the forms are made, and correcting all the "irregular" forms. Note the following genitive forms: aṣ̌ahe, aṣ̌aonō (sing.) and aṣ̌aonąm (plur.) < aṣ̌auuan-, ahurahe mazdå, dax́iiunąm (< daŋ́hu-), apąm. Cf. Glossary 5 for much of the terminology.

The five-day seasonal festivals: In the Sasanian period, according to the Bundahišn, these were as follows (apparently ca. 10 days later than today's mid-summer/winter and spring and fall equinoxes):

|---|---|
| Hamaspaθmaēdaiia-: New Year's festival | 18 March |
| (cf. spring equinox | 20 March) |
| Maiðiiōi.zarəmaiia-: "mid-green," mid-spring | 1 May |
| Maiðiiōi.šəma-: | 1 July |
| (cf. mid-summer | 21 June) |
| Paitiš.hahiia-: harvest festival | 9 September |
| (cf. fall equinox | 23 September) |
| Aiiāθrima-: fall festival | 9 October |
| Maiðiiāiriia-: "mid-season" | 2 January |
| (cf. mid-winter | 22 December) |

LESSON 11

PHONOLOGY

Vowel changes. Ablaut

Historically speaking, "ablaut" refers to variations in vowel quantity affecting an -a- in the stem or ending of nouns and verbs. Thus, in Indo-Iranian, an a belonging either to the stem of a word (noun, verb) or the ending could take on one of three "grades":

| zero grade | full grade | lengthened grade |
|:---:|:---:|:---:|
| no vowel | a | ā. |

In Sanskrit grammar the full grade is called guṇa and the long grade vṛddhi.

In English the old ablaut is reflected in irregular verbs, such as bite ~ bit, shine ~ shone.

Ablaut is not to be confused with the different process of "umlaut," which is related to the Avestan vowel variations a ~ e ~ Ø discussed in Lesson 4 and which survives in English in nouns with irregular plural forms, such as man ~ men, mouse ~ mice, and in German is indicated by the "umlaut" sign: a o u ~ ä ö ü (Mann ~ Männer, Maus ~ Mäuse).

Because of the sound developments, the original Indo-European ablaut system appears much changed in individual languages. Note also that IE. o in open syllable became IIr. ā.

In Avestan, the ablaut patterns depend upon the sound following or, sometimes, preceding the a. In the following table C = consonants other than i̯ u̯ n m r:

| Full grade | Zero grade | Lengthened grade | Examples: |
|---|---|---|---|
| aC | -C | āC | *p*aδ*ō ~ upab*d*i ~ p*ā*δa* |
| ae/aē, ōi (< ai) | i | āi | *d*aēs*aiia- ~ d*iš*ta- ~ -* |
| | | | *gar*ōi*š ~ gair*iš*~ gar*a (loc. < **garā(i?)*) |
| | | | *- ~ n*ista *~ n*āis*t* |
| ao/aō (< au) | u | āu | *gao*š *~ °gu*ua *~ g*āu*š* |
| an | a (< ṇ), n | ān | *m*anah*- ~ m*ata *~ mam*ne *~ m*āna*iia-* |
| ar | ṛ, r | ār | *k*air*iia- ~ -k*ərə*t̰ ~ c*āx*rarə ~ °k*āra*iia-* |
| rā (< raH) | ar (< ṛH) | | *d*rā*jah- ~ d*arə*γa-* |
| va/uua | u | vā/uuā | *va*cō *~ u*xta *~ v*ā*c*ō |
| | | | *da*δ*uu*ō ( < *da*δ*uua*h) *~ da*δ*u*šō *~ da*δ*uu*å (< *da*δ*uu*ā*h*) |
| ya/iia | i | yā/iiā | *maz*iiō (< *maz*iia*h) ~ maz*išta*- ~ maz*iiå (< *maz*iiā*h*) |

The ablaut seen in the last examples, where the consonant precedes the vowel—is sometimes referred to by the German expression "Schwebe-ablaut," approximately: "moving ablaut."

On the symbol H appearing in the table, see on laryngeals in Lesson 12.

Spirantization of stops

As shown in Lesson 6, when a t comes before an ending beginning with ii, uu, or n, it changes to θ. In addition, an original uu (< **u̯*) after θ becomes β, e.g., ratuš but raθβō. This rule does not hold in some special cases, e.g., loc. gātuuō, which is from original **gātau* (not **gātu̯ah*). Note also, for instance, *mašiia- < *martii̯a-*, but *mərəθiiu- < *mṛθi̯u-* ("Siever's Law," Lesson 6).

STEM AND ROOT

Because of the multitude of different forms that nouns, verbs, etc. can take on—as we have had the opportunity to observe in some detail in preceding lessons—, nouns and verbs are classified according to their "stem" forms.

The stem of a noun is what remains when the endings indicating number and case are removed, and the stem of a verb is what remains when the endings indicating number and person are removed.

Often, however, removing these endings leaves us with varying forms, and it may not always be obvious what the "real" stem is. One therefore abstracts the notion of "stem" from the clearest instances and applies it by analogy to those that are less clear. The stem form of nouns, for instance, is usually most clearly seen in the genitive plural, which has the endings -nąm or -ąm: haomanąm > haoma-, frauuašinąm > frauuaši-, ratunąm > ratu-, apąm > ap-, etc. The stem form of verbs is usually most clearly seen in the 2nd plur., e.g., barata > bara-, staota > stao-.

Many noun and verb stems undergo changes in the course of declension and conjugation, both ablaut and consonant changes, e.g.:

|---|---|
| āp- ~ ap | frauuaši- ~ frauuašōi- |
| vāx- ~ vāc ~ vac- ~ ux-ta- | kərənauu-a- ~ kərənao- ~ kərənu- |
| daδā-mi- ~ daδ-ən ~ das-ta | bār-aiia- ~ bar-a- ~ bərə-ta- |
| ah-mi ~ as-ti- ~ s-tā ~ z-dī ~ h-ənti- ~ Ø-mahi. | |

According to the ablaut, stems are usually classifed as:

"strong" stems = with 1) long or 2) full grade, e.g.: nom, acc. sing., nom. plur. of nouns, present indicative sing. of athematic verbs;

"weak" stems = with 1) full or 2) zero grade, e.g., gen. sing., acc., gen. plur. of nouns; present indicative plural of athematic verbs.

While the "stem" of a word is a part of the actual word, the "root" is a theoretical concept, and its phonetic/orthographic form may or may not be identifiable with a part of an actual word. Basically the "root" of a simple word (no prefixes or suffixes) is the smallest congregate of consonants and vowels that carry the meaning of the simple word. Various methods are used to represent the root, cf. √dā "give, place," √kr̥ or √kar "do," √bū or √bav "become," √vak/vac "speak," √ah/as "be," etc. In this manual forms such as √kar, √bao, √vak/vac, √aog/aoj, √ah/as, √vaē/vi are used

NOUNS

Declension. Genitive

The endings of the genitive at first sight seem very diverse, but much of this diversity is due to historical developments in Iranian. The most common ending in Indo-Iranian was an -s (as in the nominative), which – when preceded by i or u (and **ai*, **au*) – became -š by ruki (see Lesson 5, endings of the nominative). While the Indo-Iranian -š remained in Iranian, the -s became \-h*, which combined with preceding vowel in various ways: \-ah > -ō*, \-āh > -å*. In sandhi the final -s reappears: -as°, -ås° (Lesson 4).

In ā-stems, the original \-ās* [seen in Old Latin pater familiās, for instance] was changed to \-ąi̯ās*, by the addition of an element -i̯ā-, which was probably due to the influence of the feminine ī-stems. In Avestan [but not in Old Persian] the long -ā- was shortened, and the ending became \-aiiāh*.

The ending of the a-stems is -ahe, which is from older \-ahi̯a* (see Lesson 4) [OAv. -ahiiā, OPers. -ahayā]. Before -ca we occasionally find -ańhā°. The iia-stems have -iiehe, according to the rules of Lesson 9.

The consonant stems, u²-, and ū-stems take the ending -ō (-as°).

The genitive plural ends in -ąm (disyllabic in OAv.), before which an -n- is inserted in most of the vocalic declensions.

The genitive dual ends in -å, before which the a-stems insert -aii-; thus they have the ending -aiiå.
The genitive, both singular and plural, takes the weak stem of nouns that undergo ablaut.

NOTE: The subgroup of u-stems referred to as u²-stems has the same endings in the genitive (sing. and plur.) as the ū-stems. In terms of "ablaut" we see that while regular u-stems have full grade of the suffix (ao) and zero grade of the ending (-š), the u²-stems have zero grade of the suffix (u) and full grade of the ending (-ō < *-ah). These two types can be referred to as protero- and hystero-kinetic (or: -dynamic), respectively. These u²-stems have regular -auuō in the nom. plur. (ratauuō).

The endings are:

|  | a-stems | ā-stems |  | ī-stems |
|  | m., n. | m. | f. | |
| Sing. | -ahe | -å | -aiiå, -aiiås° | -iiå, -iiås° |
| Plur. | -anąm | | -anąm | -inąm |
| Dual | -aiiå | - | - | |

|  | i-stems | u-stems | pasu- | ao-stems |
|  | m., n., f. | m., n. | m. | m., f. |
| Sing. | -ōiš | -aoš | -aoš, -əuš | -aoš, -əuš |
| Plur. | -inąm | -unąm | -uuąm | -auuąm |
| Dual | - | - | -uuå | -auuå, -uuå |

|  | aē-stems | u²-stems | ū-stems | cons.-stems |
|  | m. | m. | f. | m., f. |
| Sing. | -ōiš | -uuō, -uuas° | -uuō | -ō, -as° |
| Plur. | -iiąm | -uuąm | -uuąm | -ąm |
| Dual | - | - | - | -å |

Notes:
The masculine noun mašiia- "man, mortal" has a long ā in the gen. plur. mašiiānąm, possibly influenced by mašiiāka- "people." The feminine noun γənā- (γnā-) "woman" has the gen. plur. γ(ə)nąnąm.
No plur. gen. forms of masc. ā-stems in -dā- are attested (on paṇtā- "road" see Lesson 12).
Many u-stems take the ending -əuš instead of or beside -aoš. This is an Old Avestan form of the ending, which has become common principally in words "with strong Old Avestan connection."

|  | a-stems | iia-stems | ā-stems |  | ī-stems |
|  | m., n. | m. | m. | f. | f. |
| Sing. | haomahe | mairiiehe | mazdå | daēnaiiå | ašaoniiå, vaŋhuiiå, amauuaiθiiå |
| Plur. | haomanąm | mairiianąm | | daēnanąm | ašaoninąm, vaŋᵛhinąm, amauuaitinąm |
| Dual | gaošaiiå | - | | nāirikaiiå | - |

Notes:
An OAv.-type ending is found in gaiieẋiiācā maraθnō (Y.13.7), gen. of gaiia- marətān-, First Man.
In the ī-stems, t becomes θ before -ii-, but ṇt remains (cf. Lesson 6): amauuaiθiiå but vanaiṇtiiå!
The gen. plur. ending of the vowel stems originally had long vowels before the n- (cf. OInd. -ānām, -īnām, -ūnām), which is why the -a- is always preserved between ii and n in forms such as mairiianąm.
The gen. dual nāirikaiiå is found only in FO.2f.
Original *-ŋhuuī- (< *-hu̯ī-) becomes -ŋᵛhi-, but *-ŋhuuii- (< *-hu̯i-) becomes -ŋhuii-, thus vaŋᵛhī- has sing. nom. vaŋᵛhi and plur. gen. vaŋᵛhinąm, but sing. gen. vaŋhuiiå.

|  | i-stems |  | ae̅-stems | |

|  | u²-stems | ū-stems |
|---|---|---|
| Sing. | raθβō (ratə̄uš) | tanuuō |
| Plur. | raθβąm, yāθβąm | tanunąm |

Notes:

The adj. vaŋhu- "good" has the stems vaŋhu- and vohu-: gen. vaŋhaoš, vohunąm.

In the u²-declension, the combinations \-tu̯ō* and \-tu̯ąm* become -θβō and -θβąm.

The gen. pasuuō is found in a poorly transmitted text (N. 48).

The gen. plur. hašə̄ąm is from **hačii̯ām* (OInd. sakhyām).

The gen. dual °gauuå is found in personal names, e.g., Vidaṯ.gauuå, Paršaṯ.gauuå, names of two brothers.

Consonant-stems

Examples (ap- "water," druj- "deception, the Lie," vak-/vac- "word, speech," paδ- "foot," bərəz- "high," °uuarəz- < varəz- "invigorant," °uuərəz- "maker (of)," vis- "town"):

|  | vak-/vac- | druj- | ap- | paδ- | vis- | bərəz-, °uuarəz-, °uuərəz- |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | vacō, vacas° | drujō | apō (āpō) | paδō | visō | bərəzō |
| Plur. | vacąm | drująm | apąm | paδąm | visąm | °uuərəząm |
| Dual | - | - | - | (pāδaiiå) | - | °uuarəzå |

Notes:

The nom. huuarš can be from huuərəz- "who does good work" or from varəz- "with good invigorant."

The form pāδaiiå is a thematic form based upon the nom.-acc. dual pāδa.

|  | zam- | ziiam- | tāt-stems |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | zəmō | zimō (zəmō) | hauruuatātō |
| Plur. | zəmąm | - | vaŋhutātąm |
| Dual | - | - | hauruuatātå |

Note that zam-, by regular sound developments, should have had an alternating stem zam- (zəm-)/**sm-*, cf. upasma- "(living) in the earth"; for understandable reasons, the stem zəm- replaced **s(ə)m-* in the paradigm.

r-stems and napāt-

Examples (ātar- "fire," napāt- "grandson," nar- "man, hero," star- "star"; brātar- "brother," dātar- "Creator," pitar- "father," sāstar-/sāθr- "teacher," zaotar- "libator"):

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | narš | stārō, staras° | nafəδrō | āθrō |
| Plur. | narąm | strąm, stārąm | - | āθrąm |
| Dual | narå | - | - | - |

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | dāθrō | zaotarš (zaotarō) | sāθrō, sāstarš | piθrō | brāθrō |
| Plur. | - | - | sāθrąm | - | - |
| Dual | - | - | - | - | - |

Notes:

Note the protero-kinetic forms zaotar-š and nar-š.

The gen. sing. forms stārō and zaotarō and the gen. plur. stārąm are secondary.

Note that the long ā of stārō is shortened in starasca.

Thematic forms are frequent, e.g., sāstrahe, sāstranąm.

h- and *uuah-*stems

Examples (daδuuah- "Creator," manah- "thought," māh- "moon," naire.manah- "heroic-minded," zraiiah- "ocean," Ašа.nəmah- proper name):

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | månghō | naire.manaŋhō | manaŋhō | zraiiaŋhō | daδušō, daθušō |
| Plur. | - | naire.manaŋhąm | manaŋhąm | - | **daδušąm* |
| Dual | - | Ašа.nəmaŋhå | - | - | - |

Note:

Instead of the regular (and frequent) gen. sing. zraiiaŋhō Vouru.kašahe we find zraiiā Vouru.kašaiia in the formula yaozəņti vispe karanō zraiiā Vouru.kašaiia (Y.65.4 = Yt.5.4 = 8.31). These forms have been interpreted as dialect forms. More likely, however, they are wrongly completed abbreviations of zra° Vouru.ka° (or similar).

Thematic forms include månghahe.

The genitive of āh- "mouth" is formed from an n-stem: ånghānō (see below).

n-stems

In the protero-kinetic n-stems, notably zruuan- and barəsman-, the gen. ending -h combines with the n of the stem to produce -ŋh, which—as in the accusative plural of masc. a-stems—combines with the preceding a to become -ə̃. This ending in turn becomes -ū after uu (uuan-stems), but -ą after m (man-stems).

Examples (an-stems: asan-/ašn- "stone, sky," karapan-/karafn- "*mumbler," [3]vərəθrajan-/vərəθraɣn- "obstruction-smashing," xšapan-/xšafn- "night"; uuan-stems: aδβan- "road," ašauuan-/ašaon-, āθrauuan-/aθaurun, span-/sun- "dog," yuuan-/yun- "youth," zruuan-/zrun- "time"; man-stems: Airiiaman-, cašman- "eye," nāman- "name," barəsman- "barsom"):

an-stems

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | vərəθraɣnō (°janō) | ašnō | xšafnō | - |
| Plur. | vərəθraɣnąm | - | xšafnąm | karafnąm |
| Dual | - | - | - | - |

[3] See Jamison, 2009 [2013].

uuan-stems

| Sing. | ašaonō | aθaurunō | sunō | - | aδβanō | zrū |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Plur. | ašaonąm | aθaurunąm | sunąm | yunąm | - | - |
| Dual | ašaonå | - | - | - | - | - |

man-stems:

| | m. | n. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Airiiamanō | nāmanō | barəsmą |
| Sing. | | | |
| Plur. | | nāmanąm | barəsmanąm |
| Dual | | - | cašmanå |

Notes:

The root noun āh- "mouth" has an irregular gen. sing. from an n-stem: åŋhānō

Instead of the weak stem ašaon- we often find ašāun- in the manuscripts. In view of OInd. ṛtāvan- this may well be the original form.

The weak stem aθaurun- is regular < aθarun-, since āθrauuan- (probably) is < aθaru̯an- (OInd. atharvan-, cf. ārmaiti-, OInd. aramati-).

kaniiā-

The fem. ā-stem kaniiā-, beside the irregular ā-stem forms, has some forms from an in-stem, as does kaxᵛarəiδī- < kaxᵛarəδa- and kāiδī-/kaiieiδī- < kaiiaδa-, both some kind of "female magician(?)" :

Sing.

| | kaniiā- | kainin- | kaxᵛarəiδī- | kaxᵛarəiδin- | kāiδiiā- | kaiieiδin- |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

Genitive

The genitive forms of the pronouns are:

Personal pronouns:

|  | 1st | 2nd | 3rd pers. masc., neut. | fem. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | mana | tauua | ahe, aṅhe | aṅhå, aṅhåsə |
| encl. | mē | tē | hē, šē |  |
| Dual | - | yuuākəm | aiiå | - |
| Plur. | ahmākəm | yušmākəm, xšmākəm | aēšąm | åṇhąm |
| encl. | nō | vō |  |  |

Note: The distribution of hē and šē is governed by ruki (see Lesson 5).

The demonstrative pronoun ima-/a- "this"  The demonstrative pronoun auua- "that":

|  | masc., neut. | fem. | masc., neut. | fem. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | ahe, aṅhe | aṅhå, aṅhåsə | auuaṅhe | auuaṅhå |
| Plur. | aēšąm | åṇhąm | auuaēšąm | - |
| Dual | aiiå | - | - | - |

The form aṅhåsə is used with tanuuō "of this body," cf. xᵛaēpaiθiiåsə tanuuō "of (one's) own body."
The dual anaiiå is from the rare pronoun ana- or analogical from a-, cf. instr. ana (Lesson 15).

The demonstrative pronoun aēta- "this":

|  | masc., neut. | fem. |
|---|---|---|
| Sing. | aētahe | aētaṅhå |
| Plur. | aētaēšąm | aētaṇhąm |
| Dual | aētaiiå | - |

The relative pronoun ya- "who, which"  The interrogative pronoun ka- "who, what?":

|  | masc., neut. | fem. | masc., neut. | fem. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | yeṅhe | yeṅhå | kahe, kahiiā° | kaṅhå |
| Plur. | yaēšąm | yåṇhąm | - | kaṇhąm |
| Dual | yaiiå | - |  |  |

Note the pronominal adjectives: aniiehe, aniiaēšąm; vispahe, vispaēšąm (but fem. vīspanąm).

Active participles

The active present participles end in -ṇt-. The athematic verbs form the present participle from the weak stem of the root, e.g.: haṇt-, γnaṇt- (< jan-), daδaṇt-/daθaṇt-, kərənuuaṇt-.
Participles from thematic verbs have fixed stems in -aṇt- (-əṇt-), e.g., masc. acc. sing. barəṇtəm; gen. sing. and nom.-acc. plur. barəṇtō, gen. plur. barəṇtąm.
Participles from athematic verbs have strong stems in -aṇt- and weak stems in -at- and are declined like adjectives in -aṇt-, e.g., hatō, hātąm gen. sing. and plur. of haṇt- "being."
A small class of verbs have fixed stems in -at-, e.g., mruuat- (Y.70.4).
The feminine is formed with the ending -ī, e.g. barəṇtī-, haitī-.
On the irregular nom. sing. of present participles see Lesson 17.

SYNTAX

Uses of the genitive

1. Adnominal genitive
   The primary function of the genitive is "adnominal." The main adnominal functions are:

1a. Possessive genitive
   This genitive expresses various kinds of possession ("the man's house, the man's son"). Note especially the use of the gen. + "to be" which corresponds to Eng. "to have": "mine is a son" = "I have a son" (see Lesson 12):

   ātarš Ahurahe Mazdå puθrō "The fire, son of Ahura Mazdā."
   *xᵛafnəm mazdaδātəm yazamaide šāitim pasuuå vīraiiå "We sacrifice to sleep established by Ahura Mazdā, peace of (for) cattle and men." (Vr.7.3)
   *nāirika yā uuaiiå [mss. vaiiå] xšudrå hąm.raēθβaiieiti mazdaiiasnanąmca daēuuaiiasnanąmca
      "The woman (who) mingles the semen of both: of Mazdayasnians and of demon-sacrificers." (after N.11)

   apa aēšąm bāzuuå aojō tum graṇtō xšaiiamnō barahi apa pāδaiiå zāuuarə apa cašmanå sukəm apa gaošaiiå sraoma
      "You, when angered, having the power (to do so), carry away the strength of their two arms, the endurance of their two feet, the sight of their two eyes, the hearing of their two ears." (Yt.10.23)

   hō ptā gōušcā aṣaṅhācā aṣaonascā aṣāuuairiiåscā stōiš haiθiiō vaṇhudå
      "He is the father of the cow, of Order, of the sustainer of Order, and the Orderly existence,
      (he) the true (one), giver of good things." (Y.58.4)
         Note: aṣaṅhācā is an archaizing form.

It is possible to have a genitive depending upon another genitive:

   *rauuasca xᵛāθrəmca āfrināmi vispaiiå aṣaonō stōiš *ązasca dužāθrəmca āfrināmi vispaiiå druuatō stōiš
      "I invite the spaciousness and good breathing space of the entire existence of the sustainer of Order;
      I invite the constriction and bad breathing space of the entire existence of the one possessed by the Lie." (Y.52.8)

It is possible for a genitive to be governed by the prior member of a compound:

   kamarəδō.janəm daēuuanąm "(him) who smashes the heads of the old gods" (Y.57.33)

1b. Subjective and objective genitives
   These genitive constructions can be viewed as "transformations" of verbal expressions, where the genitives correspond to the subject or direct object, e.g.:
   "They love their parents" > "their [subj. gen.] love of (for) their parents [obj. gen.]"

   ahe yasnəm yazatanąm* "His sacrifice to the gods." (he [subj.] sacrificed to the gods [dir. obj.]) (after Y.57.3)
   *dātarə gaēθanąm astuuaitinąm "O Creator of living beings with bones!" (he created the world with bones [dir. obj.])
   *dazdi nō pouru.spaxštim ṭbišiiaṇtąm paiti.jaitim dušmaniiunąm haθrā.niuuaitim hamərəθanąm

"Give us the ability to espy many of those hostile (to us), ability to strike back at (our) enemies, ability to vanquish right then and there (our) opponents." (after Y.57.26)

aēša astī daēnaiiå mązdaiiasnōiš āstuitiš "This is (my) praise of the Mazdayasnian daēnā." (Y.12.9)

> Note: The final long vowel in astī is a typical feature of Old Avestan.

āaṯ aṅ́he ahi aiβiiāstō "and with that (the daēnā mązdaiiasni) you are girded." (Y.9.26)

> Note: aṅ́he presumably masc. for fem. aṅ́hå.

*pairiš.xᵛaxtəm aiiaŋhahe "enclosed by bronze." (Y.11.7)

> Note them. aiiaŋhahe for aiiaŋhō < aiiah-.

2. Partitive genitive

The other main function of the genitive is "partitive," expressing that something is part of a totality or an example of group. It is frequently found with numerals and other words expressing quantity:

*θrisatəm aiβi.gāmanąm "(For) thirty years."
*cuuaṯ aētaṅ́hå apō "How much of this water?"

2a. Genitive with adjectives denoting "fullness"

The genitive is used with adjectives, especially, pərəna- "full (of)":

*im zå bauuaṯ pərəna mašiiānąm
  "This earth became full of men." (V.2)

A similar use is that with aratufriš "who does not satisfy the models with":

**kō *åŋhąm nā gāθanąm srutanąm aratufriš*
**yō *maēzō fra vā š̌āimnō srāuuaiieiti aētaēšąm vacąm aratufriš*
  "Who (is) the man who does not satisfy the models of the Gāθās he recites?
  He who recites while urinating or defecating does not satisfy the (ritual) models of (for) these words"
  (N.19)

> Note: for the form maēzō (nom. sing. of maēzaṇt-), see Lesson 17.

3. Genitive with verbs

The genitive is used with verbs, for instance, haṇkāraiia- "to gather" (for the sacrifice to):

*haṇkāraiiemi Ahurahe Mazdå "I gather (for the sacrifice) to Ahura Mazdā."

3a. Genitive of mourning(?)

In the following example, the genitive seems to express those for whom one mourns:

cuuaṯ aēšąm upa.mąnaiiąn "for how long shall they remain (in mourning) over these?" (V.12.1)

> Note: upa.mąnaiiąn is 3rd plural subjunctive (see Lesson 15).

4. Genitive with pre- and postpositions

The genitive is governed by some pre- and postpositions and nominal forms functioning as such.

*parō pasca nmānahe pasca parō nmānahe "before and behind the house ... behind and before the house." (V.13.46)

frąš aiiaŋhō frasparaṯ "He jumped forth/away from the pot." (Y.9.11)

mərəγahe kəhrpa kahrkāsahe ... kaininō kəhrpa srīraiiå
"In the form of a vulture-bird ... in the form of a beautiful young woman." (Yt.5.62, 64)

Relative clauses

Sometimes the antecedent of the relative pronoun is either missing or "attracted" into the relative clause, in which case it assumes the case of the relative pronoun, for instance:

nmānå daδāhi yasə θβā yazaite "You give houses (to him) who sacrifices to you." (from Yt.10.30)
rəŋjaiti haomahe maδō yō yaθa puθrəm taurunəm haoməm vaṇdaite mašiiō "The intoxication of the haoma energizes the man who honors the haoma like a young son." (Y.10.8)
yąm ašauua vaŋᵛhim ašaiiąm vaēδa tąm druuå əuuiδuuå "The good Orderly fashion which the Orderly one knows, (of) that the one possessed by the Lie is ignorant." (Vr.22.2)

The connecting relative and the relative particle yaṯ

The relative pronoun is frequently used to connect a noun with its adjective or genitive. This can be done using a regular relative noun clause, but, when the antecedent is in the accusative, the accusative of the relative pronoun is normally used.

If the antecedent is "attracted" into the relative clause, then the relative pronoun + noun + adjectives are all in the the same case: nominative or accusative.

If the antecedent is in a case other than nominative or accusative, the relative pronoun usually takes the invariable form yaṯ (= nom.-acc. sing. n.), occasionally also when the antecedent is in the accusative..

A similar usage is found in Old Persian, which later developed into the so-called izafe(t) construction of Middle and New Persian.

Examples:

yō paoiriiō gāθå frasrāuuaiiaṯ yå paṇca Spitamahe ašaonō Zaraθuštrahe "Who (Sraoša) was the first to recite the five Gāθās of Orderly Zarathustra, the Spitamid." (Y.57.8)
θβąm ratum daδāmi yim Zaraθuštrəm Spitāməm "I establish you, Zarathustra the Spitamid, as the Model." (after Vr.2.4)
duua auruuaṇta yāsāmi yimca bipaitištānəm ... yimca caθβarə.paitištānəm "I ask for two coursers, one that has two legs and one that has four." (Yt.5.131)
yaṯ upaŋhacaṯ yim Yiməm xšaētəm huuąθβəm darəγəmciṯ aipi zruuqnəm (for **Yiməm yō xšaētō ...*)
"... that he followed splendid Yima with good herds for a long time after." (Yt.19.31)

puθrəm yaṯ Pourušaspahe "the son of Pourušaspa" (Yt.5.18)
cuuaṯ aētaŋ́hå apō yaṯ armaēštaiiå aēša druxš yā nasuš frāšnaoiti
"How much of this standing water does this demoness, the Nasu, reach (with her pollution)?" (V.6.30)
Miθrəm vouru.gaoiiaoitim yazamaide
yō marəzaiti uua karana aŋ́hå zəmō yaṯ paθanaiiå skarənaiiå duraē.pāraiiå vispəm imaṯ ā.diδāiti yaṯ aṇtarə ząm asmanəmca
"We sacrifice to Miθra with wide grazing grounds, who touches both ends/borders of this earth, wide, round, with distant borders.
All this he regards, which (is) between heaven and earth." (from Yt.10.95)

EXERCISES 11

1. Write in Avestan script the nom., voc., acc., gen. sing. and plur. (where appropriate) forms of the following nouns and adjectives:

> aspa- spaēta-, daēnā- zaraθuštri-, nmāna- āhuiri-, vohu- manah-, ziiam- staxra-, zam- ahuraδātā-, tanū- amauuaitī-, ratu- vaŋhu-; naire.manah- Kərəsāspa-.

2. Write in Avestan script the present and imperfect-injunctive forms active of frāiiātaiia- and frāšnao-.

3. Analyze and translate into English:

   Y.57.33

7. Translate into Avestan:

1.  At (upa) dawn Pāuruua invoked Arəduuī Sura Anāhita:
2.  O Arəduuī Sura Anāhita, come quickly to my help, now bear me aid!
3.  Then Arəduuī Sura Anāhita came running in the shape of a young, beautiful, very strong, well-shaped woman.
4.  She came to his help, she bore him aid.
5.  It was not long before she put him down upon the earth created by Ahura Mazdā and his own house, healthy, unharmed, unhurt, just like before.
6.  Afterward, Pāuruua brought her a hundred horses, a thousand bulls, and ten thousand sheep.
7.  Then Yima went forth at noon on the road of the endless lights saying:
8.  Dear life-giving Ārmaiti, go both forth and spread wide and far, bearer of small and large animals and men!
9.  Here went forth small and large animals and men, (each) according to (his) own wish and pleasure, however was his pleasure.
10. Then this earth became full of small and large animals and men, of dogs and red hot fires.

PHONOLOGY

Consonant alternations: velars and labials

The velars k and g were palatalized before e (> a), i, and i̯ already in early Indo-Iranian, a change that frequently produced alternations within the paradigms and between different forms derived from the same root.

In Avestan the original velars k and g in addition frequently became the spirants x and γ, and the palatalized c and j sometimes became š̌ and ž, which complicates the picture considerably.

Forms with the original k and g may no longer be attested among the Young Avestan forms.

Similar, but fewer, changes befell the labial and dental stops.

Examples:

| | Stop | Spirant | | Palatal | Sibilant: |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | unvoiced | voiced | | |
| √vak | | vāxš, ux*ta* | vāγžibiš | vācim | |

Combinations of stops and dental stops

Note that k/g + t > xt, but p/b + t > pt. [All the other Iranian languages have ft.]

Dental stops behave rather differently from this. When an ending beginning with a dental stop (t or d) is added to a stem also ending in a dental stop, the resulting combination is replaced by the sequence sibilant + dental stop: st, zd.

The combination t + t always > st, e.g., amauuat + tama- > amauuastama- "most forceful."

The combinations d + t or d + d usually > zd, as in dazdi "give!" < dad-di and dazde < dad-te. We also find st, however, as in dasta "give (plur.)!" < dad-ta, and daste beside dazde < dad-te.

[The forms daste and dazde reflect the two-fold origin of Avestan (Iranian) dā-: from Indo-Iranian dā- "to give" (Greek didōmi, Latin dare) and dhā- (Greek tithēmi, Latin facere, English do), present stems dadā- and dadhā-. The forms were originally dad-tai and dadh-tai. The first regularly became daste. The second was subject to two pre-Iranian rules which produced the form dad-dhai (progressive assimilation and movement of the aspiration). This form then regularly became Iranian daddai, which in turn became dazde. In Old Avestan the two forms are still used in their original meanings, but in Young Avestan no distinction is observed.]

Laryngeals

Indo-European possessed a set of phonemes realized as sounds produced in the throat: in the pharynx or the larynx. These phonemes and their phonetic realizations are usually referred to as "laryngeals." In proto-Indo-Iranian two laryngeals—or their later reflexes—seem to have still survived, one probably a kind of h and the other probably a glottal stop—here denoted by the symbol <'> (the sound found in some local pronunciations of English in words such as battle, pronounced bæ'ḷ). In Indo-Iranian these laryngeals contracted with a preceding vowel when they were followed by a consonant or were at the end of a word, but left a "hiatus" when they were between vowels. Later the hiatus disappeared and the vowels were contracted into one long vowel or a diphthong. This hiatus must still have been pronounced in Old Avestan times—even though the orthography does not show it—as two vowels with hiatus between them metrically count as two syllables.

An old laryngeal is also responsible for the alternation between ərə and arə in some zero-grade forms. Thus we have kərəta- "done" < √kar, but starəta- < √starH (but stərəta- "stunned" < √star). We also see the effect of the original laryngeal in forms such as darəγa- < dr̥Hga-, as opposed to drājah- < draHjah-.

NOUNS

Laryngeal stems

Schematically, the development of the masc. ā-stem mazdā- must have been as follows:

|       | early Indo-Iran. | late Indo-Iran. | Old Avestan | Young Avestan | Spelling |
|-------|------------------|------------------|-------------|----------------|----------|
| nom.  | *mazdaH-s        | > *mazdās        | > *mazdāh   | > *mazdāh      | > mazdå  |
| acc.  | *mazdaH-m̥        | > *mazda'am      | > *mazda'am | > *mazdām      | > mazdąm |
| gen.  | *mazdaH-as       | > *mazda'as      | > *mazda'ah | > *mazdāh      | > mazdå  |

raii-.

The i-stem raii- "wealth" has the following irregular forms, also caused by the presence of a laryngeal. No nominative forms are attested:

Sing.

| acc. | *raHim   | > *ra'im  | raēm  |
|------|----------|-----------|-------|
| gen. | *raHi̯ah  | > *rāi̯ah  | rāiiō |

Plur.

| acc. | *raHinš  | > *ra'i̯š  | raēš   |
|------|----------|-----------|--------|
| gen. | *raHi̯ām  | > *rāi̯ām  | raiiąm |

Note: The gen. plur. has the common shortening of ā before ii (Lesson 16).

The masculine ā-stem paṇtā-

This stem is characterized by double ablaut, that is, both the root and the (original) suffix change during the declension. Some of the irregularities of this noun are due to the original presence of a laryngeal, which, when coming between the t of this stem and the vowel of an ending, turned the t into θ (tH > th > θ), but was lost between consonant.

In both Old Indic and Avestan the paradigm is completed by n-stem forms. YAv. also has a fem. paθā-.

Han-stems

The following words with similar double ablaut were probably originally Han-stems:

marətān-/marəθn- < **marta-Han-/mart-H-n-* "containing/accompanied by dead stuff (placenta?)" (YAv. only in Gaiia- Marətān-);

hazaŋhan-/hazasn- < **hazah-Han-/hazas-H-n-* "violent person" (< hazah- "violence");

hāuuanān- < **hauana-Han-/hauana-Hn-*, the priest in charge of the pressing of the haoma (hauuana-):

Sing.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | marəta | hazaŋha | hāuuana |
| acc. | - | hazaŋhanəm | hāuuanānəm |
| gen. | marəθnō | - | hāuanānō |

Plur.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | **marətānō* (OAv.) | - | |
| gen. | - | hazasnąm | |

Root nouns ending in laryngeals

The root nouns in -ī and -ū were also originally laryngeal stems. Examples: ratufrī- "which satisfies the (ritual) models," yauuaējī- "living forever," yauuaēsū- "vitalized/vitalizing forever," zauuanō.sū- "who vitalizes when invoked":

| | | early Iranian | YAv. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | | | |
| nom. | **jiH-š, *suH-š* | **jīš, *sūš* | jiš, suš |
| acc. | **jiH-m̥, *suH-m̥* | **ji'am, *su'am* | jim, sum |
| gen. | **jiH-as, *suH-as* | **ji'ah, *su'ah* | - |
| Plur. | | | |
| nom.-acc. | **jiH-n̥s, *suH-n̥s* | **ji'ah, *su'ah* | jiiō, suuō |
| gen. | **jiH-ã̃m, *suH-ã̃m* | **ji'ã̃m, *su'ã̃m* | - |
| Dual | | | |
| nom.-acc. | **priH-ā(u)* | **friHā* | friia |

Feminine laryngeal ī-stem adjectives

As mentioned in Lesson 5, a few feminine adjectives are laryngeal ī-stems, that is, they are declined as the root nouns above (the vr̥kī-declension). They include zaranaēnī- "golden," daiβī/ daiuuī- "deception, deceptive," tištriiaēnī- (plur.), a constellation, and patronyms in °fəδrī-, e.g., Vaŋhu.fəδrī- "whose father was Vaŋhu(-...)* (some of these are declined after the regular ī-declension).

Sing.

| | |
|---|---|
| nom. | zaranaēniš, daiβiš |
| instr. | zaranaēniia |
| gen. | Vaŋhu.fəδriiō, ° fəδriiå |

Plur.

| | |
|---|---|
| nom.-acc. | tištriiaēniiō, °iiasca; daiuuiiō |

The feminine ā-stem *ušā-

The fem. ā-stem ušā- "dawn" also has nom. sing. in -å and acc. sing. in -ąm, like mazdā-. Other forms are made from an ā-stem ušā- and an h-stem ušah-.

Sing.

| | | |
|------|---------|---------|
| nom. | ušå | |
| acc. | ušąm | ušåŋhəm |
| gen. | **ušaiiå* | |

Note: The gen. form is not attested, but the abl. is ušaiiāṯ from the ā-declension (Lesson 14).

Some irregular i-stems

The i-stems vi- m. "bird," paiti- "master," and jaini- f. "woman" have various kinds of irregularites.

Sing.

| | | | |
|------|-------------------|---------|-----------|
| nom. | viš | paitiš | - |
| acc. | - | paitim | - |
| gen. | - | - | janiiōiš |

Plur.

| | | | |
|------|-------------------|---|----------|
| nom. | vaiiō | - | janaiiō |
| acc. | - | - | jainiš |
| gen. | vaiiąm (vaiianąm) | - | jaininąm |

Notes:

No gen. sing. form of paiti- is attested but the dative form (Lesson 13) shows it is irregular. The compounds in paiti- (daŋ́hu.paiti-, etc.) are regular i-stems. The feminine is the regular ī-stem paθnī- in nmānō.paθnī- "lady of the house."

On janiiōiš see Skjærvø in in Comparative Indo-European Linguistics, forthcoming.

Irregular neuter u-stems

The neut. u-stems āiiu- "life(time)," zānu- "knee," and dāuru- "tree" have alternating long and zero degrees of the stem corresponding to zero and full grade of the suffix vowel. āiiu- also has regular u-stem forms beside the ablauting ones. The zero grade of zānu- "knee" is žnu- or (x)šnu-, but no nom.-acc. or gen. forms are found.

| | āiiu- | | dāuru- | zānu- |
|----------|------|----------|---------|------|
| Sing. | | | | |
| nom.-acc. | āiiu | | dāuru | - |
| gen. | yaoš | aiiaoš | draoš | - |

The ṇk-declension

There is a group of adjectives with stems ending in ṇk denoting directions (forward, backward, sideways, etc.).

In Avestan, the nom. sing. of these stems has lost the original velar, that is, it does not survive as x, as in the other velar stems (vāx-š, etc.), and the ending is -ąš < *-āŋ(k)š [cf. OInd. -āṅ, e.g., parāṅ].

Aside from the nominative, the strong stem ends in -āṇc- and the weak stem in -āc-, sometimes abbreviated to -ac-. The long ā in these forms is not long ablaut grade, but the result of contraction after the loss of a laryngeal: **para-Hank-* > **para'ank-* > parāṇk-, neut. **para'ak(t)* < **para-Hṇk(t)*.

December 15, 2018

It has been suggested that the final -gəṭ in the neuter form may not be directly from *-kt, but a way of writing -k with a non-released final -ḵ (like the final -ṭ).

Sing.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| nom. | -ą̣š, -iš; n. -āgəṭ | apą̣š, paiti.yą̣š, parą̣š, frą̣š, viš | n. **parāgəṭ* | f. apaśī́- |
| acc. | -ǻṇcim | °niiǻncim | | |

Plur.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| nom. | -ǻṇcō | niiǻncō, haθrǻncō |

Notes:

The form viš (Lesson 5) may be for **vi̧š*, as in the acc. plur. of i-stems.

For **parāgəṭ*, we have paragəṭ (V.8.13) and, possibly, parāǵ in Nir.62.1 parā.ġaiiaṇti for parāǵ aiiaṇti (spelled parāk in the Pahlavi translation of Nir.62.2).

In the fem. apaśi for **apācī-*(?), the c has been palatalized before the i, cf. haśi, composition form of haxaē-; in both of these, the ś may have been introduced by analogy with other forms in the paradigm, e.g., **apaśiiǻ*, **apaśiiāi*, haśē, haśa, all from forms with -či̧-, where it would be regular.

ADJECTIVES

The comparative and superlative

As in other Indo-European languages, there are two different ways of forming the comparative and superlative of an adjective, one "regular" and one "irregular," compare English long ~ longer ~ longest versus much ~ more ~ most.

These two methods correspond to two Avestan kinds of comparatives and superlatives, one made with the suffixes -tara- and -tama, respectively, added to the positive form of the adjective and another with -iiah- and -išta-, respectively, added to a different form of the adjective than the positive.

The comparative is discussed in Lesson 14.

The superlative

The superlative in -təma- is formed by attaching this suffix to the stem of the adjective with appropriate sandhi. Adjectives with ablauting suffixes take the weak stem (cf. the comparatives, lesson 14).

Note that a-stems often take the "composition form" in -ō before this suffix. Consonant stems in -t change the t > s before the t- of the ending (-t-t- > -st-).

The superlative in -išta- is made from the root in the full grade, also with appropriate sandhi (k > c, g > j). Adjectives with suffixes lose the suffixes in this type of superlative.

1. Examples of superlatives in -təma-:

|---|---|
| baēšaziia- "healing" | baēšaziiō.təma- |
| hubaoiδi- "fragrant" | hubaoiδitəma- |
| huδāh- "giving good gifts" | huδāstəma- |
| yāskərət- "competitive" | yāskərəstəma- |
| amauuaṇt- "forceful" | amauuastəma- |
| vərəθrauuaṇt- "resistant, valorous" | vərəθrauuastəma- |
| aṣ̌auuan- "Orderly" | aṣ̌auuastəma- |
| vərəθrajan- "victorious" | vərəθrająstəma- |

Note: aṣ̌auuastəma- and vərəθrająstəma- are analogical after amauuastəma-, vərəθrauuastəma-, etc.

December 15, 2018

2. Examples of superlatives in -išta-:

| | |
|---|---|
| aka- "evil" | acišta- |
| āsu- "fast" | āsišta- |
| pouru- (< **pr̥H-u*-) "much" | fraēšta- (< **praH-išta*-) |
| vaŋhu- "good" (< **vahu*-) | vahišta- |
| driγu- "poor" | draējišta- |
| masita- "long" | masišta- |
| mazāṇt- "big" | mazišta- |
| spəṇta- "beneficial" | spə̄ništa- (< **span-išta*-) |
| šiiāta- "happy" | šiiāišta- |
| taxma- (< **tn̥k-ma*-) "firm" | taṇcišta- |
| namra- "soft, pliable" | nąmišta- |
| srira- (< **sriH-ra*-) "beautiful" | sraēšta- (< **sraiH-išta*-) |
| stura- (< **stHu-ra*-) "stout, strong" | stāuuišta- (< **staHu̯-išta*-) |
| sura- (< **suH-ra*-) "rich in life-giving strength" | səuuišta- (< **sau̯H-išta*-) |
| uγra- "strong" | aojišta- |
| buiri- "much" (< **dbuH-ri*-) | dbōišta- (< **dbəu̯-išta*- < **dbau̯H-išta*-) |

Notes:

The form xraθβišta- "most intelligent" corresponds to xratumaṇt- "intelligent," but is perhaps a "learned" form derived from the noun xratu- or compounds with xratu-.

Forms with double suffix are also found: draējištō.təma- "the most poorest."

VERBS

Middle participles

The middle present participles have the ending -əmna- in the thematic, and -āna- (-ana-) in the athematic conjugations, e.g., athematic: γnāna- < jan-/gn "smash," mruuāna- < mrao-/mru- "speak," aojăna-< aog- "say," hunuuana- < hao-/hu- "press," daθāna- < daδā-/daδ- "place," thematic: yazəmna-, barəmna-.

The thematic participle undergoes the usual changes of the stem vowel in iia-stems, after a palatal consonant, and after -uu-. Examples: mainimna- < maniia-, yezimna- < yeziia- (pass.), hacimna- < haca- "follow," daomna- < dauua- "chatter (lies)."

Often the "regular" forms have been reintroduced in the iia-stems (-imna- ~ -iiamna-), and in the aiia-stems there seem to be no examples of the original forms (in *-aēmna-); only forms in -aiiamna- are attested.

Note the expression uiti aojana-, uitiiaojana- "(thus) saying, with the words."

Past participles

The past participle (Eng. "done, killed") has the ending ta-. The ending is in most cases added to the zero grade of the root of the verb, if possible. Since the ending begins with t, numerous internal sandhi modifications take place:

I. Roots ending in vowels:
   1. Roots ending in diphthong/short vowel: √šao/šu: šuta-.
   2. Roots ending in long vowels, see Roots ending in laryngeal, below.
II. Roots ending in consonants:

1. Roots ending in stops: √vak: uxta-, √dab: dapta-, √band: basta-.
2. Roots ending in sibilants and h: √spas: spašta-, √varz: varšta-, √x<sup>v</sup>ah: x<sup>v</sup>asta-.
3. Roots ending in nasals: √man: mata-.
4. Roots ending in r: √kar: kərəta-, √star: stərəta-.
5. Roots ending in laryngeal: √dā: dāta- (< daH-ta-), √stā: stāta-, √frī: frita- (< frīta-), √hū: huta- (< hūta-), √star: starəta- (< str̥Hta-).

SYNTAX

Use of the genitive. 2

1c. Further examples of the possessive genitive
The possessive genitive is used with the verb "to be" in the sense of English "to have":

mana x<sup>v</sup>arəθəm asti "I have food or it serves me as food."
paṇcanąm ahmi paṇcanąm nōiṯ ahmi "I belong to five. To five I do not belong."
Mazdå aogarə Mazdå xšaθrəm Mazdå astuuå aŋhuš asti nōiṯ drujō
 "To Mazdā belongs the might, to Mazdā the royal command, to Mazdā the existence with bones, not to the Lie." (after Yt.13.12)
A special use of the possessive/objective genitive is seen in expressions of the type "land-lord of the land":

daŋ́hōuš daŋ́hupaitiš zaṇtōuš zaṇtu.paitiš visō vīs.paitiš nmānahe nmānō.paitiš
 "Land-lord of the land, tribe-lord of the tribe, town-lord of the town, house-lord of the house."

2d. Further examples of the partitive genitive

θrišum aētahe šiiaoθnahe baxšəṇti ... naēməm aētahe šiiaoθnahe baxšəṇti ... vispəm aētahe šiiaoθnahe baxšəṇti
 "They distribute one-third of this act; they distribute one half of this act; they distribute all of this act" (V.8.98-100)

yātauuō maṣ̌iiānąm "Sorcerers among men, those of men who are sorcerers." (Yt.8.44)
Miθrō āsištō yazatanąm "Miθra, the fastest of/among gods."
Vištāspō åŋhąm dax́iiunąm āsu.aspō.təmō bauuaṯ "Vištāspa became the one possessing the fastest horses of (among) these lands." (Yt.5.98)

2e. Partitive genitive of time and place
The partitive genitive can be used with adverbs of place ("there, where?") and time ("then, when?"), cf. Latin ubi terrārum "where in the world?!"

dātarə gaēθanąm astuuaitinąm ašāum kuua paoirim aŋ́hå zəmō š́āištəm
 "O Orderly creator of living beings with bones, where firstly in this earth is it (a) most happy (place)?" (V.3.1)

2f. Free partitive genitive
A "free" partitive gen. (French du, etc.) is found with verbs of giving, bringing, partaking, etc.:

yaṯ maṣ̌iiō maṣ̌īm xšudrå auui fraŋhərəzaiti yaṯ vā maṣ̌iiō maṣ̌iiānąm xšudranąm para.gəuruuaiieiti
 "when a man releases (his) semen in a man, or when a man receives (some) semen of men." (V.8.32)

December 15, 2018

A similar genitive is found in negated sentences ("not (any) of ..."):

> *nōiṯ tå paθå fraiiaṇtu pasuuąm nōiṯ *staoranąm nōiṯ narąm nōiṯ nāirinąm
>   "Along those roads shall not go forth (any) sheep, cattle, men, or women!" (after V.8.15)

3b. Genitive with verbs
   Some verbs meaning "rule, govern, control" govern the genitive, as does, apparently, maniia- "think":

> tum āxštōiš anāxštōišca Miθra xšaiiehe daẋiiunąm "You, O Miθra, rule over the peace and non-peace of >   the lands." (Yt.10.29)

> *iδa āθrauuanō daẋiiunąm mainiieṇte vaŋhə̄uš aṣ̌ahe "here the priests think (the thought?) of the good >   Order of the lands." (Yt.13.147)

Note also the expression mānaiiən/mąnaiiən ahe yaθa "like," literally "resembling that like":

> yō imąm ząm āca pairica bauuaiti mąnaiiən ahe yaθa viš aēm
>   "(the sky,) which lies upon and about this earth, like a bird (its) egg." (after Yt.13.2)

5. Descriptive genitive
   There are a few examples of the descriptive genitive (genitivus qualitatis), close to the possessive genitive.

> yaṯ hē puθrō uz.zaiiata visō suraiiå Θraētaonō
>   "... that a son was born to him, Θraētaona of the house rich in life-giving strength" (Y.9.7)
> *tum Zaraθuštrō nmānahe Pourušaspahe
>   "You (are) Zarathustra of the house of Pourušāspa." (Y.9.13)

6. Genitive for dative Genitive forms are sometimes used instead of dative forms, e.g., yasnahe "for the sacrifice (to)" (see Yt.13.147, below).

Use of the past participle
   We have already seen many examples of the past participle being used as an adjective. It also commonly used as apposition, in which case it refers to an action that was completed before the action or state indicated by the main verb of the clause. Also when used as an adjective, it sometimes retains this temporal function.

1. Past participles as apposition > yaṯ barata Aŋrəm Manium fra.mitəm aspahe kəhrpa θrisatəm aiβi.gāmanąm

>   "... that he (Taxma Urupi) rode the Evil Spirit, (having been) transformed, in the shape of a horse, for >   thirty years." (Yt.19.29) > pasca para.iristahe maṣ̌iiehe pasca fra.saxtahe maṣ̌iiehe
>   "After a man having passed away, after a man having passed on." (V.19.28)

2. Past participles with direct (inner) object

The past participle sometimes has active function and can take a direct (inner) object:

upa.tacaṯ Arəduuī Sura Anāhita nizəṇga aoθra paiti.šmuxta
  "Arəduuī Sura Anāhita came running, shod in *high shoes." (Yt.5.64)

mazdaiiasnō zaraθuštriš frauuarānē āstutascā frauuarətascā "I shall choose [subj.] to sacrifice to Ahura Mazdā, being in the tradition of Zarathustra, having allied myself by my praise (to the daēnā māzdaiiasni) and having made my choice." (Y.12.8)

3. Past participles + "to be"

  The past participle is occasionally used with "to be," which, as usual, may be omitted:

cuuaṇtəm zruuānəm maniiauua stiš dāta as "For how long had the (temporal) existence in the world of the maniius been established?" (FrV.2.19)

kaδa nō iδa aṣ̌āum agatō (for: āgatō ahi) aiθiiajaŋhəm ahum ā "When have you come, O sustainer of Order, to us, to (this) existence without danger?" (V.19.31)

  In these constructions the past participle may be combined with a personal pronoun in the gen. indicating possession or agent:

yezica hē aniia aγa šiiaoθna frauuaršta paitita hē ciθa "If he has performed other evil deeds, (then) the penalty (is) absolved." (V.3.21)

Note the combination of a past participle and a verb from the same root (figura etymologica):

yaθa Miθrō hubərətō barata "When Miθra was well treated." (after Yt.10.112) yaṯciṯ huuastəm aṅhiiəiti "even when he shoots an (arrow) well." (Yt.10.21) haθra.taršta θråŋhaiiete "he frightens them then and there." (Yt.10.101) kahmāi āsnąmciṯ frazaiṇtīm haθra.jata [for °jatąm] nijanāni [1 sing. pres. subjunctive]
  "For whom [dat.] shall I strike down then and there nothing but (his) own progeny?" (Yt.10.110)
yō hištaite maniiu.stātō "(the sky) which stands stood in the other world." (Yt.13.2)

4. Adjectival past participles for action nouns

  The past participle is sometimes used where we would use an action noun:

srutå gāθå, lit. "Gāθās being heard," that is, "the Gāθās when heard, at the recitation of the Gāθās." (Nir.7)

EXERCISES 12

8. Translate into Avestan and write in Avestan script:

1. We sacrifice to Sraoša of the rewards, obstruction-smashing, who furthers the world of living beings, Orderly model of Order.
2. We sacrifice to the fravashi of Orderly Gaiia Marətan, as well as that of (yąmca) straightest Rašnu, and that of Miθra with wide grazing grounds,
3. and that of the life-giving sacred word, and that of yonder high heaven, and that of this wide, round earth,—which carries us—
4. and that of the water and the waters, and that of the plant and the plants.
5. The daēuuas overcame one-fifth of all Orderly men and women.
6. Thraetaona smashed one-third of all daēuuas and sorcerers, and sorceresses, tyrants, kauuis, and karapans.
7. This Xwarnah belongs to me (is mine!), Ahura Mazdā, creator of the existence, both the one of thought and the one with bones.
8. That Xwarnah belongs (asti) to splendid Yima with good herds, the protector of beasts—small and large—and men.
9. We sacrifice to these haomas that have been set up. We sacrifice to the barsom that has been spread out.
10. This Orderly man has come here to the best existence.

1. occasionally between stops: patarō for **ptarō* "fathers";
2. between z and r: zarazdāiti- beside zrazdāiti- "faith," cf. OInd. śraddhā-(?);
3. between s and following consonant in word and sentence sandhi (cf. Lesson 4): imåsə tē "these your," yasə θβąm "who you" < yō + θβąm; ańhåsə tanuuō "of this body"; usə.hištən "they stood up" < us + hištən, vīsə.baxtəm "distributed by towns";
4. between two spirants followed by r: vaxəδra-, cf. uxδa-;
5. between v or uu and ii: vaiiemi "I pursue" < **vi̯āmi*; gaēθāuuaiiō = gaēθābiiō; hāuuōiia "left" (opposite of right), hāuuaiiaca (cf. fem. haoiiā-); māuuōiia (cf. OAv maibiiā); xšmāuuōiia < OAv. xšmaibiiā, driuuaiiåsca < driuuī-. More commonly uuii is simplified to uii (and -auuii- > -aoii-);
6. between y or ii and uu: yauua = yuua (< yuuan- "youth"), mainiiauuasah- = maini(i)uuasah- < mainiiu- + asah- "whose place is in the other world";
7. between consonant and ii: apaiia = apiia "in the water" (< āp-/ap- "water").

Consonants before *b

The dative-ablative and instrumental plural, the dative-ablative-instrumental dual, and dative singular of several pronouns have endings beginning with b. In the consonant stems the resulting consonant groups are treated in various ways.

In consonant stems in s, š, and h (< **s*), according to the general rules of assimilation (Lesson 6), the final sibilant was voiced before the b. Due to various specific Avestan sound changes the rules are not so obvious, thus final s (< **ć*) and š (< **s*) before b become ž: s-b, š-b > žb, and, in h-stems, final h is lost with modification of the preceding vowel: -ah-b- > -ōb-, -əb-, as if the ending were a separate word.

A tendency to write the ending as a separate word is also seen in stems in dental stops, where \-atb-* and \-adb- > -aṯ.b-*, e.g., druuaṯ.biiō (-aδbiiō).

In ṇt-stems which retain the n, the group -ṇtb- is reduced to -ṇb- (-mb-).

In p-stems (ap-) the group -pb- is assimilated and simplified, and the intervocalic -b- regularly becomes -β-, e.g., aiβiiō.

In the velar stems we should expect some form from -gb- (-γβ- > -uu-?), but no such forms are attested; instead we find before endings beginning with b what look like nominative forms, e.g., vāγžəbiiō, vāγžibiiō.

Labialization of *ərə

Before u or uu, ərə becomes əru or uru, e.g., **nərəuuiiō* (dat.-abl. plur. of nar-) > nəruiiō, nuruiiō.

NOUNS

Dative

The dative ending in the sing. was \-ai*, which combined with the stem vowel of a- and *ā-*stems to form the ending -āi, but otherwise became -ⁱe, -iie.

The original diphthong remained in sandhi as -aē°. In late manuscripts we sometimes find -ṯ- ‌ instead of -ē- ‌, that is, -aiiaṯca ‌- for -aiiaēca ‌-.

In the dative sing. of ā- stems, an element -aii- is usually inserted before the ending, as in the genitive.

Only gaēθā- most often has the dative gaēθiiāi rather than **gaēθaiiāi*. This is no doubt due to the frequent expression astuuaiθiiāi gaēθiiāi < astuuaitī- gaēθā- "the world of living beings with bones." In metrical texts gaēθiiāi usually counts three syllables.

The i-stems have full grade of the suffix, which shows in the forms with enclitics: -aiiaē°.

December 15, 2018

Young Avestan has no form comparable to the OInd. thematic -āya.

The original ending -iie is only (apparently) preserved in the ending of the ū-stems: -uiie, but this is probably secondary from *-uu̯ie < *-uu̯ai. It is more clearly seen in h-stems, which have the ending -ańhe < *-ahi̯e.

Regular u- and ao-stems have dative in -aoe (< *-aoiie), which in the mss. is often replaced by -auue.

In u²-stems in -tu-, the original ending (*-tu̯ai >) *-θu̯ai became -θβe prior to -u̯ai > *-uu̯ie > -uiie. In stems in -hu- the ending -u̯e combined with the preceding -ŋh- to form -ŋᵛhe (e.g., aŋᵛhe).

The ending of the dat. plur. is -biiō (-biias°), before which the a-stems have the diphthong aē. After vowels this ending became -βiiō and -uuiiō (after -a: -aoiiō), but these forms are found only rarely, having been replaced by the postconsonantic form -biiō.

The forms of the dative dual are obtained by replacing the ending -biiō by -biia, for which we sometimes find -βe or -uue, with -e < -iia (Lesson 4).

The only—apparent—exception is bruuaṭ.biiąm in aṇtarāṭ naēmāṭ bruuaṭ.biiąm "from between the eyebrows" (V.8.41, etc.), of uncertain form and function, the expected word for "eyebrow" being simply **brū*-. Elsewhere aṇtarāṭ naēmāṭ takes the genitive, and -ąm looks like gen. plural. [The similarity with OInd. -bhyām is therefore quite coincidental.]

The endings of the vocalic declensions are:

VERBS

Present stems. The thematic conjugations

In the thematic conjugations all the present stems end in the vowel a, before which the root is modified in various ways. This is an overview of the types of Avestan present stems.

A. Stems with only a added to the root.
1. Root with zero grade: visa- "be ready," hərəza- "release," etc.
2. Root with full grade: cara- "walk," bauua- "become," maēza- "urinate," saoca- "burn," etc. This is the most common type. Some roots of this type may contain old formants, which have no discernible function: stems in \-sa-*: baxša- "distribute" < √bag; stems in -uua-: juua- "live," fiiaŋhuua- "hail," °hauruua- "guard"; expanded by -aiia-: raēθβaiia- (θβ- < -θuu-) "blend," tauruuaiia- "overcome"; stem in -da-: only **xᵛabda-* "to sleep" in ni.xᵛabdaiia- and auuaŋᵛhabda-.
3. Root with long grade: brāza- "shine," frāda- "further," etc.

B. Stems with iia added to the root.
1. The root in principle has the zero grade, but roots of the type $C_1aC_2$ where the $C_2$ is not (usually) r, retain the a and roots in ā just add iia: paiδiia- "lie," spasiia- "look," maniia- "think," uxšiia- "grow," buiδiia- "notice," miriia- "die"; θrāiia- "protect," daiia- (< **dāiia-*) "to place, give."
To this class belong the passive forms in iia, derived from transitive verbs: janiia-, kiriia- "be done," bairiia- "be carried."
2. Denominative verbs (i.e., verbs derived from a noun): aēnaṅ́ha- "to make sinful(?)" < aēnah- "sin, transgression," bišaziia- and baēšaziia- "to heal" < bišaz- "doctor" baēšaza- "medicine," nəmax́iia- "to do homage" < nəmah- "homage," etc.
3. Stems in -aniia: zaraniia- "to become angry," pərəsaniia- "to discuss," probably secondary after viiāxmaniia- "to discuss, debate," denominative of viiāxman- "*verbal contest."

C. Stems with aiia added to the root. All these stems are typically transitive.
1. A few stems in -aiia- are < -āiia- (which sometimes remains): gəuruuăiia- "grasp" (cf. OInd. gṛbhāya-), etc. Some of these verbs have alternate present stems in nā: gərəβnā-, OInd. gṛbhnā-), mitaiia- and miθnā-.
2. Root with zero grade: bərəjaiia- "exalt(?)," saδaiia- "seem, appear" (< √sand), zbaiia- "invoke" (< zbā), etc.

   3. Root with full grade: daēsaiia- "show," baṇdaiia- "bind," darəzaiia- "chain," etc.

   4. Root with lengthened grade: kāraiia- "sow, till," etc.

   Most verbs of this type are causatives and correspond to non-causative stems of other formations: jāmaiia- "make go" ← jasa-, tācaiia- "make flow" ← taca-, etc. A few are derived from roots with long ā: rāzaiia- "to straighten" and have no corresponding non-causative stem.

D. Stems with sa added to the root in the zero (or full) grade. This is a common type in Avestan (= OInd. verbs in -ccha-).

   1. Root with zero grade: jasa- "go, come" (< √gam), pərəsa- "ask," etc.

   Several of these stems have inchoative meaning, that is, "to start becoming something, to become something": tafsa- "to become hot," tərəsa- "to become afraid," etc. In later Iranian, this type became a common passive formation.

   2. Roots in long ā: yāsa- "request."

E. Stems with hiia/šiia added to the root in the full grade. This is the future tense (see Lesson 14): naēšiia- < √naē/ni "lead," vaxšiia- < √vak/vac "speak," etc. The form bušiia- < √bao/bu "become" is irregular.

F. Stem with n infix and a added to the root.

   Some of these are old thematic formations: kərəṇta- "to cut" (< √kart), hiṇca- "to pour" (< √haēc/hic), etc.

   Others are secondary formations of athematic verbs with n infix (see Lesson 16): mərəṇca- "to destroy" (< √mark), viṇda- "to find" (< √vaēd/vid), etc.

G. Stems with reduplication and a added to the root:

   1. With simple reduplication: hišta- "stand" (< √stā), °hiδa- "sit" (< √had), hišmara- "remember" (< √hmar), etc. Some of these may have "conative" function: titara- "try to cross(?)."

   2. With strong reduplication: γžarə.γžara- "rush (of waters)," jaγna- "smash to smithereens." Verbs of this type express repeated or forceful action ("intensives").

H. Stems with reduplication and ha/ša added to the root. These verbs are the so-called desideratives, that is, verbs with the meaning "to wish to do" the action expressed by the simple verb: zixšnåŋha- "to wish to know" < √xšnā, mimarəxša- "to wish to destroy" (< √mark), susruša- "to wish to hear" (< √srao/sru), sixša- "to learn" (< si(š)xša- < √sak; cf. sācaiia- "to teach"), diβža- "seek to deceive" (< di(d)βža- < √dab).

Verbal adjectives in -θa-, -θβa-, and -iia-

   Avestan has some adjectives derived from verbs which express "that which should/can/ought to/is to be done," similar in function to the Latin gerundive.

   One group of adjectives have suffixes -θa- (frequently -δa- by internal sandhi) or -θβa- (-tuua- by internal sandhi), the others have the suffix -iia-.

   The adjectives in -θa- are similar to the past participles and are formed from the same stems: uxδa- "to be spoken" < √vak/vac, θrąfδa- "to be satisfied" < √tarp/θrap, friθa- "to be invited, pleased" < √fraē/fri, yuxθa- "to be harnessed" < √yaog/yug. – The form from drug- "deceive" varies in the mss. between draoxδa- and druxδa- "to be deceived, deceivable."

   The adjectives in -θβa- (-δβa-, -tuua-) are made from roots in the full grade: jąθβa- "to be smashed, smashable," mąθβa- "(thought) to be thought," staoθβa- "to be praised," xšnaoθβa- "to be made favorable," yašəθβa- "to be sacrificed to, worthy of sacrifices," vaxδβa- "(word) to be spoken," varštuua- "(act) to be performed."

        December 15, 2018

The adjectives in -iia- are made from roots in the zero or full grade (like the present stems in -iia-). Some, presumably by analogy, are made from nouns: bərəjiia- "*praiseworthy," išiia- "speedy," karšiia- "that ought to be tilled, plowed," vairiia- "well-deserved, worthy," zaoiia-; yesniia- "worthy of sacrifice" (< yasna-), vahmiia- "worthy of hymns" (< vahma-).

From these adjectives an extended adjective in -u̯ant- could be made (e.g. stərəθβaṇt- "paralyzing"), as well as an abstract noun in -ta- (yesniiata- "worthiness of receiving sacrifices," xšnaoθβata- "worthiness of being made favorable").

Infinitives

Young Avestan has two infinitives, one active, one middle.

The active infinitive is identical with the dative of an action noun in -ti, with the ending -tōe, -taiiaē°, e.g., matōe, uxtōe, varštōe "(in order) to think, speak, act," paitištātaiiaēca "and in order to withstand." It is sometimes not clear whether we have an infinitive or an action noun.

The only exceptions are the verbs ah- "be," aē- "go," and mrao- "speak," which have the infinitives stē, ite, and mruite.

The middle infinitive ends in -δiiāi. This infinitive is formed from the present stem, vazaiδiiāi "(in order) to be conveyed."

SYNTAX

Uses of the dative

The dative of animate nouns usually denotes the indirect object, that of inanimate nouns usually expresses purpose (final dative).

1. Indirect object.
The main function of the dative is to express the "indirect object." Indirect objects are found with transitive verbs, most often accompanying a direct object:

maṣ̌iiaēibiiō x^varənō baxšəṇti "They distribute Xwarnah to men." (after Yt.6.1)
haomō aēibiiō zāuuarə aojåsca baxšaiti "Haoma gives to these endurance and strengths." (Y.9.22)
ahmāi daēnąm daēsaiiaṯ ahurō "Ahura showed him (his) daēnā." (Yt.11.14)

A specialized use of this dative is the "dative of the standpoint":

aēša kaine ptərəbiiō irišiieiti "This young woman is harmed in the eyes of (her) fathers." (after V.15.12)

Note the use of the dative in the commentaries on the holy prayers with the verbs cinasti and para.cinasti "he assigns/refers" (one word to another):

para.cinasti vispəm mąθrəm vispahmāi (mss. vispəm) mąθrāi "He refers every 'sacred word' to 'every sacred word'." = "When he says 'sacred word' he means 'all sacred words'" (?). (Y.20.3)

2. Dative as "agent"
The dative is found with verbal adjectives with passive meaning or meaning "which should be done (by sb.)":

Arəduuī Sura Anāhita yesniia aŋ^vhe astuuaite vahmiia aŋ^vhe astuuaite "Arəduuī Surā Anāhitā worthy to be sacrificed to by the bony existence, worthy to be made into hymns by the bony existence." (after Yt.5.1) — cf. Arəduuīm Surąm Anāhitąm yazamaide "we sacrifice to Arəduuī Surā Anāhitā."

Miθrō yō nōiṯ kahmāi aiβi.draoxδō [ms. F1] "Miθra, who is not to be deceived by anybody." (Yt.10.17)

tāca vohū yazamaide yā aṇtarəstā yesniiāca vahmiiāca frāiiašəθβa naire ašaone "and we sacrifice to all good things that are in between, (which are) worthy of sacrifice, hymns, and should be sacrificed to by the Orderly man." (Yt.13.153)

3. Final dative

The dative is also used to indicate purpose (final dative), often in connection with a verb of movement and often together with a dative of the person for whose benefit it happens.

Examples:

jasa mē auuaṅhe "Come to me for (my) assistance!"

amāica θβā vərəθraɣnāica māuuōiia upa.mruiiē tanuiiē θrimāica "(Haoma,) I invoke you for both strength and victory for me, for (my) body, and for prosperity." (Y.9.27)

xšnumaine Ahurahe Mazdå Aməšanąm Spəṇtanąm "to win the favor of Ahura Mazdā (and) the life-giving Immortals." (Y.22.23)

4. Dative of time

The dative is found in some time expressions:

haca maiδiiāṯ uzaiiarāṯ [abl.] hū frāšmō.dātᵊe "from mid-afternoon to sunset" (Nir.32.2) yauuaēca yauuaētātaēca "forever and eternity, forever and ever."

θβarštāi zrune "until (?) the set time/date." (Yt.5.129)

5. The use of thematic dative endings for thematic genitive endings

Occasionally the thematic dative ending -āi is used instead of the genitive ending:

Θraētaonō jaṇta ažōiš dahākāi "Θraētaona, smasher of the giant dragon." (V.1.17)

zaota Ahurāi Mazdāi zaota aməšanąm spəṇtanąm "the priest of Ahura Mazdā, the priest of the life-giving Immortals." (Yt.10.89) staoma daθušō Ahurāi Mazdāi aməšanąmca spəṇtanąm "The praises of the creator, Ahura Mazdā, and the life-giving Immortals." (Yt.13.157; cf. Yt.15.44; V.19.4)

paiti jahikaiiāi kəhrpəm vadarə jaiδi vs. paiti ažōis kəhrpəm vadarə jaiδi

"Strike (your) weapon against the body of the whore ~ the dragon!" (Y.9.32, 30)

Although it is possible that the ending -ahe developed into -āi in the dialect of some transmitter, I think it is more probable that these are merely wrongly written-out abbreviations, e.g., až. dah., Ah. Ma., jahik. Such abbreviations are occasionally found in the manuscripts, but no study has yet been made of them.[4]

Other mistaken uses of dative forms include the following example, where the dative is used for the locative (Lesson 17):

tąm yazata ažiš θrizafå dahākō Baβrōiš paiti dańhauue (for **dańhauua*)

satəm aspanąm aršnąm hazaŋrəm gauuąm baēuuarə anumaiianąm

"The giant three-mouthed dragon sacrificed to her in the land of Baβri, (with) a hundred stallions, a thousand bulls, ten thousand rams." (Yt.5.29)

[4] See Hoffmann, Aufsätze I, p. 600 n. 15; Tremblay, 1997, p. 159 on V.15.45.

6. The use of genitive for dative

   Not infrequently we find genitive forms where we would expect the dative. One possible reason for this vacillation may be that the texts were collected from oral performers in the Achaemenid period, at a time when the Young Avestan language was still mostly understood but the Old Persian language had lost the distinction between genitive and dative and the dative forms had mostly been lost.

   More likely, perhaps, the redactor had in mind similar formulas in the genitive in other texts.

> dazdi ahmākəm taṯ āiiaptəm yasə θβā yāsāmahi sura
>    "Give us that boon which we ask from you, O you rich in life-giving strength!" (Yt.10.33)

   In the litanies the dative and genitive alternate without obvious difference in meaning, but the genitive is probably elliptic ("sacrifice of") and the dative a dativus commodi "for (the sake of)":

> Hāuuanϑe ašaone ašahe raϑβe yasnāica vahmāica xšnaoθrāica frasastaiiaēca* > raϑβąm aiiaranąmca asniianąmca māhiianąmca yāiriianąmca sarəδanąmca > yasnāica vahmāica xšnaoθrāica frasastaiiaēca
>    "For the Orderly Hāuuani, Model of Order, for (its) sacrifice, hymn, satisfaction, and glorification.
>    For the sacrifice, hymn, satisfaction, and glorification of the Models of the days, days, months, >    seasons, and years." (Y.1.23)

Uses of the infinitive

   The inifinitive is usually dependent upon other verbs and often expresses purpose. Sometimes the direct object of an infinitive is in the dative (cf. OInd. vṛtrāya hantave "in order to smash Vṛtra/the obstruction"):

> hāu hācaiiaṯ ašauuanəm Zaraθuštrəm > anumatϑe daēnaiiāi anūxtϑe daēnaiiāi anu.varštϑe daēnaiiāi*
>    "He (A.M.) induced Orderly Zarathustra to *help the daēnā along with his thought, words, and actions."
>    (after Yt.5.18)

> *xšaiiete hē pascaēta aēšō yō ratuš θrišum aētahe ciθaiiå (mss. ciθå) apaŋharštϑe "Afterward, this one >    who (is) the ratu has the authority to remit one-third of this one's punishment." (V.5.26) > yō ništaiieiti kərətϑe sraošiiąm išarə hā ništāta kiriiete "He who (when he) orders punishment to be >    inflicted, (then) it is done (as) soon (as it is) ordered." (Yt.10.109) > *yasca aētaēšąm mazdaiiasnanąm imą vacō nōiṯ visaite fra.mruite
>    "And he among these Mazdayasnians who is not prepared to say forth these words" (from Y.8.4) > nōit mašiiō gaēθiiō stē aojō maniiete dušmatəm
>    "No man in the existence of living beings considers bad thought to be a strength." (Yt.10.106) > ašauuanəm tē āfiieiδiiāi mraomi "I tell you a sustainer of Order is to be obtained (from a sustainer of >    Order)." (Y.71.13) > frā gauue vərəṇdiiāi mazdaiiasna zaraθuštraiiō ā hīm vaēδaiiamahī raθβaēca miiazdaēca* "In order for >    the cow to be chosen, O Mazdayasnians, Zarathustrians, we make her known to the model and the >    solid offering." (Vr.4.2)

Occasionally the function of the infinitive is unclear:

> *yō janaṯ Hitāspəm ... vazaiδiiāi "Who slew Hitāspa while(?) driving (in a chariot)." (after Yt.15.28)

5. Translate into Avestan and write in Avestan script:

1. He assigns power to Order.
2. He assigns Order to the sustainer of Order.
3. He assigns Order to us, the Revitalizers.
4. I call upon the life-giving Orderly Gāθās, whose power is from the Models; I call (upon them) for me for my own soul, for protection, for watching, for guard, for overseeing.
5. I established O Zarathustra Spitamid, yonder star Tištriia for yonder witch, the one of bad seasons, for (her) resistance, for (her) obstruction, for (her) overcoming, for responding to her animosities.
6. To whom among us does he give that gift for ever and ever?
7. Zarathustra, do not show this poem other than to a father or a son or a brother german.
8. Whom did you consult with, you, O Ahura Mazdā? Whom did you show the daēnā belonging to Ahura Mazdā and Zarathustra?
9. Then Ahura Mazdā said: (With) beautiful Yima with good herds, O Orderly Zarathustra, him I consulted with, I, Ahura Mazdā, him I showed the daēnā belonging to Ahura Mazdā and Zarathustra.
10. Then for Yima, for (his) rule, three hundred winters passed (= came together); then this earth became full for him of small and large animals and men.

LESSON 14

PHONOLOGY

Lengthening of a and shortening of ā.

Changes in vowel length that are found frequently throughout the corpus and therefore must be genuine linguistic features include shortening of ā > a and lengthening of a > ā, both in initial and internal position:

  a is lengthened:

    for rhythmic reasons (?) in initial syllable in:

      *āiia < aiia in the expression āiia zəmā "throughout this earth," *ākərən- < akərən- "did" (augmented form, see Lesson 19), ārəitimca (= ašimca, P.39), āfrasåŋha-, āfrasåŋᵛhaṇt- < a-fra-sāh- "uninterrupted," āsitō.gātu- < a-sita- "who has not lain on a bed";

      xštāuuaiiō vs. xštəuuiβiiō;

    after ii in mašiiāka- for **mašiiaka-* and mašiiānąm for **mašiianąm*.

  ā is shortened:

    often before ii: aiiaoš < āiiu-, OInd. āyu-; zaiia-, OInd. jāya-;

    probably before uu in nauuāza-, cf. OInd. nāvājá-; sometimes in the middle participle in -āna- and other words in -āna-: aojana-, stauuana-, etc.; gaoδana-;

    in initial syllable when an enclitic is attached to the word: apəmca < āpəm; haθrəmciṯ < hāθrəm (N.91), starasca < stārō; zauuarəca < zāuuarə (Y.71.8);

    in the course of declension or when receiving suffixes in antepenultimate or earlier syllables or when the word was unaccented (e.g., vocative): azinąm from āzī- "fertile/pregnant (cow)" (FO.3h), pazaŋᵛhaṇt- "(broad-)chested" *< *pāzah-* "chest," Spitāmō but Spitama, Spitamahe; Sauuaŋ́he but Sāuuaŋ̄he; aδauuō < āδu- "grain"; occasionally elsewhere: apuθrā- "having no sons" (V.3.24) or "pregnant" *< *āpuθrā-* (V.15.5, 8).

    Note: The first three changes are common also in eastern Middle Iranian (Sogdian and Khotanese).

  ā becomes āa or a in the thematic ending of the ablative -āṯ, which becomes -āaṯ before enclitic °ca > -āaṯca, but (not consistently) -aṯ before the postposition haca > -aṯ haca (but always ašāṯ haca, and some others).

Consonant alternations: š ~ rət

The letter <š> was originally designed to represent the combination of unvoiced allophone of r (hr) + following t (see Lesson 3). It must therefore originally have alternated in regular fashion with rət, but in the extant texts we only see remnants of this alternation, such as in aša- "Order" ~ astuuaṯ.ərəta- "he through whom Order will have bones" (Vocabulary 3) and ašim "reward" ~ ārəitimca (P.39), beside ašimca.

NOUNS

Ablative

The characteristic ending of the ablative singular is -ṯ, before which the stem vowel of the a-stems is lengthened to give -āṯ. This ending—with the preceding -aii-—was also used by fem. ā-stems. There are no examples of abl. sing. of masc. ā-stems.

In the other declensions the ablative is obtained by substituting -ṯ for the original -h (-s°)/-š of the genitive, e.g., bərəzaṇt- "high": bərəzatō (< °-ta-h) ⟹ bərəzata-ṯ; gairi- "mountain": garōi-š ⟹ garōi-ṯ; barəsman- "barsom": **barəsman-h* (> barəsmą̇) ⟹ **barsman-t > barəsmən*; nar- "man": **nr̥-š* (> narš) ⟹ **nr̥-t* (> nərə-ṯ).

Sometimes we find -a added to the ending (-āδa, -aēδa[?], -məṇda) with the specific meaning "all the way to, up to and including(?), throughout": xšaθrāδa "throughout (Yima's) reign," paitiš.xᵛarənāδa "up to and including the jaw(?)," drujō vaēsməṇda "(all the way) to the entrance hall (vaēsman-) of the Lie" (Yt.10.86).[5] Forms in -aēδa are less certain (perhaps **aiβišitaēδaca* and **upašitaēδaca* in Yt.19.6 < °šiti-, but āxštaēδa in V.3.1 could also be a verbal form < ā-stā- rather than from āxšti-).

[The ablative singular was originally identical with the genitive in all declensions except the a-declension. In Young Avestan, however, there are no certain examples of genitive forms used as ablative.]

The ablative plural and dual are identical with the dative plural and dual.

The endings of the sing. are:

| | a-stems | ā-stems f. | ī-stems | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | -āṭ, -āδa | -aiiāṭ | -iiāṭ | | |

Notes:

The masc. paṇtā- has the thematized abl. sing. paṇtaṭ.

The ā-stem haēnā- has dat.-abl. plur. haēnəbiiō in Yt.10.93 in anticipation of the following draoməbiiō < draoman- "*incursion."

The fem. ušā- has abl. sing. ušaiiāṭ.

The aē-stem Raγaē-/Raji- has the abl. sing. Rajōiṭ (Y.19.18).

The form ziiānaiiaēca in Y.12.2 may be for ziiānaiiaṭca (cf. auuaṭbiiō for auuaēibiiō, lesson 13), instead of ziiānōiṭca(?).

Note: The abl. sing. of nāh- "nose" is nåŋhanaṯ (haca), cf. gen. sing. åŋhānō < āh- "mouth."

iiah-stems

Comparatives in -iiah are declined like regular h-stem, with long stem only in the nom. sing. masc. and nom.-acc. plur. neut. Not all forms are attested. Examples (maziiah- "greater," frāiiah- "more (numerous)," āsiiah- "faster"):

|          | m.          | n.       |

| nom.-acc. | āsiiaŋha  |        |

ADJECTIVES

Feminine of h-stems

The feminine of h-stem adjectives is formed by adding -ī- to the (weak) stem, e.g.: yātumanahī-; *maziiehī < maziiahī-, but *vahehī- < vahiiahī-; daδušī- < daδuuah-/daδuš- (perfect participles, see Lesson 20).

The comparative

Comparatives are made with the suffixes -tara- or -iiah- (< -i̯ah-). These two kinds of comparative correspond to the two kinds of superlative in -təma- or -išta- (Lesson 12).

The comparative in -tara- is formed by attaching this ending to the stem of the adjective with appropriate sandhi before the ending. Adjectives with ablauting suffixes take the weak stem (cf. the superlatives, lesson 12).

The comparative in -iiah- is made from the root in the full grade, also with appropriate sandhi. Adjectives with suffixes lose these in this type of comparative.

1. Examples of comparatives in -tara- (cf. the corresponding superlatives in Lesson 9):

| amauuaṇt- "forceful" | amauuastara- | amauuastəma- |
| baēšaziia- "healing" | baēšaziiō.tara- | baēšaziiō.təma- |
| hubaoiδi- "fragrant" | hubaoiδitara- | hubaoiδitəma- |
| huiiašta- "well sacrificed to" | huiiaštatara- | |

| vərəθrajan- "victorious" | vərəθrająstara- | vərəθrająstəma- |
| yāskərət- "competitive" | yāskərəstara- | yāskərəstəma- |

Note: See also on the superlative, Lesson 12.

2. Examples of comparatives in -iiah-:

| aka- "evil" | aśiiah- (< *ač-i̯ah-) | acišta- |
| | | |
| āsu- "fast" | āsiiah- | āsišta- |
| pouru- "much" (< *pr̥H-u-) | frāiiah- (< *praH-i̯ah-) | fraēšta- (< *praH-išta-) |

PRONOUNS

Pronouns in the ablative

Personal pronouns:

| | 1st | 2nd | 3rd pers. = "this" | |
| | | | masc., neut. | fem. |
| Sing. | maṯ | θβaṯ | ahmāṯ, ahmaṯ | aṅhāṯ |
| Plur. | ahmaṯ | yušmaṯ, xšmaṯ | aēibiiō | ābiiō |

The demonstrative pronoun ima- "this" = 3rd pers.

The demonstrative pronoun auua- "that"     The demonstrative pronoun aēta- this":

| | masc., neut. | fem. | masc., neut. | fem. |
| Sing. | auuahmāṯ | auuaṅhāṯ | aētahmāṯ | - |
| Plur. | auuaēibiiō | | - | - |

The relative pronoun ya- "who, which":    The interrogative pronoun ka- "who, what?":

| masc., neut. | | fem. | masc., neut. | fem. |
| yahmā̆ṯ | yeṅhāṯ | | - | - |
| yaēibiiō | yābiiō | | kaēibiiō | - |

VERBS

The future

The future stem is formed by adding the suffix -sịa- > -hiia-/-šiia- to the root in the full grade (with appropriate sandhi). Exception: √bao has the zero grade bŭ-. The future is rare in Avestan.

Examples:

|  | Root | Present stem | Future |
|---|---|---|---|
| -hiia- | √dā "give, place" | daδā- | dāhiia- |
|  | √van "win" | vana- | vaṅha- (< vaŋ-hiia-) |
|  | √zan "be born" | zaiia- (< zṇH-ịa-) | ząhiia- (< zanH-hiia-) |
| -šiia- | √naē "lead" | naiia- | naēšiia- |
|  | √sao "make full of life" | sāuuaiia- | saošiia- |
|  | √hao "press (haoma)" | hunauu-/hunu- | haošiia- |
|  | √varz "perform" | vərəziia- | varəšiia- (< varz + šiia-) |
|  | √harz "release, filter" | hərəza- | harəšiia- |
|  | √bao "become" | bauua- | bušiia- |

SYNTAX

Uses of the ablative

1. The ablative of movement away from

The basic function of the ablative is to express movement away from.

> *aēša druxš yā nasuš upa.duuąsaiti apāxəδraēibiiō naēmaēibiiō
> "This demoness, the Nasu, *attacks from the northern regions." (V.7.2) > durāṭ haca ahmāṭ nmānāṭ durāṭ haca aṅhāṭ visaṭ durāṭ haca ahmāṭ zaṇtaoṭ durāṭ haca aṅhāṭ daṅhaoṭ > aγå iθiiejå vōiγnå yeiṇti
> "(May) the evil dangers (and) scourges go far away from this house, far away from this village, far away from this tribe, far away from this land." (Y.57.14)
> yā amauuaiti fratacaiti Hukairiiāṭ haca barəzaŋhaṭ aoi zraiiō Vouru.kašəm
> "... who, powerful, flows forth from tall Hukairiia to the Vourukaša sea." (Yt.5.96)

Note the genitive + ablative with us.stao- " to remove someone (gen.) from something (abl.) through praise of it" (?):

> *us gə̄uš stuiiē tāiiāaṭcā hazaŋhaṭcā > *us mazdaiiasnanąm vīsąm ziiānaiiaṭcā [ms. ziiānaiiaēcā] vīuuāpaṭcā
> "By my praise of the cow I remove (it) from theft and violence, > (by my praise) of the houses of Mazdayasnians (I remove them) from damage and devastation." (Y.12.2)

2. The ablative expresses comparison "than" > auua dāmąn yazamaide yā həṇti paoiriiō.dāta paoiriiō.fraθβaršta* > ašnāaṭca apāaṭca zəmāaṭca uruuaraiiāaṭca gaoṭca huδåŋhaṭ

> "We sacrifice to those creatures who are those created first, fashioned forth first > (earlier than) the sky, the water, the earth, the plant, and the cow giving good gifts" (after Vr.7.4)

Note the use of the ablative after forms of aniia-, "other than":

*aniiō ahmāṯ "other than he (who)"
*aniiō θβaṯ yaṯ Zaraθuštrāṯ "Other than you, Zarathustra." (V.2.2)

3. The ablative of yielding
   The ablative is used to express that before which one yields, gives in to, flees from (cf. pairi, parō in no. 5):

   θβaēšāṯ frā.nǝmaite "He yields before hostility"

4. The ablative of time and place
   The ablative (often with -a) is used to express time and place throughout which, all the way up to:

   yaṯ kǝrǝnaoṯ aṅhe xšaθrāδa amarš̌aṇta pasu vira
      "... that he made throughout his reign animals and men indestructible." (Y.9.4) asnāaṯca xšafnāaṯca tātå āpō auua.barǝṇte "Day and night the falling waters pour down." (Yt.5.15)
   zǝmāδa uzuxš̌iieiṇti uruuarå "Plants grow up all over the earth." (Yt.13.10)

5. The ablative with pre-/postpositions
   The ablative is used with the pre-/postpositions aδairi "(just) under," ā to express "all the way to," haca "from, acc. to" (also with "fear"), paiti "at, beside, next to, from," parō "before" (also: to bow/flee/yield before) and "because of," pairi "from" (to protect from, prevent from):

   aδairi **kaš̌āibiia* [ms. kaš̌aēibiia] "under the armpits" (N.67)
   *aš̌āṯciṯ haca "According to Order."
   aš̌āṯ haca yaṯ vahištāṯ "According to (what is) best Order."
   ā vahištāṯ aṇhaoṯ ā vahištāṯ aš̌āṯ ā vahištaēibiiō raocǝbiiō "All the way up to the best existence, to the best Order, to the best lights." (Y.19.6)
   nasiieiti haθra frakǝrǝsta ahmaṯ haca nmānāṯ āhitiš "The pollution disappears from this house as soon as it is produced." (Y.10.7)
   haca āθraṯ haca apaṯ haca barǝsmǝn frastairiiāṯ haca nǝrǝbiiō aš̌auuabiiō*
      "(Away) from the fire, from the water, from the barsom that is to be spread out, from the Orderly men." (after V.3.16-17)
   haca hū vaxšāṯ ā hū frāšmō.dātōiṯ* "From the *blazing up of the sun until the setting of the sun." (Yt.5.91) frauuaš̌aiiō ... yå haca Gaiiāṯ Marǝθnaṯ ā saoš̌iiaṇtāṯ vǝrǝθraɣnaṯ "(We sacrifice to) the fravashis .. from (that of) Gaiia Marǝtan to (that of) the victorious Revitalizer." (Y.26.10)
   frastarǝtāṯ paiti barǝsmǝn uzdātāṯ paiti haomāṯ raociṇtāṯ paiti āθraṯ srāuuaiiamnāṯ paiti Ahunāṯ Vairiiāṯ
      "Beside the barsom spread out, beside the haoma set up, beside the blazing fire, beside the Ahuna Vairiia as it is recited." (Yt.10.91, Afr. 4.5)
   frā nō nipāhi āi Sraoš̌a aš̌iia huraoδa pairi druuataṯ mahrkāṯ pairi druuataṯ Aēšmāṯ pairi druuaṯbiiō haēnǝbiiō ... Aēšmahe parō draomǝbiiō*
      "You protect us, O well-shaped Sraoš̌a with the rewards, from destruction (caused by those) possessed by the Lie, from Wrath possessed by the Lie, from (enemy) armies possessed by the Lie, from the *incursions of Wrath!" (after Y.57.25)
   yōi maiδiianąm parō xᵛarǝtōiṯ gāθå nōiṯ srāuuaiieiṇti
      "(those) who do not recite the Gāθās because of consumption of intoxicating beverages." (N.11)

December 15, 2018

But note pairi + acc. with āiiasa- "take":

gaomaēzəm aiiasōiš zaraθuštra gaom pairi uxšānəm "you shall take (opt.) urine from a bull: (V.19.21)

Note the ablative of person and thing in:

hō nōiṯ tarštō frānāmāite θβaēšāṯ parō daēuuaēibiiō "he does not yield, frightened, before the hostility (coming) from the *daēuua*s" (Y.57.18; cf. locative in Lesson 19)
nipātū pairī daēuuāaṯcā ṯbaēšaŋhaṯ maṣiiāaṯcā
"Let it protect us from daēuua and man (and their) hostility" (Y.58.2)

6. Genitive forms for ablative

There are a few genitives that are used—apparently—for the ablative. It is doubtful, however, that we are dealing with archaisms from the time when the gen. = abl. More probably we have to do with late mistakes.

taršta təmaŋhō duuarənti "Frightened they run (all the way down) into (their) darkness." (Y.57.18)
haca kauuōiš Haosrauuaŋhahe "From Kauui Haosrauua." (Yt.15.32)
An abl. **kauuōiṯ* is not attested.
apaduuaraṯ Aŋrō Mańiiuš haca zəmaṯ yaṯ paθanaiiå skarənaiiå duraēpāraiiå
"The Evil Spirit ran away from the wide, round earth with distant borders." (Yt.17.19)
Cf. the correct forms Yt.10.95 ańhå zəmō yaṯ paθanaiiå skarənaiiå dūraē.pāraiiå.
raēkō mē haca ańhå zəmaṯ vaŋhō kərənaoiti
"He who shall win(?) makes me exiled from this good earth" (Yt.17.20)
vaŋhō may be fut. of van- "win," nom. sing. masc., see Lesson 17.

7. Dative forms for ablative

We sometimes see dative forms in -āi or genitive forms in -å instead of ablative in -āṯ. As vacillation between the endings is seen in the manuscripts, this is probably a matter of scribal error.
Examples:

paoiriiąm gərəząm gərəzata Ašiš vaŋᵛhi yā bərəzaiti haca apuθrō.zańiiāi jahikaiiāi
"The first complaint good Aši the exalted complained about the non-child-bearing wicked woman."
(after Yt.17.57)
auua paδō ... dāraiiaδβəm dāitiianąm šiiaoθnanąm varəzāi pairi aδāitiianąm varəzāi
"Apply your feet ... to the performance of lawful deeds, (keep them) away from the performance of unlawful ones!" (Vr.15.1)
yahmāṯ kahmāṯciṯ (mss. kahmāṯciṯ and kahmāiciṯ) naēmanąm vātō āθrō baoiδim vī.baraiti ahmāṯ kahmāiciṯ naēmanąm paiti.jasaiti ātarš Ahurahe Mazdå
"From/to whatever side the wind disperses the fragrance of the fire, from/to that side the fire of Ahura Mazdā goes." (after V.8.80)

Note also:
V.13.31:
aētahmāciṯ L4, K1 (Pahlavi Videvdad, 13th cent.),

Comparison with yaθa "as, than"

Comparison can also be expressed with yaθa "than," notably when the thing compared is not a noun or pronoun. To emphasize the comparative function, ahmāṯ may be added before yaθa.

Example:

> āaṯ Yimō imąm ząm vī.šåuuaiiaṯ aēuua θrišuua ahmāṯ masiiehim yaθa para ahmāṯ as
>   "Then Yima made this earth go apart by one-third [instr.] larger than it was before." (V.2.11)
> āaṯ dim dadąm auuå̄ṇtəm ... yaθa mąmciṯ yim Ahurəm Mazdąm
>   "Then I made him just as great as (I made) myself, Ahura Mazdā." (Yt.10.1)

Uses of the future

The functions of the future are similar to those of the prospective subjunctive (see Lesson 15): imminent future, intention, or obligation.

Examples:

> haomanąmca harəšiiamnanąm yōi harəšiieṇte raθβe bərəzaite yaṯ Ahurāi Mazdāi ašaone
>   "And of the haoma (plants) which are to be filtered, which are about to be filtered for the exalted Model, Ahura Mazdā, the sustainer of Order." (Vr.12.1) > *nōiṯ huškō huškāi sraēšiiete "Dry (matter) shall not be mixed into dry (matter)" (V.8.34) > zātanąmca ząhiiamnanąmca "Of those born and those to be born." (Y.4.5) > vispaca huuaršta šiiaoθna yazamaide varštaca varəšiiamnaca "And we sacrifice to all well-performed acts, both those (already) performed and those going to be performed." (Y.57.4) > *zaoθranąm uzdātanąm uzdātanąm uzdāhiiamnanąm "Of the libations that have been set up, those that have been (already) set up and those going to be set up." (Vr.9.1)

> haoma sūra spəṇta ašauuana > *ašaiia uzdāta ašaiia uzdāhiiamna > *ašaiia aiβi.vaēδaiiamna ašaiia aiβi.vaēsiiaṇta [ms. aiβi.vaēδiiaṇta]* > *ašaiia hunuuana ašaiia haošiiaṇta
>   "the haomas rich in life-giving strength, life-giving, Orderly, >   (those) which are set up in Orderly fashion and (those) which will be set up in Orderly fashion, >   being *allocated in Orderly fashion and (those) which will be *allocated in Orderly fashion, >   (those) which are being pressed in Orderly fashion and (those) which will be pressed in Orderly fashion..." (Vr.9.3)
>     Note the thematic forms of athematic stems.

LESSON 15

WORD FORMATION

We have already seen numerous examples of nouns and adjectives derived from other nouns and adjectives by various means, mainly by suffixes, prefixes, or composition. Here a systematic list of the most common suffixes and their functions is given.

Nouns

-ah-: This common suffix makes nouns from verbal roots: man- "to think" > manah- "thought," vas- "to wish" > vasah- "a wish."

-ana-: This suffix is commonly used to make nouns from verbs, occasionally from adjectives: haṇjam- "come together" > haṇjamana- "a gathering," vah- "dress, don" > vaŋhana- "garment"; the function of the suffix in vahmana- "performance of hymns" or adjective "caused by the hymn(?)" (Vr.21.3) is unclear.

　Note the three rhyming nouns masăna-, vaŋhăna-, sraiiăna- "greatness, goodness, beauty"(< masita-, vaŋhu-, srira-).

-ka-, -kā-: This suffix, which became extremely productive in later Iranian languages (as in Sanskrit), is relatively rare in Avestan: jainī- "woman" > jainikā-, mašiia- "man" > mašiiāka-, nāiri- "woman" > nāirikā-.

-na-: This suffix makes nouns from verb roots: yaz- "to sacrifice" > yasna- "a sacrifice," fras- "ask" > frašna- "question," xᵛap- "to sleep" > xᵛafna- "a sleep."

-ta- m.: This suffix makes (learned?) neuter abstract nouns from adjectives: yesniia- "worthy of (receiving) sacrifices" > yesniiata-, ašauuan- > ašauuasta-, and from verbal roots: staota- "*praise" (in staota- yesniia-) and sraota- "*hearing" (Vr.21.3).

-tar-: This common suffix makes agent nouns from verbal roots: dā- "to establish" > dātar- "establisher, Creator," zao- "to libate" > zaotar- "libator," bar- (act.) "to carry" > barətar- (< bartár-) "carrier," bar- (mid.) "to ride" > bāṣar- (< bár-tar-) "rider."

-tāt- f. "-dom, -ty": This suffix makes abstract nouns from adjectives. It is very common: hauruua- "whole" > hauruuatāt- "Wholeness," upara- "superior" > uparatāt- "superiority," yauuaē "eternal" > yauuaētāt- "eternity."

-ti- f.: This extremely common suffix makes action nouns from verb roots (weak stem): stu- "to praise" > stuiti- "praising," cit- "to make one's mark, be brilliant(?)" > cisti- "insight, illumination"(?).

-θβa- n.: This suffix makes nouns from a few nouns and adjectives: aŋhu- ratu- > aŋhuθβa- ratuθβa- "ahu-ship, ratu-ship," vaŋhu- "good" > vaŋhuθβa- "goodness."

-θra-, -θrā-: These suffixes usually make nouns denoting tools (occasionally products) from verb roots: vah- > vastra-, vak- > vaxəδra-, vaz- > važdra- (< u̯ajʰ-tra- < u̯eĝʰ-), zao- > zaoθra-, zaoθrā-, az- > aštrā- (< aj-tra- < aĝ-).

-θā-: This rare suffix makes nouns from verb roots: gā- > gāθā-, ci- > ciθā-.

Adjectives

-a-: This suffix replaces the thematic vowel of a- and ā-stems and is added to all other stems. i-and u-stems may or may not take full grade of the stem suffix (aii, auu): maniiu- > maniiauua-, Naru*- > Narauua- "son/descendant of Naru." Some words take vriddhi: kauui- > kăuuaiia-; huzaṇtu- "of good tribe" > haozą̇θβa- "belonging to a good tribe," husrauuah- "having good fame" > haosrauuaŋha- "good fame,"

-aēna-, f. -aēinī-: This suffix is used to make adjectives of nouns denoting material: aiiah- "bronze" > aiiaŋhaēna- "(made) of bronze," baβra*- "beaver" > baβraēna- "(made) of beaver-skin," ərəzata- "silver" > ərəzataēna- "(made) of silver." On the fem. forms in -ī-, see Lesson 12.

-ăna-, -āni-: These suffixes denote "son/descendant of": Jāmāspa- > Jāmāspana-, Āθβiia*- > Āθβiiāni-.

-i-: This suffix makes adjectives from nouns, among them patronyms: Zaraθuštra- > zaraθuštri-. It is usually accompanied by vriddhi of the first syllable: ahura- > āhuiri- "belonging to Ahura (Mazdā)," hauuana- "haoma pressing" > hāuuani- "(time of day) pertaining to the haoma pressing," vərəθraγna- "victory, god of victory > vārəθraγni- "victorious," mazdaiiasna- > (dānā-) māzdaiiasni- (māzdaiiesni-) "the daēnā of the Mazdayasnians."

-ina-: This suffix makes adjectives of a few nouns: vacah- > vacahina-, maēša- "sheep, widder," maēšī- "ewe" > maēšina-. — Note especially adjectives from nouns denoting time divisions: ham- "summer" > hamina-, rapiθβā- "noon" > rapiθβina-, ušah- "dawn" > ušahina-, uzaiiara- "afternoon" > uzaiieirina-; but zaiiana- "of winter."

-ta-: This suffix makes adjectives from a few nouns: *hukərəp- > hukərəpta-, pᵃtarə "wing" > patarəta- "winged."

-θa-: This suffix makes verbal adjectives (Lesson 14).

-θβa- (-tuua- after sibilant): This suffix makes verbal adjectives (Lesson 13).

-θβaṇt- (-tuuaṇt- after sibilant) < -t-uuant-, see -uuant-.

-θiia-: This suffix makes adjectives from prepositions: aiβi > aiβiθiia-, pasca > pascą̇θiia-.

-uuan- m.: This is a rare suffix: ašā̆uuan- "sustainer of Order, Orderly" < aša- (fem. ašaonī- and ašāuuairī-; before suffixes, ašā̆uuan- has weak stem ašauuat-, e.g., ašauuas-ta-); āθrauuan- (weak stem aθaurun-), title of a priest.

-uuaṇt-/-maṇt- (after u): These common suffixes make adjectives from nouns meaning "equipped with, containing": drug- > druuaṇt-, xratu- > xratumaṇt-. With preceding -t-: star- "to stun" stərəθβaṇt- "stunning, paralyzing," para.pat- "fly away" > para.paθβaṇt- "flying far away."

-iia-: This common suffix makes descriptive adjectives from nouns: haoma- > haomiia "related to the haoma," xšaθra- "command, power," > xšaθriia- "commanding," ratu- > raθβiia- "according to the ratu-," vis- > visiia- "pertaining to the vis-."—It also makes verbal adjectives (Lesson 14).

-ra-: This common suffix makes descriptive adjectives from verbal roots; note that adjectives in -ra- lose this suffix before the comparative and superlative endings, as well as when first member of compounds, where it is commonly replaced with -i- (so-called Caland forms): uγra- "strong" ~ aojiiah-, aojišta-; tiγra- "pointed, sharp" ~ tiži.aršti- "with sharp spear."

NOUNS

Instrumental

The ending of the instrumental sing. is -a, except in i- and *u-*stems, which have -i and -u (beside -uua). The plur. ending is regularly -biš, except in *a-*stems, which have the ending -āiš.

In the *ā-*declension the element -aii- is again inserted before the ending in the sing.

The modifications in connection with the plural ending -biš are the same as in the dative-ablative.

> Note: The Sanskrit ending -ena is not found in Avestan.

Note that, in Young Avestan, the instrumental plural commonly takes the ablative-dative ending -biiō instead of the genuine instrumental endings!

Paradigms:

Vowel stems

|  | a-stems m., n. | ā-stems f. | ī-stems | i-stems |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | haoma | daēnaiia | vaŋhuiia | paiti |
| Plur. | haomāiš | daēnābiš | vaŋᵛhibiš | - |

|  | u-stems | u2-stems | m. ū-stem |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | vohu | xraθβa | hizuua |
| Plur. | auuaŋᵛhiš, vaŋhuš, yātuš | | hizubiš |

Notes:

The instr. sing. of nouns and adjectives in -iia- should become -ⁱe, which is probably seen in xᵛaēpaiθe (mostly corrupted in the mss.) < xᵛaēpaiθiia- "own."

Instead of -uua we find -uuō in u-stems (Rašnuuō, xruui.druuō, bāzuuō), and ū-stems (hizuuō).

Feminine ā-stems may occasionally have instr. sing. in -a (e.g., iža Y.60.7; daēna V.18.9, H.1.4).

The masc. ā-stem paṇtā- has instr. sing. paθa.

In Avestan, only -āiš is attested as inst. plur. ending of a-stem nouns. There is no ending corresponding to OPers. -aibiš and OInd. -ebhiḥ, except the pronoun aēibiš (see below).

The instr. plur. form auuaŋᵛhiš (< auuaŋhu- "un-good") is < **auuaŋhuuiš* < **aṷaŋhuβiš*; vaŋhuš and yātuš, if genuine, must be for **vaŋhuuiš* < **vaŋhuβiš* and **yātuuiš* < **yātuβiš*. Note also ažišca in Yt.5.90, coordinated with instr. plur. forms in -āiš(ca). The ending -iš in the n-stems (see below) may also have influenced these forms.

aē- and ao-stems

|  | raē- | yao- |
|---|---|---|
| Sing. | raiia | yauua "ever" |

Consonant stems

|  | vak-/vac- | druj- | ap- | zam- | vis- |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | vaca | druja | apa | zəmā | visa |
| Plur. | vaγžibiš | - | - | - | - |

Note: The form zəmā is monosyllabic (**zmā*), hence the vowel is long. It is found in the expression paiti āiia zəmā "on this earth." On vaγžibiš, see Lesson 13.

r-stems

|  | nar- |
|---|---|
| Sing. | nara |
| Plur. | - |

n-stems

|  | an-stems | man-stems | | uuan-stems |
|---|---|---|---|---|
|  | m. | m. | n. | m. |
| Sing. | uruna | Airiiam(a)na | maēsmana | - |
| Plur. | suniš | | nāməniš | ašaoniš |

The instr. plur. forms nāməniš, ašaoniš, and suniš are irregular. The regular forms should end in -biš or, at least, -βiš or -uuiš. It is probable therefore that the forms **nāməuuiš* and **ašauuəuuiš*, compared with the other oblique plur. forms, instead of being remade into **nāməbiš* and **ašauuəbiš*, were simply felt to lack an n, which was substituted for the intervocalic, "irregular," uu. This produced forms that looked like they were made from the weak stem with the ending -iš, which may then have spread by analogy. In ašaoniš the regular weak stem was then also reintroduced.[6]

The original instr. plur. of span-/sun- "dog" must have been **spaβiš*, **spauuiš*, **spaoiš*/**spəuuiš* (< **spabiš* < **k̂u̯n̥-bhis*), which was remade, for obvious reasons, after the pattern of ašaoniš: weak stem + -iš.

| Sing. | bərəzata | - | surunuuata, stərəθβata |  | gaomata |
| Plur. | - | - | - |  | yātuma̧tbiš |

The form surunuuata "with audible (sacrifice)" is the only form of this word and can be from surunuuan̥t- or surunuuata- (cf. yazata-). Other uuant-stems include the pronominal adjectives auuan̥t- "this much/great," auuauuan̥t- "that much/great," and yauuan̥t- "as much/great," with instr. auuata, auuauuata, and yauuata, which is also a conjunction "for as long as."

n̥k-stems
The forms parāca, fraca, vica, tarasca are probably to be analyzed as para, etc., + -ca in most instances, but occasionally they seem to be instr. sing. of n̥k-stems (parān̥k-, viian̥k-).

š-stems
A few stems end in -iš or -uš. The nouns are all neuter, but a few compounds have fem. forms.
Paradigms (snaiθiš- "blow," hadiš- "seat," nasuš- "carrion," arəduš- a degree of sin):

The subjunctive

The forms of the subjunctive are very similar to those of the indicative. Generally speaking the subjunctive is obtained from the indicative by lengthening the thematic vowel of thematic conjugations and adding a thematic vowel in athematic conjugations. The subjunctive forms of athematic verbs are therefore formally often indistinguishable from thematic indicative forms. To further distinguish between the two moods, athematic verbs frequently adopt thematic subjunctive endings.

The principal difference in the endings is the n in the 1st sing. instead of m. The subjunctive uses indiscriminately primary or secondary endings in the active.

SYNTAX

Uses of the instrumental

The main use of the instrumental is to express means and instrument and in expressions signifying "according to, with respect to, because of."

1. The instrumental of means

Kərəsāspō aiiaŋha pitum pacata
"Kərəsāspa cooked his noon meal in (< by means of) a metal (pot)." (after Y.9.11)
ana θβā yasna yazāne*
"I shall sacrifice to you with this sacrifice." (common formula in the *yašt*s) *vispaca vohu mazdaδāta ašaciθra āiiese yešti
"And I muster by my sacrifice all good things established by Ahura Mazdā (and) which hail from Order."
*vispəm ašauuanəm aiia *ratufriti huuāuuaiiaŋhəm jasəṇtəm paiti.barāhi* humatāišca huxtāišca huuarštāišca
"You shall receive every Orderly one coming *with good strength(?) with this satisfaction of the Models (and) with well-thought (thoughts), well-spoken (words), and well-performed (deeds)." (Y.55.4)
yō Aēšməm stərəθβata snaiθiša vixrumaṇtəm xᵛarəm[a] jaiṇti
"He who smites Wrath with a stunning weapon a bloody wound." (Y.57.10)
    a. See Lesson 8, Accusative no. 5.

*yazəṇta θβąm mazdaiiasna pasubiia staoraēibiia vaiiaēibiia patarətaēibiia
"The Mazdayasnians sacrificed to you with small and large livestock, with small(?) birds and large(?) birds." (after Yt.10.119)
yō imąm ząm aiβi.vərəziieiti Spitama Zaraθuštra hāuuōiia bazuuō dašinaca dašina bāzuuō hāuuaiiaca upa hē gaonəm baraiti
"He who tills this earth, O Spitama Zarathustra, with the left arm and the right, with the right arm and the left, she brings him profit." (V.3.25)
*xᵛaēpaiθe (mss. °paiθa) hizuuō "With one's own tongue" (Yt.19.95)

Note constructions with figura etymologica:

*aṇtarəca druuaṇtəm āmruta aiia aṇtarə.uxti
"And he 'interdicted' the one possessed by the Lie by this interdiction." (Y.19.15)

        December 15, 2018

2. The instrumental of reason, cause

yō gāθå asrāuuaiiō[a] ąsta vā tarō.maiti vā tanum piriieiti
 "He who (goes) without reciting the Gāθās out of evilness or because he despises them, forfeits his body." (N. 41)
  a. Nom. sing. masc. of the pres. part., see Lesson 17.

3. Instrumental of respect

masanaca vaŋhanaca sraiianaca
 "In size, goodness, and beauty." (Yt.19.58, etc.)
āaṯ dim daδąm auuåṇtəm yesniiata auuåṇtəm vahmiiata yaθa mąmciṯ yim Ahurəm Mazdąm
 "Then I made him just as great in sacrifice-worthiness, as great in hymn-worthiness as myself, Ahura Mazdā." (Yt.10.1)
*āaṯ Yimō imąm ząm vī.śåuuaiiaṯ aēuua θrišuua
 "Then Yima made this earth go apart by one-third." (V.2.11)

4. Instrumental of accompaniment and separation
 The instrumental is used with the verb "to follow" and in the expression (sarəm) vī.mrao- "to say off (association with), to say one will have nothing to do (with)," and some other expressions of separation, deprivation:

*yaṯ vispe aniie maδåŋhō Aēšma haciṇte xruui.druuō
*āaṯ hō yō Haomahe maδō aṣ̌a hacaite uruuāsmana (x*ᵛ*aēṛaiθe)*
 "because all other intoxications are accompanied by Wrath with the bloody club, while that intoxication of the haoma is accompanied by Order (as its) enjoyment (as its own)." (Y.10.8, Yt.17.5)
vī daēuuāiš aγāiš sarəm mruiie
 "I swear off association with the evil *daēuua*s." (Y.12.4) *(Miθrəm ...) yim driγušciṯ *aṣ̌ō.ṯkaēšō* [ms. °ṯkaēša] apaiiatō hauuāiš dātāiš bāδa ustānazastō zbaiieiti auuaŋ́he
 "(Miθra ...) whom especially the poor (man) whose guidance is Order, deprived of his rights, ever and again, with hands upstretched, invokes for help" (Yt.10.84)

5. Instrumental with prepositions
 The instrumental is used with prepositions such as haδa "together with," haθra "with," maṯ "with," paiti
"down to, close to," upairi "above":

*āca paraca pərəsaite haδa *Miθra haδa Rašnuuō
 "He deliberates back and forth with Miθra and Rašnu." (Yt.14.47)
*həṇtəm ā.staoiti haθra ana gāθβiia vaca
 "He praises the present (haoma) with this Gathic word." (Y.10.19)
us mē pita haomāi draonō frǝrǝnaoṯ Ahurō Mazdå aṣ̌auua haŋᵛharǝne maṯ hizuuō hōiiūmca dōiθrǝm
 "My father, Orderly Ahura Mazdā, sent forth as food offering to me, Haoma, the jaw together with the tongue, as well as the left eye." (Y.11.4)

aiiaŋhaēnāiš kərətāiš azdibiš paiti auua.kərəṇta "With metal knives, cut (it) down to the bones!"
 (V.4.50)
θβā paiti zī haxəδrəm daiδe vahištəm vərəθraγnəmca ahuraδātəm
 "For in/near you I get best company, as well as Victory established by Ahura Mazdā." (Yt.10.80)

*upairi aniiāiš srauuāiš
  "Above (all) other words." (V.5.22)

Note the wrong endings (genitive and ablative) with haδa in this sentence:

*darəγəmciṯ aipi zruuānəm upa surąm frašō.kərəitim haδa suraiiå vaŋhuiiå frašō.kərətōiṯ
  "For a long time after, up to the Perfectioning, rich in life-giving strength, together with the good Perfectioning, rich in life-giving strength" (Y.62.3)

6. Instrumental plural with dative-ablative endings

*yō yuiδiieiti māzaniiaēibiiō haδa daēuuaēibiiō
  "Who fights with the giant *daēuua*s." (Y.57.17)

frastuiiē humatōibiiascā huxtōibiiascā huuarštōibiiascā mąθβōibiiascā vaxəδβōibiiascā varštuuōibiiascā aibigairiiā daiθe vispā humatācā huxtācā huuarštācā paitiriciiā daiθe vispā dušmatācā dužuxtācā dužuuarštācā
  "I praise (them = the Models) with well-thought (thoughts), well-spoken (words), and well-performed (acts), with the (thoughts) to be thought, with the (words) to be spoken, with the (acts) to be performed;
  I accept as worthy of being praised in song all (thoughts) well-thought, (all words) well-spoken, (all acts) well-performed;
  I accept as worthy of being relinquished all (thoughts) badly thought, (all words) badly spoken, (all acts) badly performed." (Y.11.17)
    Note the OAv. features of this text: the long final vowels; the ending -ōibiias° = -aēibiias°; intervocalic b and g in aibigairiiā.

Uses of the subjunctive
  The 1st person subjunctive usually means "I want to do, let me do." In general, the subjunctive is used about the future in questions and in a variety of subordinate clauses.

1. Subjunctive 1st person

pairi dim (for šē?) tanauua azəm yō Ahurō Mazdå uruuānəm haca vahištāṯ aŋhaoṯ*
  "I, Ahura Mazdā, shall stretch (spin?) his soul away from the Best Existence." (Y.19.7)
*azəm tē gaēθå frāδaiieni azəm tē gaēθå varəδaiieni azəm tē visāne gaēθanąm θrātāca harətāca aiβiiāxštaca
  "I shall further your herds, I shall make your herds grow, I shall be ready to be the protector, overseer, and supervisor of your herds." (V.2.5)
uta azəm apa.barāni uua šuδəmca taršnəmca haca Mazdå dāmabiiō
  "And let me remove both hunger and thirst from Mazdā's creations." (Yt.9.10)

2. Subjunctive in questions (deliberative subjunctive)

*kana yasna θβąm yazāne
  "With what sacrifice shall I sacrifice to you?"
kō mąm stauuāṯ "Who shall praise me?"
kō hō aŋhaṯ ... yō ... "Who shall he be ... who ...?"

3. Subjunctive in subordinate clauses

āaṯ yō nā hiš hubərətå barāṯ ... hō aŋhāiti zazuštəmō
   "Then the man who treats them well ... he shall be the most successful one." (Yt.13.18)
yaṯ yauuō daiiāṯ āaṯ daēuua xᵛīsən
   "When the barley is made (= formed), then the demons (start to) sweat" (V.3.32)

aom jaiδiiaṯ auuaṯ āiiaptəm dazdi mē Vaiiuš yō uparō.kairiiō yaṯ nā[a] nōiṯ nijanāṯ arša Airiianąm daẋiiunąm xšaθrāi haṇkərəmō Haosrauua
yaθa azəm uzaiieni haca kauuōiš Haosrauuaŋhahe[b]
   "(Auruuasāra) asked him: "Give me that boon, O Vaiiu of superior work, that the stallion of the Ariian lands may not strike *us/me down, Haosrauua, the ... for command, that I may get the better of Kauui Haosrauua!" (Yt.15.32)
      a. nā appears to be either for nō "us" or for mā "me." – b. Gen. for abl.
yauuata zaota yazāite ... kuθra bauuāṯ hitō.hizuuå yezi anarəθe yazāite ... kuθra tå friiō bauuąn
   "... as long as the libator sacrifices (to you, O waters) . ...
   Where shall the one with bound tongue be if he sacrifices in *unorderly fashion? ...
   Where shall those friendships/satisfactions be ..."
   (Y.65.9)

4. Subjunctive of exhortation (3rd person)
   The subjunctive is used in the 3rd person to express exhortation or duty, especially in ritual instructions:

auuaδa aētaδa aētahe šiiaoθnahe yaθa vaēθəṇti
yaθa aētahmi aŋhuuō yaṯ astuuaiṇti satō.virəm vaēməm anusō paiδiiāite aošaŋᵛhaiθiiåsə tanuuō masiiō vā ahmāṯciṯ
   "There and here (he is guilty) of this act as they shall know (him to be worthy of such punishment as) when in this bony existence [loc.], let him fall unwillingly onto a rock a hundred men high —(having forfeited?) his mortal body—or more than that." (V.4.52)

6. Translate into Avestan and write in Avestan script:

1. Zarathustra asked Ahura Mazdā: With what sacrifice shall I sacrifice to you? With what sacrifice shall I send my sacrifice forth to you?
2. With what sacrifice shall I sacrifice, with what sacrifice shall I send my sacrifice forth to this creation of (yours), Ahura Mazdā?
3. He who sacrifices to you, O good waters, the ladies of the lord, with the best libations, with the most beautiful libations, with libations skillfully strained, with correctly spoken words,
4. give to him, O good waters, possessions and fortunes, as well as to me, the libator who is sacrificing to (you).
5. Thus he spoke, the Evil Spirit giving bad gifts, full of destruction: Zarathustra smashes me with the Ahuna Vairiia, with so great a weapon as (is) a stone the size of a house.
6. He scorches me with the best Order, just like with molten metal.
7. Zarathustra promised (= threatened) the Evil Spirit: O evil-doing Evil Spirit giving bad gifts, I shall smash the creation created by the daēuuas.
8. I shall smash the carrion established by the daēuuas. I shall smash the witch Xnąθaiti.
9. (I) for whom shall be born the victorious Revitalizer from the water (of the) Kąsaoiia, from the eastern region, from the eastern regions.
10. I say I will have nothing to do with the daēuuas, evil, ungood, Order-less, (and) evil-doing. I say I will have nothing to do with the daēuuas, with those possessed by the daēuuas, with sorcerers, with those possessed by sorcerers.

zazuštəma- superlative of zazuuah-/zazuš-, act. perf. part. of √zā (see Lesson 20): who wins the most, most successful

LESSON 16

WORD FORMATION

Prefixes

There are basically two types of prefixes, those attached to nouns and adjectives and those attached to verbs. Since, however, many verb forms are used with nominal function (nouns, adjectives), the verbal prefixes are often found in nouns and adjectives as well.

Mostly nominal prefixes

The exclusively nominal prefixes usually make adjectives from nouns:

a-, an- before vowels, ə- before uui (Lesson 5):
  This prefix is used to negate nouns and adjectives (including those made from verbs): a- + srušti- "hearing" > asrušti- "non-hearing, lack of hearing," a- + raθβiia- "according to the models" > araθβiia- "not according to the models," a- + ašauuan- > anašauuan- "not Orderly," a- + vista- "found" > əuuista- "unfound, not to be found," a- + viδuuah- "knowing" > əuuiδuuah- "ignorant."
  It also makes adjectives from nouns to express "lacking sth.": a- + karana- "border" > akarana- "endless, unlimited," a- + aγra- "tip, front" > anaγra- "without beginning."
arš-, OAv. ərəš-, ərəž-: This prefix means "correct(ly)." It modifies nouns and makes adjectives from nouns: arš.manah- "(having) correct thought," aršuxδa- "(sth.) to be spoken correctly," beside which the OAv. form ərəžuxδa- is also used.
maṭ.-: This prefix makes adjectives from nouns to express "together with, posessing": maṭ.āzaiṇti- "with *explanations," maṭ.raθa- "possessing chariots."
hu-: This prefix means "good." It modifies nouns: hušiti- "good dwelling" — and makes adjectives from nouns: humanah- "having good thoughts."
duš-, duž-: This is the opposite of hu-: dužiti- "bad going," dušsaŋha- "having bad (evil) announcements."

Mostly verbal prefixes

The principal verbal prefixes are the following (some are also used with nouns, especially from prefixed verbs):

aiβi-, auui- "to, toward": aiβi.vaēna- "to look upon, catch sight of," aiβi.druža- "to lie to," (paiti.)aiβi.vōiždaiia- "to brandish (back) upon," auui.bara- "to bring to."
aiti- "to, into": aiti.jasa- "go up to, into," aiti.bara- "carry up to, into."
anu- "along (with)": anu.marəzata- "to follow close," anu.taca- "run along with," anu.maniia- "(help) along with one's thought(?)."
apa- "away": apa.taca- "to run away," apa.bara- "to take away."
auua- "down": auua.jasa- "to come down," auua.jana- "to strike down, kill."
fra-, frā- "forth": frā.bara- "to bring forth, present," frā.hunao- "to press forth," fra.mrao- "to say forth," fra.var- "to choose (to be)." With a following ər we have frə̄-: frə̄rənao- "to send forth(?)."
ham-, hąm-, haṇ-, həṇ- "together": ham.pərəsa- "to deliberate," haṇjasa- "to come together," haṇbara- "to carry together, collect" (verbs with this preverb are commonly middle).
ni- "down": nijan- "to strike down," nidaθa- "to lay down, place" niš.hiδa- "sit down," nišāδaiia- "set down, establish."
niš-, niž- "out, away": niž.bara- "to take out, take away," niž.duuara- "to run out."
para-, parā- "away": para.iriθiia- "to pass away," para.jasa- "to go away to(?)."
paiti- "toward, against, in turn": paiti.aog- "to answer," paiti.jasa- "to come toward."
pairi- "around; at a distance, away":
  pairi.jasa- "to go around, serve," pairi.vaēna- "to encompass with one's sight," pairi.maniia- "to despise," pairi.štā- "to stay away."

upa- "(up) to": upa.taca- "to come running," upa.zbaiia- "to send one's invocation to, invoke," upa.daržnao- "to dare, trust oneself to, venture upon."
us-, uz- "up, above": us.pata- "to fly up," us.zaiia- "to be born," uz.daδā- "to set up," uz.gəuruuaiia- "to take up."

Nouns/adjectives and verbs:
  aṇtarə- "inside":
    aṇtarə.arəδa- and aṇtarə.naēma- "interior";
    aṇtarə.mrao- "to 'say away,' refuse to have anything to do with, interdict"; noun aṇtaruxti-
      "interdiction."
  aipi- aipi.aβra- "clouded(?)" (< aβra- "cloud").
    "back": aipi.kərəṇta- "cut back, off(?)," aipi.jan- "to strike back, down(?)."
  ā- (a-): With verbs, this prefix expresses motion, usually toward the speaker, occasionally toward the spoken of: ā.jasa- "to come hither," ā + bara- > auuara- "to bring." It is sometimes not clear whether we are dealing with an abbreviated ā- or the augment (see Lesson 19); with nouns: axšafni "in the evening(?)" and asūiri "in the morning(?)" (Yt.14.20).
  tara-, tarō "beyond":
    taraδāta- "established beyond (others);
    tarō.maniia- "despise, scorn"; noun tarō.maiti-.
  vī- "apart, aside":
    vī.daēuua- "keeping the demons away";
    vī.jasa- "to go in all directions," vī.śāuuaiia- "to make go apart."

    Note Yt.10.144: aiβi.dax̌iiu-, aṇtarə.dax̌iiu-, ā.dax̌iiu-, upairi.dax̌iiu-, aδairi.dax̌iiu-, pairi.dax̌iiu-, aipi.dax̌iiu- "(Miθra) being near, inside, close to, above, below, around, behind the land (the world)," presumably describing the sun and Miθra's journey above and below the earth.

NOUNS

r/n-stems

    A small number of common neut. n-stems have nom.-sing. in -r, among them: aiiar/n- "day, a day-and-night?," azar/n- "day," baēuuar/n- "10,000," huuar/n- "sun," karšuuar/n- "continent," miθβar/n- "couple, pair," θanuuar/n- "bow," uruθβar/n- "intestines," yār- "season, year."
    In the following paradigms thematic and other secondary forms are in parenthesis.

|  | yār- | huuar/n- | azar/n- | aiiar/n- | karšuuar/n- |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  |  |  |  |  |

Notes: *yār- < *yaH-r̥, yå < *yaHah < yaHṇs? — hū is formed like the acc. of masc. uua-stems (Lesson 7):
*hū < *huu̯ū < *huu̯ā < huu̯aŋ-h. Similarly, gen. -ą is < -aŋh.
    In the manuscripts, forms such as aiią and aiiąn (also aiiąm) are usually not distinguished.

PRONOUNS

Special pronominal forms

Pronouns are basically inflected according to the a- and *ā-*declensions. They have some special characteristic endings, however, which are:

in the neuter nominative-accusative singular the ending -aṯ;
in the masculine nominative plural the ending *-e < *-ai*;
in the genitive plural m. -aēšąm f. -åŋhąm;
in the dative, ablative, locative singular masculine and neuter an element -hm- is inserted before the ending, in the dative and ablative singular feminine an element -ŋ́h-.

Another typical feature of pronouns is "suppletion," that is, the declensions are made up of different stems, e.g., ima- and a- both belong to "this," etc.

A few pronominal adjectives are inflected like the pronouns. Note:
neuter nom.-acc. sing. aniiaṯ (but vispəm), masc. dat. sing. aniiahmāi, vispəmāi (< **vispəm̥āi?*), masc. nom. plur. aniie, vispe,
masc. gen. plur. aniiaēšąm, vispaēšąm, fem. åŋhąm.

Reflexive and reciprocal pronouns

There are three forms meaning "own": xᵛa- (huua-), hauua-, and xᵛaēpaiθiia-. xᵛa- is declined as a pronoun, hauua- and xᵛaēpaiθiia -as adjectives. xᵛa- and hauua- have the following forms:

|  | m., n. | f. |
|---|---|---|
| Sing. |  |  |
| nom. |  | xᵛā |
| gen. | xᵛaŋ́he, xᵛahe (xᵛāi) | xᵛax̀iiå |
| dat. | huuāuuōiia |  |
| inst. | xᵛā |  |
| Plur. |  |  |
| inst. | xᵛāiš |  |
| loc. | xᵛaēšu (FrW.) |  |

Note: huuāuuōiia is < **hu̯aβi̯a*, like *māuuōiia < *maβi̯a*.

|  | m. | n. | f. |

| nom.-acc. | hauuåŋhō | | |
| gen. | hauuanąm | | |
| inst. | hauuāiš | | |
| loc. | | | hauuāhuua |

The pronoun "self" ("of oneself, by oneself") is xᵛatō.

Reciprocity is expressed by aniia- (...) aniia- "one another, one ... another/the other."[7]

Indefinite pronouns

Indefinite pronouns are formed by repetition or by adding -ciṯ to the interrogative pronouns or by a combination, e.g., kahmāiciṯ "to whomsoever," kahe kahiiāciṯ "of each and everyone," kahmi kahmiciṯ "in each and every," kaṅhe kaṅhe "in each and every." Indefinite relative pronouns: yaṯciṯ "whatever, whenever"; indefinite adverbs: kuuaciṯ "wherever."

The indefinite particles -ca and -cina (< \-cana*) are less common, e.g., cišca "whoever, everyone" kaθacina "how-ever."

The negative indefinite pronouns are identical with the interrogative pronouns prefixed with the negation, e.g., naēciš "nobody," māciš "let nobody":

|  | m. | f. |
|---|---|---|
| Sing. | | |
| nom. | kasciṯ | kāciṯ |
| acc. | kəm kəmciṯ | kąmciṯ |
| gen. | kahe kahiiāciṯ (Y.61.4) | **kaṅhåsciṯ* (N.84) |
| dat. | kahmāiciṯ | |
| loc. | kahmi kahmiciṯ | kaṅhe kaṅhe |

PARTICLES

Emphatic particles

Besides forming indefinite pronouns, the enclitic particle -ciṯ is used in the meaning "even, too." The particle -cina probably has a similar meaning.

Other particles include:

bā of uncertain meaning ("well").[8]

-iṯ: *cōiṯ, bōiṯ, nōiṯ, *mōiṯ* (Yt.10.69?), apōiṯ (N.8), frōiṯ, parōiṯ, yaδōiṯ (V.6.27) < *-ca, bā, *na, mā, apa, frā, parā, yaδa* + -iṯ;

-δa: naēδa "nor" < nōiṯ, māδa "and (do) not" < ma, bāδa, bāṯ < bā;

-uua: nauua "and not, or not," nauuāṯ < nauua + āṯ.

VERBS

Present stems. The athematic conjugations

In the athematic conjugations the present stems end in a consonant or in a vowel, short or long (laryngeal stems). All athematic stems show ablaut. There are the following types.

A. Root stems consist of the root itself, modified by ablaut and internal sandhi, e.g., ah-/-/s- "be," aē-/-i- "go," jan-/ja-/γn- "smash," vas-/us-/uš- "wish," srao-/sru- "hear," stao-/stu- "praise," mrao-/mru- "say," naēd-/nid- "blame, revile."

B. Reduplicated stems are identical with the root stems plus reduplication. The reduplications are of three types: with a short vowel; with a long vowel or a diphthong; or with a whole syllable: consonant + vowel + consonant.
 1. Reduplicating syllable with short vowel, e.g., daδā-/daδ- "place, give," diδāi-/- "see," hišhak-/hišc- (< hi-šak-) "follow," cikaē-/- "pay for."
 2. Reduplicating syllable with long vowel or diphthong or two consonants ("intensives"). Few forms are attested, e.g.,zaozao-/zaozu- "constantly call upon," carəkar-/carəkərə- "constantly sing sb.'s praise," darədar-/darədərə- "tear to pieces," sąsaŋh- "constantly announce."

C. Stems with n-infixes are originally roots of the type √CVC or √CVCC which formed their present stems by infixing -n(a)- before the last consonant CV-na-C-/CV-n-C-. The root itself is always in the zero grade, while the suffix shows ablaut. There are three main types, those from roots ending in -u̯, a laryngeal -H, or in another consonant.
 1. Stems from roots ending in a consonant other than u̯ or H, e.g., cinah-/ciš- "*indicate, refer" (< ci̯š-) [√caē-s/ci-s, present stem *ci-na-h/s-/ci-n-š-; cf. t̯kaēša-], mərənak-/mərəṇk- "destroy" [√mark, present stem *mr̥-na-k-/mr̥-n-k-], vinaδ-/viṇd- "find" [√vaē-d/vi-d, present stem vi-na-d-/vi-n-d-], irinak- [√raē-k-/ri-k-, present stem *ri-nak-/ri-n-k- "leave"].
 2. Stems from roots ending in H were originally of the type CV-na-H-/CV-n-H-. In Indo-Iranian, the laryngeal combined with the infix -na- to produce the suffix -nā-/-n-, e.g., frinā-/frin- "invite as guest(?)" (√fraē/fri < *fri-H, present stem *fri-na-H-/fri-n-H-), miθnā-/- "dwell" (√maēθ/miθ < *mit-H, present stem *mit-na-H-/mit-n-H-), pərənā-/pərən- "fill" [√par/pərə, present stem *pr̥-na-H-/pr̥-n-H-].
 3. Stems from roots ending in u̯ were originally of the type CV-na-u̯-/CV-n-u̯-. The u̯ combined with the infix -na- to produce the suffix -nau-/-nu-, e.g., surunao-/surunu- "listen, hear" [√srao/sru, present stem *sr̥-na-u-/sr̥-n-u-]. — Frequently this stem is formed from roots that do not end in u̯, however, so descriptively we are dealing with a suffix -nao-/-nu-, e.g., kərənao-/kərənu- "do" (√kar) ašnao-/ašnu- "reach" [√Hnas < *Hnać, present stem *Hṇs-nau-/Hṇs-nu-], s(i)rinao-/- "lean" [√sraē/sri, present stem sri-nau-], tanao-/tanu- "stretch" [√tan, present stem *tn̥-nau-/tn̥-nu-].

Notes:
 Athematic stems are frequently thematicized, e.g., mərəṇca-, miθna-.
 In the 3rd plural indicative, some verbs had the zero grade (-aiti, -aṯ), which was probably caused by an original stress on the syllable before the ending. These endings are rare in Young Avestan, where the (thematic) full grade is common.

Athematic verbs: special forms

Athematic verbs have two special endings seen in only a few verbs: āh- "to sit," saē- "to lie (lay, lain)," mrao- "to speak," and nijan- "to strike down." These are pres. ind. 3rd sing. -e and 3rd plur. -re or -āire.
The attested forms are:

|  | āh- | saē-/sōi- | (fra.)mrao-/mru- | ni.jan-/γn-: |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | āste | saēte | mruiie | niγne |
| Plur. | åŋhāire (åŋhəṇte) | sōire (saēre) | mrauuāire | niγnāire |

Notes:
  mrauuāire is presumably for mruuāire.
  For niγnāire, most mss. have niγrāire and similar forms (Hintze 2005).
  In the Videvdad, the mss. have forms such as saere and sairi for saēre.

Verb inflection. The passive

The passive stem is made with the suffix -iia- attached to the zero grade of the root, occasionally the full grade. It is usually inflected as a middle verb, but active forms also occur. In the 3rd person sing. and plural present, it is sometimes not possible to decide from the manuscript readings whether the original forms are in -ti, -ṇti or -te, -ṇte (see Kellens, Verbe, pp. 129-30).
Note the regular sound changes, especially -ci̯- > -š(ii), -ti̯- > -θii-, -pi̯- > -fii-,
Examples:

| Grade | Root | Present stem | Passive |
|---|---|---|---|
| zero | √kar "do" | kərənauu-/kərənu- | kiriia- |
|  | √kart "cut" | kərəṇta- | kərəθiia- |
|  | √sao "make prosper" | sāuuaiia- | suiia- |
|  |  |  |  |
| full | √āp "reach" | apaiia- | āfiia- |
|  | √bar "carry" | bara- | bairiia- |
|  | √jan "smash" | jan- | janiia- |
|  | √vaz "convey" | vaza- | vaziia- |
|  | √xᵛar "eat" | xᵛara- | xᵛairiia- |
|  | √yaz "sacrifice" | yaza- | yeziia- |

Notes:
  The 3rd plur. pres. of āfiia- is written āfəṇte in the mss instead of the expected āfiṇte.
  The 3rd plur. pres. of yeziia- is yaziṇti (often spelled yazəṇte!)

SYNTAX

Uses of the instrumental 2

7. Plural of n- and r/n-stems with epithets in the instrumental

One of the still unexplained syntactic peculiarities of Young Avestan is the use of either nom.-acc. fem. plur. forms or instr. plur. neut. forms of adjectives with nom.-acc. plur. forms of n-stems. Less often we find nom.-acc. masc. forms.[9] Examples:

pauruuå dātå dāmąn ašaoniš daθušō Ahurahe Mazdå raēuuatō xᵛarənaŋᵛhatō yazamaide
   "We sacrifice to the first-established Orderly creations of the creator, Ahura Mazdā, wealthy and fortunate." (Y.16.3)

karšuuąn yāiš hapta
   "The seven continents."
Tištrim ... yazamaide yim vispāiš paitišmarənte yāiš spəṇtahe mainiiə̄uš dāmąn aδairi.zəmāišca upairi.zəmāišca yāca upāpa yāca upasma
   "We sacrifice to Tištriia, ...., whom all the creatures of the Life-giving Spirit commemorate, both those under the earth and those above the earth, both those that are in the water and those that are in the earth." (Yt.8.48)
Vaēm uparō.kairim yazamaide taraδātəm aniiāiš dāmąn
   "We sacrifice to Vaiiu, whose work is above, placed beyond the other creations." (Y.25.5)
nəmasə tē Ahura Mazda θrišciṭ parō aniiāiš dāmąn
   "Hail to you, O Ahura Mazdā, (as much as) three times over (more than to) the other creations." (Ny.1.1)

Uses of aniia- ... aniia-

This phrase is used to express reciprocity:

ṭkaēšō aniiō dātō.rāzō āaṭ aniiō uparō.kairiiō
   "one a 'teacher', and the other having his work above" (Y.9.10)
yaēšąm aniiō aniiehe uruuānəm aiβi.vaēnaiti
   "whose soul one regards the other's = who regard one another's soul" (Yt.13.84; about the *aməša spəṇta*s)

The following examples is unique:

cuuaṭ haca aniiō.aniiaēibiiō yaθa aēuuō.gāim
   "how much (distance) from one another? (As much) as a 'one-step' (V.9.8)

Uses of the passive

The passive (both the passive middle forms and the passive in -iia-) is regularly used when the sentence has no agent or the agent of the sentence is not expressed. A personal agent is not ued with passive verbs in Young Avestan.
   Examples:

[9] See also Haudry, 1981.

yaθa aniie yazatåŋhō yaziṇti
  "The way (the) other deities are sacrificed to." (Yt.8.11)
yaṯ bā paiti fraēštəm daxma uzdaēza kiriieṇte yahmiia narō irista niδaiieṇte
  "Wherever dakhmas are constructed the most, in (each of) which dead men are laid down." (V.3.9)
    bāδa θβąm tarasca åŋhānō srasciṇtiš xᵛarəθå bairiieṇte
  "At times, succulent foods are carried past your mouth." (V.3.29)
yaṯ spāδa haṇjasåṇte Spitama Zaraθuštra raštəm rasma katarasciṯ vaštåŋhō nōiṯ vaziiåṇte jatåŋhō nōit janiiåṇte
  "When the armies come together, O Spitama Zarathustra, each an ordered battle-line, (though) conveyed they will not be conveyed, (though) struck they will not be struck." (after Yt.14.43)

  The instrumental of means is frequently used together with the passive, e.g.:

*aiiaŋhaēnāiš karətāiš azdibiš paiti auua.kərəθiiāṯ
  "It shall be cut down to the bones with metal knives" (V.4.50)

LESSON 17

Ruki

Throughout these lessons, we have seen numerous examples of the phenomenon called "ruki," a term invented by the Danish scholar Holger Pedersen for the change of s > š (Ind. ṣ) after the vowels i, u, ṛ and the consonants k/g, r. Originally, the same happened also after p/b, but the groups pš/bž were eliminated in Old Indic.

Synopsis of sound changes:

IE. **k̂s* > IIr. **tś-š* > OInd. kṣ, Ir. š: IIr. **vitś-š* nom. sing. "house" > Av. viš (OInd. viṭ, cf. loc. plur. vikṣu); IE. k̂p̱: Av. šaē-/ši- "dwell" (Ind. kṣi-);

IE. **ĝh-s* > IIr. **dź-ž* > Ind. kṣ, Ir. ž: OAv. važa-, s-aor. of vaza- "convey" (OInd. vakṣa-);

IE. **ĝhð* > IIr. **dź-ź* > Ind. kṣ, Ir. z: Av. zā- "earth" (OInd. kṣā-);

IE. **ks, *kᵘs* > IIr. **kš* > Ind. kṣ, Ir. xš: Av. vāxš, nom. sing. of vak-/vac- "word" (OInd. vāk);

IE. **kp̱* > IIr. kš > Ind. kṣ, Ir. xš: xšaθra- "command" (OInd. kṣatra-);

IE. **gh-s* > IIr. gž > Ind. kṣ, Ir. γž: OAv. aoγžā, 2nd. sing. pres. inj. of aog-/aoj- "declare oneself (as)" (cf. OInd. adukṣa- aor. of dugh- "to milk");

IE. **gð-s* > IIr. gž > Ind. kṣ, Ir. γž: Av. γžar- "flow" (Oind. kṣar-).

After labials, the IIr. š merged with the IIr. ć (tś):

IE. **pk̂* > IIr. **pś* > OInd. kṣ, Ir. fš: Av. fšuman.t- < pasu- "sheep" (OInd. kṣumant-);

IE. \(d)bh-s* > IIr. **bž* > Ind. ps, Ir. bž (fš) Av. diβža- "deceive" (OInd. dipsa-), gərəfša- < grab- "seize."

The phenomenon is more complicated in Iranian, however, than the Indic rule implies. Ruki also applies to the position after velars that were no longer velars in Indo-Iranian, namely the IE. palatals **k̂* and ĝ (ĝh), which had become IIr. **ć* (tś) and **ǰ(h)* (dź(h)), OInd. ś and h, but Av. s and z. The IE. "thorn" groups behaved the same way: k̂p̱ > ćš (> Ind. kṣ, Ir. š), etc.

Ruki also applied to the group ns in the acc. plur.

Also, since the IIran. velars k and g(h) had become fricatives before consonats in proto-Ir. (k + š > xš, etc.), the term "ruki" is not as descriptive for Iranian as it is for Indic.

In Avestan, the original h is often restored into hybrid forms: -š- > -š.h-, e.g., hiš.haxti for **hišaxti* < √hak "follow," beside which we also have the unexpected YAv. forms in -š.aŋh-: nišaŋharəti- < ni- + har- (cf. niš.harətar-, niš.hauruua-), nišaŋhad- < **haŋhad-*, intensive < had- "sit";

This did not happen in YAv. nixᵛabdaiia- (only V.18.16, 24; there are no examples of niš-xᵛ°)

Ruki is found in all endings and suffixes beginning with IIr. s, Ir. h:

Nouns: see Lesson 5 (nom. sing.), Lesson 6 (acc. plur.), Lesson 12 (gen. sing.), Lesson 17 (loc. plur.).

Verbs: see Lesson 5 (2nd sing. inj. act.), Lesson 6 (2nd sing. inj. mid.), Lesson 8 (2nd sing. pres. ind. act., mid.), Lesson 13 (desideratives), Lesson 14 (future), Lesson 19 (s-aor.).

It is also found in sandhi after prefixes and reduplication and in compounds:

after prefixes in -i (ni-, paiti°, vī°, etc.): ništarəta- "spread out" < starəta-, nišāδaiia- "set down" < √had "sit"; ništaiia- "to order" < √stā "stand"; aiβiš.huta- "pressed, stained," pairiš.hāuuani- "surrounding Hāuuani (the time of haoma-pressing) aiβiš.xᵛarəθa- "drinkable," pairiš.xᵛaxta- "girded," niš.hiδa- (but nišasta-, nišāδaiia-);

after prefixes in -u (anu-, hu-): ānuš.hāk- (OAv.) "following along with," huš.hąmbərəta- "well carried together, well-accumulated"; huš.haxman-, after reduplication: hišta- < √stā; hušxᵛafa (perf. < √xᵛap) < **hu-šṷap-* in compounds: pasuš.hauruua- "shepherd" < **pasu-šauruua-* < har- "guard"; pouruš.xᵛāθra- "providing much good breathing space," maniiuš.xᵛarəθa-; raθaēštā- < raθaē + stā- "charioteer," armaēšad- < armaē + had- "sitting in peace."

ADVERBS

Correlative pronominal adverbs

Note the following parallel formations of demonstrative, relative, and interrogative-indefinite pronominal adjectives and adverbs (cf. Lesson 6):

|  | "that" | "this" | "this" | "that" | "who,which" | who,which?" |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| pron. stem. | a-/ta- | i- | aēta | auua- | ya- | ka-/c- |
| nom. sing. | aēm |  | aēšō | hāu | yō | kō, čiš |
| "how much" | auuaṇt- |  | aētauuaṇt- | auuauuaṇt- | yauuaṇt | cuuaṇt- |
| "how many times" |  |  |  |  | yaiti | caiti |
| "which of two" | ātara- |  |  |  | yatāra- | katǎra- |
|  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| "when" | āaṱ, taṱ |  |  |  | yaṱ | kaṱ |
| "where, when" | aδa/taδa | iδa | aētaδa | auuaδa | yaδa | kaδa |
| "from where" | aδāṱ |  |  |  | yaδāṱ | **kuδaṱ* |
| "throughout which" |  |  |  |  | yeṅhāδa |  |
| "how" | aθa | iθa |  | auuaθa | yaθa | kaθa, kuθa |
| "where" | aθra | iθra |  | auuaθra | yaθra | kuθra, kuua |
|  | ātaraθra |  |  |  |  |  |
| "in one way" (?) | aēuua |  |  | aēuuaθa |  |  |

A special case is ōiθra "in separate places" from the preverb vi- "to the sides."
Note the irregular acc. sing. auuåṇtəm of auuaṇt- (see Lesson 8).
The pronoun ātara- "the other" used in malam partem as "the other," that is, the one that is not good.

NOUNS

Declension. The locative

The most common locative sing. ending is i, or—with an added a: -iia.

Exceptions: i-stems have the ending -a; – u- (u²-) and ao-stems have the ending **-au*, which becomes -uuō in final position, but -ao° before enclitics, or—with an added -a: -auua; – some n-stems have no ending in the locative singular and full grade of the suffix.

In the a-stems the ending -i combines with the stem vowel to produce the diphthong **-ai* which becomes -ⁱe and -aē° or—with an added -a: -aiia.

The locative singular of consonant stems sometimes takes the full grade, sometimes the zero grade.

There are no locative dual forms in Young Avestan.

The locative plural endings are -hu and (by ruki) -šu, or—with an added -a: -huua, -šuua, or -š.huua.

Instead of -ahu(ua), we also find -ō.hu(ua), apparently analyzed as a compound, but probably from an older form with labial umlaut: **-ahu* > -ohu, which was reinterpreted as -ō.hu(ua).

The a-stems have -aē- before the ending.

There are no locative plural forms of t- and nt-stems, which would have -su < -t-su.

In h-stems, **-s-su* was simplified to **-su* early enough to become -hu.

The endings are:

| | a-stems m., n. | ā-stems f. | ī-stems | i-stems | u-stems | ū-stems |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sing. | -ⁱe, -aē°, -aiia | -aiia | -ⁱe (< *-iia) | -a | -uuō, -ao°, -auua | -uui |
| Plur. | -aēšu(ua) | -āhu(ua) | -išu(ua) | -išu(ua) | -ušu, -uš.huua | -ušu(ua) |

| Plur. | nmānaēšu(ua) | daēnāhu(ua) | xšaθrišu | **ratufritišu* (N.84) | gātušu, pasuš.huua (FrN.40, D.58) | tanušu |

Notes:

The locative of ahura mazdā is transmitted as āhuire mazda for **ahuire mazde* (Skjærvø 2005).

The masc. form gaēθe listed by Reichelt (p. 197) as loc. sing. of gaēθā- only occurs in the expression ahmi gaēθe, in which the pronoun is also a masc. form.

In the ī-declension, pərəθβe < pərəθβī-, fem. of pərəθu- "broad," has regular -e < -iia.

In the ū-declension, tanuiie has regular -uiie < -uiia.

The fem. ušā- "dawn" forms its loc. plur. from the h-stem ušah-: ušahuua.

| Plur. | | | | | | nafšu | - |

Notes:

apaiia is for **apiia* with epenthesis, less likely a thematic form.

zəmi seems to be disyllabic and is probably < **zami*. Beside zəmi there is the thematic form zəmē. There is also another form of zam- with "locative" meaning: zəmarə, preserved only in the expression zəmarə.guz- "hiding in the earth" (cf. Eng. local adverbs with r: here, there, etc.).

nafšu is from **nap-šu* < **napt-su*.

cuuaṇt-

The interrogative-indefinite pronominal adjective cuuaṇt- "how much?, how many?," beside the "regular" cuuąs (Y.19.20) has a nom. sing. cū (V.5.22), which here functions as neut., but may originally be a masc., like that of pres. participles (see next).

VERBS

Active participles

On the active present participles in -ṇt-, see Lesson 11.

The principal irregularity of the declension of thematic (and some athematic) participles is the nom. sing., which must originally have ended in -ā̃. It thus behaves like the acc. plur. of thematic nouns, except that, where this ending is preserved as -ā̃ in the nouns, it is replaced by -ō in the participles. Thus we have barā̃ ⇒ barō, jaiδiiā̃ > jaiδiią, mruuā̃ > °mrū in framrū.

It seems that the nom. sing. m. had lost its t already in Indo-Iranian times and that the ending actually was -ans, which then developed like the acc. plur. in Avestan. We may compare the aṇk-adjectives, which lost their k/x at an early stage, e.g., prāŋ(k)š > frąš (OInd. prāṅ).

The substantivized participle fšuiiaṇt- (in vāstriia- fšuiiaṇt-) retains the ending s: fšuiiąs, cf. cuuąs.

The nom.-acc. sing. neut. of thematic participles has the expected ending -ən < -ant, that of athematic verbs is -aṯ as in adjectives.

The feminine forms are as expected: athem. -aitī-, them. -əṇtī- (-iṇtī-, -aṇtī-), -uuaiṇtī-, -iieiṇtī-; note hāitī- < haṇt- "being."

Paradigms:

No instr. sing. forms are attested.

Notes:

Athematic verbs frequently take the thematic nom. sing. m., e.g.: janō.

The form °vāuuō "blowing" (H.2.7) < √vā seems to be from vā'ō < vāHant-.

Thematic forms are common, e.g., saošiiaṇtaēibiiō.

The athematic forms γžāraiiaṯ.biiō "flowing," for -aṇbiiō, and xšaiiatō "ruling," for xšaiiaṇtō are probably (early) scribal errors.

xᵛairiiaṇt-

This word is known from two (three) forms, and, although it looks like the passive of xᵛar- "eat" with act. inflection, it is probably an adjective meaning "savory, tasty," or similar.[10] The nom.-acc. sing. is xᵛairiiąn and the nom.-acc. dual **xᵛairiiaṇti*, both in the Yima myth:

> yaṯ kərənaoṯ aṅ́he xšaθrāδa amarš́aṇta pasu vīra aŋhaošəmne āpa uruuaire xᵛairiiąn xᵛarəθəm ajiiamnəm
> "that he made, during his reign, cattle and men indestructible, waters and plants indesiccable, *savory food inexhaustible." (Y.9.4, see Lesson 9);

> *yeṅ́he xšaθrāṯ *xᵛairiiaṇti *stō̄ᵃ uiie xᵛarəθe ajiiamne amarš́aṇta pasu vīra aŋhə̄ušəmne āpa uruuaire*
> "during whose reign, both (kinds) of food are (were) savory and inexhaustible, cattle and men indestructible, waters and plants indesiccable." (Yt.19.32).
>> a. Mss.: xᵛairiiaṇtu astu F1; x́airiieti asti J10; x́airiiaṇti astī D; x́arəiiaṇtu ašaiti K12.

A third example is found in the following passage, also from the Yima myth, but this one is more seriously corrupt:

> haθra marəyå auuastaiia auui/aoi maṯ zairi.gaonəm maṯ xᵛairiieiti ajiiamnəm
> "place in the same place green fields, together with greenery, together with inexhaustible, savory (food)." (V.2.26)

SYNTAX

Uses of the locative

1. Locative of time and place
The main use of the locative is to express place where and time when, as well as goal of motion.

> ahmi nmāne "in this house"

2. Locative of the prize won

The locative is used to indicate the things won in competition. The whole original expression, found sometimes, is "to leave the competitor behind at = in (the race for) X." Very often the verb, zā- "leave behind" is left out.

> nōiṯ cahmi **zazuuå yō nōiṯ urune *zazuuå nōiṯ* cahmi **zazuši *yā nōiṯ urune *zazuši*
> "He has won in (the race for) nothing who has not won for (the sake of) his soul.
> She has won in (the race for) nothing who has not won for (the sake of) her soul" (FrD.3) >> zazuuå, zazuši are masc. and fem. nom. of the active perfect participle of zā- (Lesson 20); zazuš in the next example is an adjective from the perf. part. This phrase is found in colophons and is much corrupted.
>
>
> zazuš vispaēšu vaŋhušu zazuš vispaēšu ašō.ciθraēšu
> "The winner in (the race for) all good things, the winner in (the race for) all things having the seed of Order (or: resplendent with Order)." (P.26)
>
> zazə buiie vaŋhāuca mižde vaŋhāuca srauuahi urunaēca darəγe hauuaŋʰhe
> "May *I win in (the race for) a good fee and (for) good fame and (for) long well-being for (my) soul" (Y.62.6)
>> zazə buiie are ungrammatical forms. – vaŋhāuca ... srauuahi is a quotation from the third Gāθā (Y.49.9).
>
> daēna māzdaiiasniš vispaēšu vaŋhušu vispaēšuca ašō.ciθraēšu haiθiia.dātəma
> "The Daēnā of the Mazdayasnians, (having won) all good things and all (things) with the seed of Order, is the one that most (often) establishes the true (existence)" (Yt.11.3)

The verb yuiδiia- "fight (over)" appears to take the same construction:
> tå yuiδiieiṇti pəṣanāhu hauue asahi šōiθraēca
> "They (the fravashis) fight in battles (each) over (her) own place and settlement." (Yt.13.67)

3. Locative with prepositions

The locative is used with prepositions indicating place, e.g., upa "in," paiti "on, in return for," paiti and parō (Yt.19.95) "before":

> jaininąm upa dərəzāhu "In the clutches(?) of women." (Y.10.17)
> uta Mazdå huruθma Haoma raose gara paiti
> "And by the good growing power of Mazdā you grow, O Haoma, on the mountain." (Y.10.4) > yahmi paiti vispəm mąθrəm ašəm.srauuō vī.sruiiata
> "(Zarathustra ...) in whom every sacred word containing words (fame) of Order was heard far and wide." (Yt.13.91) > dāθri zī paiti niuuāitiš vispahe aŋhəuš astuuatō humataēšuca huxtaēšuca huuarštaēšuca
> "For in the giver is the victory of the entire bony existence (over evil) in (thoughts) well-thought, (words) well-spoken, (acts) well-performed." (N.66, D.84)

4. Locative with verbs

The locative is occasionally used with verbs:

> *cim aošaŋʰå *aošaŋʰhaiṇti ąstəm isaiti *tanuui ... cim vā gaēθāhuua mahrkaθəm*
> "Why does a mortal wish annihilation upon (his) mortal body ... Or why (does he wish) destruction upon living beings?" (Aog.48)
> *aēšu parō *frānāmāite aēšmō *xruuidruš dušxʲarənå* "before them, Wrath of evil xʲarənah with (his) bloody cudgel yields" (Yt.19.95; cf. ablative lesson 14)

5. Locative with "woe!"

The locative is used with āuuōiia "woe (upon)":

**āuuōiia *vanənti spitama zaraθuštra yō *frauruuaēxšti hauuahe <urunō> vanaiti*
  "Woe to the winner, O Spitama Zarathustra, who wins by *leading his own soul along twisting (paths)." (N.66, D.84)

6. Ungrammatical use of the locative as ablative

Sometimes locative forms are used after prepositions that take the ablative:

usəhištaṯ Vohu Manō haca gātuuō (loc.) zaraniiō.kərətō (nom.!)
  "Vohu Manah stood up from the golden throne." (V.19.31)
haca barəšnuuō (or barəšnauuō?) gairinąm auui jᶏfnauuō raonąm*
  "From the height(s) of the mountains to the depths of the rivers." (V.5.1)
*daēuuanąm parō ṯbaēšaŋhaṯ daēuuanąm parō draomōhu
  "Before the hostility of the *daēuua*s, before the *deceptions(?) of the *daēuua*s." (Yt.13.57)
    cf. Aēšmahe parō draomābiiō (Y.57.25).

The use of present participles

We have already seen many examples of how present participles are used in clauses. On the whole they are used as in English, which itself has a developed use of participles to express circumstances accompanying the main verb and nouns of a clause.

Some examples:

tē hištəṇte γžarə.γžarəṇtiš aṇtarə.arəδəm zraiiaŋhō
  "They stand rushing about (seething) within the ocean." (V.5.19)
yā taṯ yaṯ haomahe draonō nī.gåŋhəṇti niš.hiδaiti
  "She who sits gobbling up that which is the food offering belonging to Haoma." (Y.10.15)
ā dim vātō upa.vāuuō saδaiieiti
  "Then a wind seems to be blowing toward him." (H. 2.7)
ātarəm spəṇtəm yazamaide taxməm həṇtəm raθaēštārəm
  "We sacrifice to the life-giving fire, (it) being a firm charioteer" (Y.62.8)

aṣim rāsaiṇtim darəγō.vārəθmanəm mišācim huuō.aiβišācim mišācim āfrasåŋᵛhaitim barəṇtim vispå baēšazå apąmca gauuąmca uruuaranąmca tauruuaiieiṇtimca vispå ṯbaēšå*
  "(I pray for) Reward *bestowing (and) of long *turning ever-lasting ..., everlasting, uninterrupted, which carries all remedies of waters, cows, and plants, and which overcomes all hostilities (Y.52.1-2)

yā hištaite frauuaēδəmna kaininō kəhrpa sriraiiå
  "(Arəduuī Sūra Anāhita ...) who stands being made known in the shape of a beautiful young woman." (Yt.5.126)
jaiδimnå nō yūžəm dasta xšaiiamnå raēšca xᵛarənasca*
  "Give us riches and munificent gifts when you are requested (to do so), having the command (to do so)" (Y.68.21)

Note the use of nouns and present participles in the the locative in the following (corrupt) passage:

vārəṇti vā snaēžiṇti vā barəṇti vā* *təmaŋhąm vā *aiβi.gāta (mss. °gātō, °gatō, °gātu) aiiąn vā* **varəta.fšuuō (mss. °fšō) vā varəta.vire jasəṇti*

"(on a day) when it rains, snows, or *pours, when darkness has come or by day, when (someone) comes with captive cattle and captive men(?)." (V.8.4)[11]

The participle is used with √man "to think (oneself to be)," √vas "to wish (to be the one ... -ing)" and √vaēs "to be ready (to be the one ... -ing)":

*nmānəm hō maniiete para.daθō
   "He thinks he is selling a house." (after V.18.28)
*yezi vaši zaraθuštra auuå t̰baēšå tauruuaiiō
   "if you wish, Zarathustra, (to be the one) overcoming all those hostilities." (Yt.1.10)
*vīsaiti dim fraγrāraiiō nōit̰ *fraγrāraiieiti*
   "He declares himself ready (to be the one) waking him, but does not wake him." (N.1)

Declension of numerals

The numeral "one" is declined as a pronominal ā̆-stem; note the acc. masc. and the nom.-acc. neut. ɵ̄iium, ɵ̄im, and other forms (see Lesson 9).

The numeral "two" is an a-stem dual.

The numerals "three" and "four" have some special fem. forms.

The other cardinals are mostly indeclinable.

Other numerals: gen. paṇcanąm, nauuanąm, dasanąm; – instr. paṇcasaṯbiš, satāiš, hazaŋrāiš, baēuuarǝbiš

On the r/n-stem baēuuar-/baēuuan- see Lesson 16.

Note:

The element -šr-/-ŋr- < -sr- is an ancient suffix found in the fem. forms of the numerals "3" and "4" in several Indo-European languages. It may be related to strī- (< srī-) "woman" and -ŋhar- in xᵛaŋhar- "sister" (if originally xᵛa-har- "one's own woman"?).

tišrō sata "400" has the fem. tišrō agreeing with a neut. plur.

VERBS

The optative

The endings of the optative differ from those of the indicative and subjunctive by containing an element -i-/-ii- (< -iH)). In the thematic conjugation, this element combines with the thematic vowel and produces a diphthong: aē, ōi, aii°. In the athematic conjugation it has the form iiā/i (< -i̯aH-/-iH-).

The thematic 3rd plur. of a-stems ends in -aiiǝn (-aēn), which is identical with the 3rd plur. indicative of aiia-stems. In the aiia-stems the original ending was therefore -aiiaiiǝn, which regularly became -aiiaēn. In the manuscripts this ending is most often corrupted to -aiiě̆n and then replaced by the familiar -aiiən.[13]

Some verbs have the reduced forms -iš, -iṯ, presumably unaccented.

SYNTAX

Uses of the numerals

Most of the numerals present no special features in their use. Note that the numerals "100" and higher are nouns and take the genitive plural of the items counted.

> *daēuua*s in the other world (and) those possessed by the Lie hailing from darkness,
> (and) twice that many sorcerers and witches." (V.8.80)

In many Middle and New Iranian languages a special form of the noun is sometimes used after numerals (hence called "numerative"). It has been suggested that this usage may already be seen in the Videvdad (Tremblay, 1997), but the frequent confusion of endings in the manuscripts renders this hypothesis fragile.

Uses of the optative

The optative is the mood of the imaginary and thus mainly expresses wishes, prescriptions, imaginary comparisons or examples, and irreal conditions and comparisons.

1. Optative expressing wishes

vasō.xšaθrō hiiāṯ ašauua auuasō.xšaθrō hiiāṯ druuå

> "May the sustainer of Order have command at will! May the one possessed by the Lie not have > command at will!" (Y.8.6)

mā ciš pauruuō buiδiiaēta

> "May no one notice (us) first (be the first to notice us)!" (Y.9.21)

haxšaiia azəmciṯ yō Zaraθuštrō fratəmą nmānanąm

> "May I, Zarathustra, induce the foremost ones of the homes (to ...)!" (Y.8.7)

2. Optative expressing prescriptions gaomaēzəm aiiasōiš zaraθuštra gaom pairi uxšānəm baxəδrəm dāitiiō.kərətəm yaoždāta frabarōiš

ząm paiti ahuraδātąm pairi karšəm pairi.karšōiṯ aēšō nā yō yaoždāθriiō

> Note: yaoždāta for °dātəm?

> "You should take bull's urine from a bull, O Zarathustra.
> You should bring a spade made in the prescribed way (and) purified.
> He should draw a furrow on the earth established by (Ahura) Mazdā, this man who (is) to be purified." (V.19.21)

3. Optative expressing irreal comparisons

mānaiiən ahe yaθa hazaŋrəm narąm ōim narəm ā.darəzaiiōiṯ
  "As if a thousand men were to fetter a single man." (Yt.8.55)
mąnaiiən ahe yaθa hazaŋrəm narąm ōiium narəm aiβiiāxšaiiōiṯ
  "As if a thousand men were to look after a single man." (Yt.1.19)

Note the periphrastic construction with past participle + "to be" in:

mānaiiən ahe yaθa nā satəmca hazaŋrəmca baēuuarəca paršanąm nijatəm hiiāṯ
    Note. For nijatəm some mss. have nijaθəm.
  "Just as if a hundred, a thousand, ten thousand ears of grain were to have been smashed down."
  (Yt.13.71)
    Note: Here nā is probably a particle, sometimes found after yaθa.

EXERCISES 18

1. Write in Avestan script in all cases, all numbers (where appropriate) the following nouns and adjectives:

  aeuua/duua-/θraii-nar-; aēuua-, etc., snaiθiš-; aēuuā-, etc., gāθā-; spā zairiš, im zå, barəsma frastairim

2. Write in Avestan script the 1st and 3rd sing. and plur. present indicative, injunctive, subjunctive, and optative of juua-, aēnaŋha-, jasa-, āh-, kərənao-, miriia-.

3. Analyze and translate into English.

WORD FORMATION

Compounds. 2

Compounds as well as their individual elements can be all kinds of words (nouns, adjectives, adverbs, and other compounds):

Noun + noun > noun: daṅhupaiti- "lord of the land," cinuuaṭ.pərətu- "the passage of the compiler (of the records)"; rāmō.šiti- "dwelling in peace, peaceful dwelling"; yasnō.kərəiti- "performance of the sacrifice"; barəsmō.starəiti- "spreading of the barsom."

Noun + noun > adjective: barəsmō.zasta- "with barsom in the hand" < barəsman- + zasta-; mazdaiiasna- "(performing) sacrifices to (Ahura) Mazdā, Mazdayasnian" < Mazdā- "(Ahura) Mazdā" + yasna- "sacrifice."

Noun + verbal noun > adjective (> noun): vərəθrajan- "obstruction-smashing, (the) obstruction-smashing (one) > obstruction-smasher" < vərəθra- "obstruction" + jan- "to smash"; raθaēštā- "standing on a chariot, he who stands on the chariot > charioteer" < raθaē° "on the chariot" (loc.) + "stand."

Noun + adjective/past participle > noun: huuarəxšaēta- "the radiant sun" > "sun," aiiō.xšusta- "molten metal" > "metal."

Noun + past participle > adjective: paoiriiō.fradāta- "first brought forth," ahuraδāta- and mazdaδāta- "established (created) by Ahura Mazdā."

Adjective + noun > noun: darəγō.šiti- "long-lasting dwelling."

Adjective + noun > adjective: tiži.dāra- "with a sharp blade" < tiγra- + dārā-.

Adverb + noun > noun: vasō.yāiti- "going at will," arəm.maiti- "proper/balanced thinking," tarō.dīti- "despising, rejection."

Numeral + noun > noun: θri.aiiara- n. "a three-day period" < θri- + aiiar/n- "day."

Numeral + noun > adjective: θri.zafan- "with three mouths" < θri- + zafar/n- "mouth," θri.kamarəδa- < θri- + kamarəδa- "head";

Prefix + noun/adjective: huraoδa- "well-shaped" < hu- + raoδa- "growth, stature"; huuaršta- "well done" < hu- + varšta-; aiβi.gāma- "year" < aiβi- + gāman- "step, going,"

Verb + noun: frādaṭ.gaēθa- "furthering the world of living beings" < frāda(iia)- "to further" + gaēθā- "(world of) living beings."

Occasionally, we find compounds consisting of more than two members: YAv. druxš.vī.druxš "who is the Lie-dispeller of the Lie," draoγō.vāxš.draojišta- "who belies the lying word the most," and, especially, names: frādaṭ.vīspąm.hujiiāiti- "(the ratu) called 'the one who furthers all good living," xšmāuuiia.gə̄uš.uruuā- hāiti- "the section beginning with xšmāuuiia gə̄uš uruuā" (Y. 29.1).

The so-called āmreḍita compounds are adverbial phrases consisting of repeated words: OAv. narə̄m narəm 'man after man'; YAv. nmāne nmāne 'in house after house'.

VERBS

The augment

In OIndic and OPersian the imperfect and aorist indicative regularly take a prefixed a- which mark them as past tenses. The prefixed a- is called an "augment."

In Young Avestan there are very few clear examples of the augment, as the preverb ā- is frequently shortened to a. There also seem to be instances of the augment being lengthened to ā-.

The augment is found with three forms: the imperfect indicative, the aorist indicative, and the optative.

The augmented optative is also found in Old Persian.

Examples:

*āaṯ azəm tanum aguze "Then I hid my body." (Yt.17.55)

ciṯ auuaṯ vacō ās Ahura Mazda yaṯ mē frāuuaocō

"What was yonder word, Ahura Mazdā, which you spoke to me (at the beginning of the world)?" (Y.19.1)

tąm yazata Jāmāspō yaṯ spāδəm pairi.auuaēnaṯ yaṯ spāδəm pairi.auuaēnaṯ durāṯ aiiaṇtəm rasmaoiiō

"Her Jāmāspa sacrificed to as he looked around (and saw) the army coming from afar in battle lines." (Yt.5.68)

adauuata Aŋrō Maṇiiuš pouru.mahrkō*

"The Evil Spirit full of destruction chattered." (Yt.3.14)

*Sraošō ašiiō drujim apərəsaṯ

"Sraoša with the rewards asked the Lie." (V.18.30)

pairi yāiš hapta karšuuąn mairiiō apataṯ Fraŋrase

isō xᵛarənō Zaraθuštrāi[a]

a. On the dative for genitive, see Lesson 13.

"Around the seven continents flew the villain, Fraŋrasiian, seeking the Xwarnah of Zarathustra." (Yt.19.82)

tum zəmarəguzō ākərənuuō vispe daēuua Zaraθuštra

"You made all the *daēuua*s hide in the ground, O Zarathustra." (Y.9.15)

The aorist

Young Avestan still has several aorist forms, most of them optative, while the indicative and subjunctive are rarely used and limited to special, probably standard, formulaic, contexts.

The endings of the aorist indicative (augmented) and injunctive (no augment) are the secondary endings, identical with those of the present injunctive. The augment is rarely, if ever, used.

There are four main stem formations of the aorist. The athematic (root, reduplicated) aorist and the thematic aorists are identical with those of the corresponding present conjugations. In addition, there is a special aorist formation, the s-aorist, made by adding h (š/s) to the root, which has the long grade in the sing. indicative, but the full grade elsewhere.

The 3rd sing. past passive in *-i

   A special 3rd sing. passive form is made with the ending -i. This form was originally(?) made only from the aorist stem, but there are no aor. examples in YAv.:
   from the present stem: ərənāuui "was sent on its way," jaini "was smashed"; from the perfect stem (see Lesson 20): āiδi "is/was said."

SYNTAX

Use of the aorist

   The basic difference between the present and aorist is that the aorist forms express punctual or "immediate" (incipient, concluding) action, as opposed to the present, which expresses action or state of indeterminate duration.

1. The aorist indicative/injunctive āaṯ mą̄sta Yimō "then Yima thought" (V.2.31)

2. The aorist subjunctive
   The subjunctive of the aorist is used like that of the present, but with the difference that the aorist forms express punctual or "immediate" action.

   āaṯ vaocāṯ ratuš ašauua mazdaiiasnaēbiiō
      "Then an Orderly authority will say to the Mazda-sacrificers." (V.8.11)
   yezica vaocāṯ aēša yā kaine puθrəm aēm narō[a] varšta
         a. Thematic for nā.
      "And if this one, the young woman, is to say: 'This man has produced (this) his son.'" (V.15.13)
   tā nō dātā tā ərəzuuāna frauuaocāma fraca vaocāma yā Ahurahe Mazdå
      "We shall say forth these our established rules, these ..., and forth we shall say (them), those of Ahura Mazdā." (Y.70.2)
   jimama te daēsaiiama te Zaraθuštra vaēm yōi Aməṣ̌a Spəṇta*
      "We shall come to you, we shall show you, O Zarathustra, we, the Life-giving Immortals." (Vyt.32)
   nōiṯ dim yauua azəm yō Ahurō Mazdå bitim vācim paiti.pərəsəmnō buua[a]
         a. Mss. K1, L4, L1,2; buuaṯ Mf2, TU1.
      "I, Ahura Mazdā, shall never ask him another word." (V.18.29)
   aṣ̌a vahišta aṣ̌a sraēšta darəsāma θβā haxma
      "O best Order, O most beautiful Order, shall we see company with you?" (Y.60.12)
   bun gaēθå amarśaṇtiš yå aṣ̌ahe saŋhaitiš*
      "Living beings will become indestructible, who are the announcers of Order." (Yt.19.12)
   yaoždāθrəm srāuuaiiōiš Zaraθuštra yaoždāta bun nmāna
      "O Zarathustra, proclaim the purifying agent, (so that) the houses become purified!" (V.11.2)
   kuθa nmānəm yaoždaθāne kuθa bun yaoždāta "How shall I purify the house? How will they (the houses) become purified?" (V.12.2)
   *nōiṯ aētaēšąm ratufriš ratufritim θβərəšāiti
      "(Then) someone who satisfies the models shall not cut off the satisfaction of the models of these (others)." (N.34)

3. The aorist optative
   The optative of the aorist is used like that of the present, but with the difference that the aorist forms express punctual or "immediate" action.

   vasasca tū Ahura Mazda uštāca xšaēša hauuanąm dāmanąm
      "And at will, O Ahura Mazdā, and as you desire may you (now again begin to) rule over your own creations." (Y.8.5)
   *aṣ̌aiia nō paiti.jamiiāṯ
      "May he (now) come to us in Orderly fashion!" (Y.7.24)
   *mā gə̄uš mā vastrahe hatō aδāitim vaocōiṯ

"May he say nothing unlawful while there is(?) cow and grass(?)" (V.4.46)

6. Translate into Avestan and write in Avestan script:

1. Zarathustra asked Ahura Mazdā: O Ahura Mazdā, most life-giving spirit, O Orderly creator of the bony creatures,
2. What was that word that you proclaimed to me?
3. Then Ahura Mazdā said: It was this section (consisting) of the Ahuna Vairiia, O Spitama Zarathustra, that I proclaimed to you.

4. May they come into this home, the propitiations of the sustainers of Order, the rewards and the distributions, and the recognitions!
5. May there now for this house come up Order, command, and profit, Xwarnah and long happiness, and the priority of this daēnā, the one of Ahura (Mazdā), the one of Zarathustra!

6. I invite you, the fire, O son of Ahura Mazdā.
   You are sacrifice-worthy and hymn-worthy.
   May you be more worthy of sacrifices and more worthy of hymns in the homes of men!
7. In happiness be it for that man who sacrifices to you regularly with firewood in the hands, with barsom in the hands, with milk in the hands, with the mortar in the hands.
8. May you hear our sacrifice, O lady of the lord!
   May you be favorable to our sacrifice, O lady of the lord!
9. May you sit near our sacrifice!
10. May you come to us for help (for us)!

WORD FORMATION

Compounds 3. Form of words in compounds

Compounds that are adjectives, whose second member is an ā-stem, become regular a/ā-stem adjectives, e.g., frādaṱ.gaēθǎ̆- < gaēθā-.

The final vowel of the first member usually becomes ō:
a-, ā-, or an-stems: daēuuō.dāta- "established by daēuuas"; daēnō.dis- < daēnā- "showing the daēnā(?)"; zruuō.dāta- < zruuan "established by (in?) time, given by Zruuan (?)"; an invariable in -a: hupō.busta- < upa "well *scented"; haptō.karšuuairī- "(consisting) of seven continents" < hapta.

Nouns as second members of compounds are sometimes in the zero grade: frādaṱ.fšu- "furthering the sheep and goats" < pasu-; ərəduuafšnī- "having high breasts" < fštāna-, spitāma- "having *swollen strength" < °Hma- < ama-.

Some adjectives use an i-stem as the first member of a compound: xšuuiβra- "rushing, fast" > xšuuiβi.išu- "with fast arrows"; jafra- > jaiβi.vafra- "with deep snow"; bərəzaṇt- > bərəzi.gāθra- "singing songs that reach high."

When a word with initial h- is used as second member of a compound a prosthetic a is prefixed and h > ŋh: ašō.aŋhan- "winning aša" < aša-(ŋ)han-; airime.aŋhad- (= armaēšad-) "sitting in peace."

The first member of a compound is sometimes in a case form:
nom.: YAv. afš.tacin- (< āfš°) "with running water," afš.ciθra- "having/containing the seed of water," aβaždāna- (< āfš-d°) "acting as containers of water," kərəfš.xvar- "corpse-eating (birds)," druxš.manah- "harboring thoughts of deception ," ātarš.ciθra- "having/containing the seed of fire";
acc.: vīrəṇjan- "men-smashing," ašəm.stut- "praising Order," darəγəm.jīti- "long life" < darəγəm "for a long time" (adverb);
gen. drujas.kanā- "den of deception," zəmas.ciθra- "having/containing the seed of earth";
dat. yauuaējī- "living for ever," yauuaēsū- "being life-giving for ever";
loc.: bərəzi.rāz- "drawing straight (lines?) on high /ruling(?) on high'; armaē.šad- "sitting in peace," maiδiiōi.šad- "sitting in the middle," raθaēštā- "standing on a chariot, charioteer," dūraēdərəs- "who sees far in(to) the distance."

VERBS

The perfect

The perfect tense is formed by reduplication and a set of endings differing from those of the present and aorist. The verbs āδ- "to say" and vaēδ-/vaēθ- "to know" lack the reduplication.

The vowel of the reduplication syllable is usually a, i, or u, in agreement with the vowel of the root, e.g., ca-kan- < √kan, da-δa- < √dā; ci-kaēθ- < √kaēθ/kiθ, iri-riθ-< √raēθ/riθ; uru-raoδ- < √raod/rud, note: hušxvaf- < √xvaf. Departures from this rule include a few verbs whose reduplication syllable has long ā: dā-darəs- < √vaēn/dars, bā-buu- < √bao/bu, pā-fr- < √par.

Roots beginning with ǎ̆- have long ā- in the perfect: āp- < √āp, åŋh- < √ah; roots beginning with aē-/i- have perfect stem in iiaē-, usually written yaē-, īaē-: yaēš- < √aēš/iš.

The perfect has a similar distribution of strong and weak stems as the athematic verbs: strong stem in the indicative singular and the subjunctive (some exceptions), weak stem elsewhere.

The Young Avestan perfect has all the moods except the imperative and a past tense, the pluperfect.

The perfect participle active is a uuah/uš-stem (note the internal sandhi variations before the suffix). The middle participle ends in -ằna-.

Note that many perfect forms are found only in the Frahang ī Oīm (FO.).

Notes:

The -f- in hušxᵛafa < √xᵛap can perhaps be compared with similar forms in Greek with aspiration, but this verb takes on many unusual forms in Avestan (and Iranian).

The form bābuuarə is probably for **bāuuarə*, with reintroduction of the b of the stem.

The form (ni)šastarə is from ni + ha-zd-tarə with ruki of h > š and assimilation of zdt > st.

| √i̯at | **i̯ait-* | yōiθβah- | yaētuš- |
| √zā | **zazā-* | zazuuah- | zazuš- |

Note:

   daδuuah- and viδuuah- are for **daδβah-* and **viδβah-* with -δuu- < *-du̯- in analogyl with the weak forms; vauuanuuah- is for **vaonuuah-* in analogy with **vauuana*.

   cikiθβah-, ciciθβah-/ciciθuš- could in principle be from √kaēt/cit with weak stem for **cicituš-* analogical from the strong stems, rather than from √kaēθ, whose meaning is not well understood.

Only one stem attested, examples:

|  | stem | strong form |
|---|---|---|
| √gan | jaɣn- | jaɣnuuah- |
| √nas | nąs- | nąsuuah- |
| √taš | **taṯš-* | taršuuah- |

Middle: -āna- (-ana-):

apāna-, daδrāna-, daθāna-, haŋhanāna- (< han-), iririθāna-, mamnāna-, pāpərətāna- (< parət-), vauuazāna-, zazarāna-, zuzuiiana- (< zao-)

Note: the form zuzuiiana- must be for **zuzuuana-* with uii after the 1st-3rd sing. **zuzuiie*.

There are two kinds of adjectives derived from the perfect stem:
1. in -u-: viθu- < √vaēd "knowing," zazu- < √zā "winner," both attested in the nom. sing. only, and jiγāuru- < √gar/grā "waking," acc. sing. only. The form didrəzuuō in P.40-41 may be a thematized variant of this formation or error for didrəzuuå (< darz)
2. in -θβan-: yōiθβan- < √yat "who has taken up (his) position."

SYNTAX

Use of the perfect

The function of the perfect in proto-Indo-European and in the oldest Indo-European languages was to express the state obtaining from a past action or event. In Avestan this function is found with verbs of perception, such as vaēδa (originally: "I have seen" >) and cikaēθa (originally: "I have noted, noticed"), both "I know," and verbs of state, such as pairi.buuāuua "has come to be around" > "surrounds," iririθarə "they (have died and) are (now) dead." A second function in Avestan appears to be to express ever/never statements. It is sometimes difficult to distinguish between the two.

1. Verbs of perception

vaēθāca taṯ *cikaēθaca[a] āi ašāum Zaraθuštra mana xraθβāca cistica
"I know and am aware of that, O Orderly Zarathustra, by my intellect and insight." (Yt.1.26)
    a. Mss. taṯca kaēθica.

yō nāirikąm ciθrauuaitim daxštauuaitim vohunauuaitim kaṯ ańhe asti paititiš kaṯ ańhe asti āpərəitiš kaṯ aētahe paiti varšta šiiaoθna ciciθβå azaēta

"He who, being conscious (of it), knowing, (and) having noticed, releases (his) sperm into a women with menses (and) bleeding, (her) being conscious (of it), knowing, (and) having noticed, how is he to atone for it? How is he to make pay for it? How should he, (now) being aware, *counteract the done deeds (as penalty) for this (matter)?" (V.18.67-8)
    a. Present participle of baoδa-.

2. Intransitive and medio-passive verbs, expressing result

*aom asmanəm yō usca raoxšnō frādərəsrō yō imąm ząm āca pairica buuāuua
  "Yonder sky up there, bright, far visible, which surrounds this earth above and around." (Yt.13.2)

   "His companions will go forth, (those) of the obstruction-smashing Astuuaṯ.ərəta, (all) of good thought, good speech, good deeds, good *daēnā*s, none (of them) having ever said anything wrong with his own tongue" (Yt.19.95)

6. In subordinate clauses ("if ... ever")

yezi θβā diduuaēša yezi manaŋha yezi vacaŋha yezi šiiaoθna yezi zaoša yezi azaoša ā tē ańhe fraca stuiie nī tē vaēδaiiemi

   "If I have ever antagonized you, by mind, word, or deed, if on purpose, if not on purpose, (as atonement?) for this I send you forth in praise and invite you, if I have barred you from this sacrifice, this hymn" (Y.1.21)

7. Perfect åŋha with participles
   The form åŋha is used with some participles, the forms of which are sometimes inexplicable (see below on conditional clauses). The meaning of the constructions has to be deduced in each instance.

vaŋhu tū tē vaŋhaoṯ vańhō buiiāṯ huuāuuōiia yaṯ zaoθre hanaēša tū tum taṯ miždəm yaṯ zaota hanaiiamnō åŋha
   "May there be something good, better than good, for your own libator. May you gain that reward which the libator was supposed to gain for himself." (Y.59.30)

Perfect subjunctive (or pluperfect?)
   The form iieiiąn (or iieiiən) is found in the following passage:

aθaurunąmcā paitī.ająθrəm yazamaidē yōi iieiiąn dūrāṯ ašō.īšō dax́iiunąm
   "We sacrifice to the coming back of the priests, who who shall have gone [subj.] or had gone [pluperfect] far away seeking the Order of the lands." (Y.42.6)

niš taṱ paiti druxš nāšāite yaδāṱ aiβiciṱ jaɣmaṱ ašauuanəm mahrkaθāi

"Then the Lie shall be destroyed (and sent) down to precisely (the place) whence it had come upon (the creation) for the destruction of the Orderly ones." (Yt.19.12)

Conditional clauses

Real conditions are expressed by various combinations of indicative, subjunctive, optative, and imperative. The order of protasis (if-clause) and apodosis (then-clause) is irrelevant.

ašāunąm ... yazamaide yå ahurahe xšaiiatō[a] dašinąm upa yuiδiieiṇti

   a. For **kāraiiēn.*

"If the Mazdayasnians were to plow that earth, if they were to let water loose (over it), on which [which on it] men and dogs die, within the period of a year, afterward, will they be guilty, these Mazdayasnians, of the crime against the water, the earth, the plant of 'throwing out corpses'?" (V.6.3)

Irrealis

The optative perfect is used in statements and conditions contrary to fact:

*yeiδi zī mē nōiṯ daiδiṯ(!) upastąm uɣrå ašāunąm frauuašaiiō ... drujō astuuå aŋhuš åṅhāṯ

"For if the strong Pre-souls of the sustainers of Order had not given me aid, (then) the bony existence would have belonged to the Lie." (Yt.13.12)

**yeiδi zī mā mašiiāka aoxtō.nāmana yasna yazaiiaṇta *upa aθβarštahe jaɣmiiąm aēuuąm vā auui xšapanəm duiie vā paṇcāsatəm vā satəm vā

   a. F1 āiiṯ, J10 āiiaṯ.

"For if men were to sacrifice to me with sacrifice pronouncing my name, like other beings worthy of sacrifice are sacrificed to with sacrifice pronouncing their names, (then) I would go forth for the Orderly men for the lifespan of *measured[b] time of my own sunny immortal life; I would come to them for one night or two or fifty or a hundred of (even?) of *unmeasured (time?)." (Yt.8.11)

   b. Literally "cut (out)," referring to the limited time cut out of endless time that Ahura Mazdā made for the creation to last in. – See Kellens, "L'ellipse du temps."

A special periphrasis is that consisting of a pres. part. fem. acc. + perf. of "to be":

yezica aēte nasāuuō yā spō.bərətaca vaiiō.bərətaca vəhrkō.bərətaca išasəm jiṯ.ašəm xraodaṯ.uruua pəšō.tanuš **frə̄naᵃ åŋhąm nasunąm yå paiti āiia zəmā iririθarə*

"And if these corpses, carried by dogs, birds, wolves, winds, or flies—(if this) corpse were to render a man guilty, then, pronto, my entire bony existence (would become) *needy, of crippled Order, the souls shuddering (at the Ford of the Accountant), having forfeited (their) bodies[b] on account of the multitude of these corpses which lie dead all over this earth." (V.5.4)

   a. Mss. frīna Ml3; fraēna Pt2, Mf2, Jp1; frəna L2, Br1, L1. – b. Cf. Y.53.9 aēšasā də̄jīṯ.arətā pəšō.tanuuō "of one having forfeited his body with a *puny *invocation with crippled Order."

EXERCISES 20

5. Translate into Avestan and write in Avestan script:

1. Ahura Mazdā said to Spitama Zarathustra.
   I made, O Spitama Zarathustra, a place whence there is no happiness.
2. For if I had not made, O Spitama Zarathustra, a place whence there is no happiness, (then) the entire Bony exsistence would come to (frāšnao-) Airiianəm Vaējō.
3. At the time of the haoma pressing, at the model (of Order), Haoma went to Zarathustra who was purifying the fire all around and singing the Gāθās.
4. Then Zarathustra asked him: Who, O man, are you, whom I have (now) seen (as) the most handsome (ever) of the bony existence, of (my) own sunny, immortal life?
5. And this is the most worthy of being uttered of these utterances, which have ever been proclaimed and are proclaimed and will be proclaimed.
6. For it is so great in uttering-worthiness that the whole bony existence shall learn (aor.) it learning (and) holding it; it protects from passing away.
7. For if the strong Pre-souls of the sustainers of Order had not given me assistance
   (then) I would have had no animals and men here, which are the best of species.
8. Power would have belonged to the Lie, command to the Lie, the bony existence to the Lie.
9. Of the two spirits the more lying would have been sitting down between earth and heaven.
    Of the two spirits the more lying would have been victorious between earth and heaven.
10. Never after shall the Evil Spirit (now) a conqueror (the winning one) submit to the life-giving Spirit

(now) conquered (the one won over).
